Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1925. No. 1.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1925, 12 O'CLOCK M.

This being the day and hour fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, the members of the Senate, together with the Senators-elect chosen at the last general election held on November 4, 1924, assembled in the Senate Chamber.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) called the Senate to order at 12 o'clock noon.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God: At this opening session of our State Senate, we pause, with bowed heads, to invoke Thy divine favor. Thou art the Maker and the Ruler of nations; without Thine aid we are helpless. We thank Thee that we are Americans, that we live in this great land and in this wonderful age. May Thy blessing rest upon our country, upon the President of the United States, and all his advisers. And do Thou bless our beloved Commonwealth. Be with our Governor and grant him wisdom and strength to perform every duty that devolves upon him. Be with our Lieutenant-Governor, and the President pro tempore of this body. And do Thou especially bless these Senators. Some of them have held office for several years, and others are new; but all of them will need Thy leading. The welfare of nine million people is in a measure committed to their watchcare. Through all these coming days, help the Senators in a high-minded and wise and patriotic spirit, to so legislate that the greatest good shall come to the greatest number, and that the name of God shall be honored and glorified. These things we ask for the sake of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Master. Amen.

PRESENTATION OF RETURNS OF ELECTION OF SENATORS.

The Secretary of the Commonwealth being introduced, stated that pursuant to the provisions of the 87th Section of the Act of July 2, 1839, entitled "An Act relative to elections in this Commonwealth", he presented to the Senate the returns of the election for Senators on November 4, 1924, and the returns of the general election for State Treasurer and Auditor General, held on November 4, 1924, which were laid upon the table.

The oath was accordingly administered.

The PRESIDENT. It gives me great pleasure to present to the Senate your newly elected President pro tempore for the session of 1925, the Honorable John G. Homsher.

ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE.

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, Senators of Pennsylvania: I accept the honor you have conferred upon me with a deep sense of gratitude for your confidence and of the responsibilities that lie before us all. Along with the members of the House, we are the direct representatives of the people, sent here by their high command expressed at the polls to do "The Thing That is Truly Wise and Just." The principles of representative government are as firmly fixed in the estimation of the people of Pennsylvania as is that excerpt from the "Holy Experiment" of Penn, inscribed in rock-bound letters around the dome of our capitol. All of the sculpture and paintings that adorn the walls of this mighty edifice are symbolic of the spirit of good will to men and of the principles of representative government.

We cannot delegate our powers, nor shift our responsibility. The Constitution thus rigidly and rightfully preserves the essence of representative government by fixing every mandate as one of law and not of men. The legislature is responsible for all the agencies of government.

Each recurring meeting of the legislature brings its own problems. Just now the unmistakable demand of the times is for economy and efficiency. Taxation has reached a point that calls for relief rather than augmentation. Surely the obligations and costs of government should not grow faster than the increase of population and taxable property to bear it without being unduly burdensome.

Much depends upon the wisdom which we can apply to the work before us. I have confidence in your ability to meet wisely all its problems. It shall be my utmost endeavor to promote the fullest consideration and expression on all subjects, and I hope that I may be able to so act as to deserve the confidence you have reposed in me.

He also presented for concurrence extract from the Journal of the House, which was twice read as follows, considered and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, January 6, 1925.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That a joint meeting of the House and Senate be held on January 6, 1925, at 3 P. M. for the purpose of hearing the Governor's Message, counting the votes for Auditor General and State Treasurer, and for the election of a Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, as provided by the Act of May Seventh, 1923.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communications in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows:

REASONS FOR PARDONS GRANTED BY THE GOVERNOR FROM JANUARY 1, 1923, TO JANUARY 1, 1925.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 6, 1925.

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: In conformity with law I have the honor to present the reasons for pardons granted by me from January 1, 1923, to January 1, 1925.

Respectfully yours,
GIFFORD PINCHOT.

(For reasons see Appendix)

ACTS OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY APPROVED AFTER FINAL ADJOURNMENT OF LEGISLATURE ON JUNE 14, 1923.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 6, 1925.

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: The following Acts of the General Assembly, passed during the session of 1923, were approved and signed by me within the thirty days after the final adjournment of the Legislature on the fourteenth day of June, A. D. 1923, viz:

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

(For Acts see Appendix)

COMMUNICATION TRANSMITTING PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO FEDERAL CONSTITUTION RELATIVE TO CHILD LABOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 6, 1925.

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ladies and Gentlemen: I have the honor to transmit to you for such action as you may be pleased to take thereon, a copy of a Joint Resolution passed on June 2, 1924, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States which shall give the Congress the power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

To all to whom these presents shall come, Greeting:

I Certify that the copy hereto attached is a true copy of a Resolution of Congress, entitled "Joint Resolution Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States," the original of which is on file in this Department.

In testimony whereof I, Charles E. Hughes, Secretary of State, have hereunto caused the Seal of the Department of State to be affixed and my name subscribed by the Chief Clerk of the said Department, at the City of Washington, this sixth day of June, 1924.

CHARLES E. HUGHES,
Secretary of State.

By EDWIN C. WILSON,
Chief Clerk.

Sixty-eighth Congress of the United States of America At the First Session, Begun and held at the City of Washington on Monday, the third day of December, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

JOINT RESOLUTION.

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following article is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution:

"Article—

"Section 1. The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

"Sec. 2. The power of the several States is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of State laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by the Congress."

F. H. GILLETT,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

ALBERT B. CUMMINS,
President pro tempore of the Senate.

WM. TYLER PAGE,
Clerk.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection this matter be received and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special when and as appointed.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, does the ruling of the Chair on the disposition of the amendment to the Constitution mean that the bill will be referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special without any further consideration of the bill, when and as the committees are appointed?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, that this is only a communication. It is not a bill, it is a communication from the Governor with reference to some legislation which the Chair understands is desired. Just to what committee the bill, if and when a bill is properly presented, of course, it is impossible to say at this time.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, as I understand the inquiry comes from the Secretary of State to the Governor of the State, and that the transmission that has been made here this morning would be passed to the Committee on Judiciary Special, and that it is a part and parcel of the bill that may be presented by a Senator for the consideration of this Senate.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, that he is correct.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, that is why I made the inquiry. I would ask that no disposition of the communication be made until such time as the committees have been appointed and the Senate has given full consideration to the disposition it wishes to make of the matter, because it is a very vital question, in my opinion.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair will withdraw the ruling and the communication will lie on the table until the time comes to have it referred properly.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

MEMBER BOARD OF TRUSTEES HARRISBURG STATE HOSPITAL.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 6, 1925.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate, the following:

Dr. Alfred S. Weiss, of Lebanon, to be a Member of the Board of Trustees of the Harrisburg State Hospital.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

MEMBER BOARD OF TRUSTEES PENNSYLVANIA STATE ORAL SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 6, 1925.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate, J. Curtis Platt, Scranton, Pa., to be a member of the Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania State Oral School for the Deaf.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I move you that the nominations of His Excellency, the Governor, be laid upon the table until the Senate is properly organized and a committee is appointed to pass upon these recommendations.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT OF THE LEHIGH COAL AND NAVIGATION COMPANY.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate report of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company.

COMMUNICATION FROM ROTARY CLUB OF PHILADELPHIA RELATIVE TO NEW SITE FOR EASTERN PENITENTIARY.

The Chair also laid before the Senate the following communications:

The Rotary Club of Philadelphia, December 11, 1924.

Resident Clerk, State Senate, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: The Board of Directors of the Rotary Club of Philadelphia unanimously adopted the attached resolution at a meeting held on last Thursday evening, December 9th, and we urge that the matter of a new location for the Eastern State Penitentiary be given the serious consideration of the Senate.

Very truly yours,
FRANK HONICKER,
Secretary.

FH: MV

Whereas, it is a very well known fact that the present site and buildings of the Eastern State Penitentiary are entirely inadequate, unsuitable and unsatisfactory,

And Whereas, it is agreed that the question of the proper employment of prison inmates could be much better taken care of in our State if such legislation were passed as will permit the sale of goods produced in Pennsylvania Prisons and Institutions, not only with other Pennsylvania institutions, but with similar State and Federal Institutions located in other states.

Therefore, be it resolved, that the Rotary Club of Philadelphia strongly urges the members of the Pennsylvania State Legislature bodies to enact such legislation as is necessary for the purchase of a site for and the erection of a new Eastern State Penitentiary, and the extension of the sale of prison made goods as recommended.

That copies of this resolution be sent to the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and to the separate legislative bodies of the State.

Which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations, when appointed.

COMMUNICATION FROM INTERNATIONAL SEAMEN'S UNION OF AMERICA RELATIVE TO PERMITTING SEAMEN TO REGISTER AND VOTE.

International Seamen's Union of America,
Chicago, Ill., December 20, 1924.

To the Honorable Members of the State Legislatures.

Gentlemen: Below follows a resolution unanimously carried at the Twenty-Seventh Annual Convention of the International Seamen's Union of America:

"Whereas, Seamen, by nature of their calling, are generally unable to vote by reason of the laws of the various States requiring registration each year at a period of one month prior to election and because of laws necessitating the personal attendance of the voter at the time of registration and election, therefore be it

"Resolved, By the International Seamen's Union of America, in annual convention assembled in New York City, January 21, 1924, that we urge upon state legislatures, particularly in coast-wise states which contain shipping ports, where seamen reside, that the laws should be amended so as to permit seamen to register at a certain place within the county of his residence, once each year, to the end that such seaman may, if he desires, vote for the officers nominated for various city, county and national officers."

Permit me to express the very earnest hope that the subject matter contained in the above resolution will be given very serious attention by you and your co-legislators.

Respectfully yours,
K. B. NOLAN,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Which was referred to the Committee on Elections, when appointed.

SUPERINTENDENT OF FOLDING ROOMS.

Whereupon, the President of the Senate announced that Samuel S. Lewis, having received the highest number of votes, was duly elected State Treasurer for the term of four years from the first Monday in May, A. D. 1925, and that Edward Martin having received the highest number of votes was duly elected Auditor General for the term of four years from the first Tuesday in May, A. D. 1925.

Four certificates were signed in each case, as follows:

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate did, on the sixth day of January, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol, open the returns of the election for State Treasurer of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the Legislature, conformably to the provisions of the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth, and upon counting the votes by a Teller appointed by each House, it appears that Samuel S. Lewis, had the highest number of votes; whereupon the said Samuel S. Lewis was declared duly elected State Treasurer.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

DAVID J. DAVIS,
President of the Senate.
THOMAS BLUETT,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
AUGUSTUS F. DAIX, JR.,
Teller on the part of the Senate.
GEO. W. WILLIAMS.
Teller on the part of the House of Representatives.

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate did, on the sixth day of January, A. In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

DAVID J. DAVIS,
President of the Senate.
THOMAS BLUETT,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
AUGUSTUS F. DAIX, JR.,
Teller on the part of the Senate.
GEO. W. WILLIAMS.
Teller on the part of the House of Representatives.

The PRESIDENT. The report of the tellers will be entered at length on the Journal of the Senate.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 3:55 P. M. until 9 o'clock, Monday evening, January 19, 1925.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1925.

The hour of twelve o'clock having arrived, Hon. Thomas H. Garvin, Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, called the members-elect to order and announced, that

This being the day fixed by the Constitution for the meeting of the General Assembly, and a number of ladies and gentlemen elected members of the House of Representatives sufficient to constitute a quorum being present, the body will come to order.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cox, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Eternal God, with profound reverence we would bow before Thee this noonday hour to give unto Thee the heartiest gratitude and thanks of our hearts for the many blessings we have received from Thee in the past and in the enjoyment of the present and for the promises we have for the future. Realizing as we do the helplessness of man unaided by Thee, and to the end that we may enjoy the inspiration of Thy presence, the benefit of Thine unerring wisdom and counsel, we invoke Thy divinest blessings upon the members of this assembly and all who shall have part in the solution of the problems that are awaiting their consideration. We pray our Father for the directors of the affairs of this Commonwealth, for the President of the United States and his counsellors. We pray that Thou wouldst guide us as a people, keep us beneath the covert of Thy wing and the hollow of Thy hand; forbid that ought should destroy the unity and harmony and peace at home and abroad. We pray Thy richest benedictions rest upon this great Commonwealth of ours, and may the legislation that shall be here enacted be a contribution toward the betterment of our State, that she in turn may make a better contribution to the Union of which she is a part. Help us that we may so deport ourselves during the sessions of this Legislature that we may come to its close free of conscious wrong. We ask it in the name of Thy Son, Jesus Christ. Amen.

THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH PRESENTS RETURNS OF ELECTION OF MEMBERS.

The Secretary of the Commonwealth, being introduced, stated that, pursuant to the provisions of the eighty-eighth section of the Act of July 2, 1839, entitled, "An Act relative to elections in this Commonwealth," he presented to the House of Representatives the returns of the election for members held on November 4, 1924.

OPENING OF RETURNS.

Mr. CRAIG, a member-elect offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That the returns of the election be opened and read.

The said returns were opened and read as follows:

MEMBER ABSENT.

Canon,

The CHIEF CLERK. Two hundred and seven members having answered to their names, a quorum is present. The House is now ready to proceed to business.

JUDGE TO ADMINISTER OATH OF OFFICE TO MEMBERS ELECT.

Mr. HALL, a member-elect, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That the Honorable Frank B. Wickersham a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, learned in the Law, be requested to administer the oath required to be taken by the Members of the House of Representatives.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE TO MEMBERS-ELECT.

The CHIEF CLERK. The members-elect will present themselves before the bar of the House where the Oath of Office, as required by law, will be administered to them by the Honorable Frank B. Wickersham, a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, of Dauphin County.

The oath of office was then administered to all the members elect, except, Frank P. Canon.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER.

Mr. HARER offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That in accordance with the provisions of Article 2 Section 9, of the Constitution, the House now proceed to the election of a Speaker, and that the clerks act as tellers.

NOMINATIONS FOR SPEAKER.

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the House, it is my privilege and pleasure to present the name of Honorable Thomas E. Bluett, for the office of Speaker of this House, he having been the choice of the caucus held last evening. I therefore present the name of Honorable Thomas E. Bluett as Speaker of the House of Representatives for the Session of 1925.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Chief Clerk, I second the nomination.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Chief Clerk and members of the House, it is in conformity with established custom that we have two candidates regardless of the certainty of the outcome, I therefore desire to present as a candidate for the office of Speaker one who has long been an able and capable member of the House of Representatives. That his ability has been recognized in his own county is attested by the fact that he has been returned to this House for the fourth time. In recognition by his colleagues of his experience and of his ability, and as a testimonial of the esteem in which we hold him I take pleasure in presenting the name of Honorable Joseph M. Schilling of Erie for the office of Speaker.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Chief Clerk, I second the nomination.

The CHIEF CLERK. Are there any other nomination?

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Chairman, I move the nomination do now close.

The motion was seconded and agreed to.

The CHIEF CLERK. I will appoint the gentleman from Cameron, Mr. Goodnough, and the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Harer, to escort the newly elected Speaker to the chair.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Members of the House, it gives me great pleasure to present to you your choice for the Speaker of the House, the Hon. Thomas E. Bluett, of Philadelphia.

The CHIEF CLERK. The oath of office will now be administered to the Speaker-elect.

SWEARING IN THE SPEAKER.

The oath of office was then administered to Hon. Thomas E. Bluett, Speaker-elect of the House of Representatives, by the Hon. Frank B. Wickersham, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County.

ADDRESS OF THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER.

Members of the House of Representatives, I want to thank you for the confidence you have reposed in me by electing me as your Speaker. Every promise that I made as to the manner in which the duties of that office should be discharged will be kept by me so far as within my power lies. Personalities are now things of the past. Principles are the great matters of the present and the future. A lengthy or detailed statement by me at this time would not be becoming. A reference, however, to the great general principles that should guide us is clearly in order.

Communities often look upon the Sessions of legislative bodies with dread. This should not be so. The dread arises from the fact that the legislature so often intermeddles in matters that the public can best decide for itself. Our function at this time should be to legislate only on matters of major importance and in consequence of a real, general, public pressure and demand. In a great commonwealth such as ours there will be plenty of such measures to fully occupy our attention.

Among the measures that should be given our best consideration is that of taxation. Public expenditures and public activities must stop somewhere or we will drift into chaos. It should be our duty to guard carefully the public treasury and practice the most rigid economy in public expenditures, having due regard to the great charitable and educational needs of the state.

Prison reform and the suitable location and erection of great penal institutions should receive our most careful consideration.

We should never lose sight of the fact that we are a great industrial, financial and agricultural community. Only the very wisest legislation should be enacted regulating these great fundamental enterprises. Regulation wherever it is deemed wise, never interference, should be our guiding principle. In this way we can permit the genius of our people to work out their problems. Thus we can best promote the general happiness and prosperity of all our people.

In the realm of the so-called moral legislation, let us be careful. Let us keep our ideals high, but let us remember that we are dealing with the general run of humanity.

It shall be my aim, as your presiding officer to so discharge my duties, that every Member of the House in committee or on the floor, subject to the rules of the House governing debate, shall have an opportunity to give expression to the thought that actuates him or her on any subject before the Assembly. It is my hope that this House of Representatives shall be, collectively, a real expression of the will of the people, and to that end I pledge you my best efforts according to the wisdom that has been given to me.

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK AND RESIDENT CLERK.

Mr. ALEXANDER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted.

Resolved, That the following persons be elected officers of the House of Representatives, as is provided for by Act of Assembly:

Thomas H. Garvin, Chief Clerk House of Representatives.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVID J. DAVIS PRESIDING.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVIS. The Assembly will be in order.

The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate. Mr. President, I have the honor to present to you His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Honorable Gifford Pinchot.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVIS. Members of the joint assembly we have met in joint session this afternoon for the purpose of hearing His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to deliver his message to the joint Assembly.

I have the honor at this time to present His Excellency the Governor.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT. Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentleman of the General Assembly:

The present State Administration is half way through its term. It is, accordingly, proper and necessary that it should render to the Legislature, and through the Legislature to the people, an account of what has been accomplished, and should point out what the welfare of the Commonwealth still requires to be done.

Two years have passed since the people of Pennsylvania directed that a new order should be established in the State Government. The purposes of this new order were set forth in the specific platform which the Republicans of Pennsylvania endorsed in the primaries, which in the general election the whole people of the Commonwealth directed to be carried out, which was reaffirmed when this Administration took office, and which is still in full force and effect.

This platform definitely pledged the present State Administration to use its full power:

To drive all saloons out of the State.

To prevent and punish bootlegging.

To maintain and secure good laws for the protection of working children, women, and men.

To safeguard the industries of Pennsylvania and promote the prosperity of the State.

To advance the interests of the farmers, who feed us all.

To give our children the best schools in America.

To check centralization and give more home rule to cities, counties, townships, and school districts.

To maintain the direct primary and protect the rights of women voters.

To meet the just needs of those who served in the World War.

To revise and equalize taxes, establish a budget system, and reorganize the State Government on a business basis.

To keep the expenses of the State within its income.

To get a dollar's worth of service for every dollar spent.

In the presence of the General Assembly, with half my term unfinished, I here reaffirm my allegiance to that platform as a solemn contract with the people of this Commonwealth, and renew my pledge to use every power of the Governorship in an honest effort to carry it out.

This contract with the people has three principal objects. They are: the enforcement of the law; the cleaning up of the financial mess inherited from previous Administrations; and the reorganization of the State Government into an efficient and economical business machine for the service of the people.

In its effort to carry out this contract the present Administration has done what the public interest demanded without asking whether it was politically wise or politically foolish. In no single case known to me has it sacrificed the interests of the people of Pennsylvania for political advantage. This Administration has feared no one, concealed nothing, and told the truth. It has taken as its rule of conduct the Roosevelt doctrine that the public good comes first. Such a course has not endeared it to certain politicians. I hope it has deserved the approval of the people.

From the moment this Administration came into power it has never given or promised a job, or any favor of any sort whatsoever, to anyone for supporting or not supporting any legislation, or for taking or not taking any action of any kind anywhere at any time, and it never will. I am as free today from every promise or obligation to do anything but keep my public pledges as I was before I became a candidate in the primaries nearly three years ago.

The people of this Commonwealth for years have tolerated in their public service standards of conduct known to be indefensible, and under which no private business could survive. The people have suffered the Commonwealth to be badly served. This is the essential evil, and here must be the fundamental change.

The false political standards created in the public mind by generations of ill-advised political leadership, seeking only spoils, have at times made the path difficult, and may do so again. But difficult or not difficult, this Administration has without exception preferred to advance the welfare of the people rather than join in the scramble for political advantage, and it will continue to do so to the last moment of its term. It has given politics due consideration, but no more; has made no effort to create for itself a political machine at the expense of efficiency in the public service; and has no intention of wasting its own time and the money of the taxpayers in any such attempt.

Under boss rule the people of Pennsylvania became hardened to the sight of political corruption and to the shameless use of public office for private, personal, or political ends. The cost of such misrule is always high. Because of their tolerance of it our people have suffered enormous injury in money wasted, in public work undone, public institutions mismanaged, unfortunates neglected, children untaught or badly taught, in thousands of workmen needlessly maimed, in thousands of lives needlessly lost or ruined.

All this was serious enough, yet by far the greatest injury thus done in Pennsylvania was in blunting the sense of civic righteousness in the minds of the voters, and forcing cynical and perverted standards of public life and public service upon the people of this Commonwealth. These fallacious standards form the chief obstacle which this Administration has had to overcome. Its principal hope is that when it retires from office it will leave behind it a practical example in proof that such standards are not only wrong but foolish and unnecessary, and that the people can be better served in other ways.

NEW LEGISLATION.

This Administration was most fortunate in securing from the last General Assembly all of the more important pieces of legislation for which it asked. Accordingly, its recommendations to the present General Assembly for laws to be passed in the interest of the Commonwealth are but few.

Legislation is necessary to check at its source in the breweries and alcohol distilleries the flood of illegal drink which is daily bringing suffering, disease, and death upon the citizens of this Commonwealth. I urge upon the members of the General Assembly in the strongest terms I can command the passage of a law to relieve our people of this fearful and unnecessary toll, and I shall at a later time take occasion to lay my reasons for this, and for funds for law enforcement, in detail before the General Assembly.

This is the greatest moral issue, and the only great moral issue, at this time before the people of Pennsylvania, and it deserves the earnest and favorable consideration of every member who believes in the Constitution of the United States and the people of this Commonwealth, and is opposed to the liquor interests and their political supporters.

The report of the Giant Power Survey will be laid before the General Assembly a little later. In a message transmitting that report I hope to set forth in some detail the very great advantages to be derived from the Giant Power plan in greater and more widespread use of electricity, and in cheaper rates, by the people of this Commonwealth. The Giant Power plan is the latest development of the Roosevelt Conservation Policy, and has within it possibilities of service to the people f Pennsylvania so new and so great that the mind finds it difficult to realize them.

The different departments will in due time point out to the various committees of the two houses certain changes and additions which, in the interest of the public welfare, should be made to existing law. These changes and additions are, so far as I know, without political significance, and should, and doubtless will, receive the consideration of the General Assembly solely from the point of view of the public welfare.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

When this Administration took office Pennsylvania's reputation for law enforcement among the States of the Union was lowest of all. Today it is within the truth to say that no more vigorous fight for law enforcement is being made by the Administration of any American State than here in Pennsylvania.

My first duty, in accordance with the first plank in my platform, was to drive the legalized saloon out of Pennsylvania. That has been done. My second was to exert every power of the State Administration to prevent and punish bootlegging. In that real progress has been made.

Law enforcement through crooked or incompetent officials had allowed the violation of the Eighteenth Amendment to gather enormous headway in Pennsylvania. Our chief difficulty lay in regaining the ground which should never have been lost. As the first step, a thorough study of the bootlegging situation was made throughout the Commonwealth. The Legislature having declined to grant the money necessary for this work, the W. C. T. U. undertook to supply it, and has done so. I desire here to make my grateful acknowledgments to the patriotic and invaluable cooperation of the women who have supplied the funds necessary not only to make this study, but to support nearly every other State activity in aid of law enforcement except that of the State Police.

Every effort has been made to secure the cooperation of local officials. Well attended conferences of the mayors and district attorneys of Pennsylvania were held in the Governor's Office, and have had good results. Under great handicaps every effort has been made to cooperate with the Federal enforcement officials in this State, even to the extent of supplying them with the direct and frequent assistance of the State Police in what was distinctly Federal work. Wherever at all possible, every request from them for help in stopping liquor violations has been met. It has been made perfectly clear that where local officials, local courts, district attorneys, police, sheriffs, and constables, are working together for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, violators have a hard road to travel.

The work of the State Police has been worthy of the highest praise. Without sacrificing their other duties, the men of the State Police have made nearly 8,000 arrests in the two years, and have secured 3,300 sentences. They have seized 2,100,000 quarts of high powered beer, 420,000 quarts of intoxicating liquor, and more than 750 automobiles and other vehicles. Forty-three breweries have been caught violating the law.

Notices to close were served upon law breaking saloon keepers first in the hard coal counties, then in Philadelphia, and then in Pittsburgh, to the total number of over 2,750. Except in Pittsburgh, we had the cooperation of the United States Department of Justice in this work.

Since January, 1924, all liquor injunction actions conducted by the Commonwealth have been carried on by the Department of Justice. These injunction proceedings are proving themselves most effective in the abatement of violations. When they have been carried through the State Supreme Court, the correct procedure for handling liquor law violations will be determined at once for each of the 67 counties, to the great advantage of law enforcement.

To sum up, a sound and broad foundation has been laid for law enforcement in the State of Pennsylvania. With the additional legislation and funds recommended and with proper cooperation from Federal and local authorities, the progress already made assures complete success.

PAYING OFF THE DEBT.

When this Administration came into office it found that an appropriation liability of about $29,000,000 would be due and unpaid for want of funds on June 1, 1923. There has been much discussion as to whether or not the present Administration will actually pay off this debt without increase of taxation for that purpose. Let me see if I can make the fact clear beyond question.

Like all other appropriations, these appropriations of approximately $29,000,000 were promises to pay—notes, to all intents—made by the State of Pennsylvania. It was possible to deal with these notes in one of three ways.

First. They could have been left unpaid, but that would have been unworthy of the Commonwealth.

Second. The money to pay them could have been raised by some form of new taxation, but that would have added to the burdens already resting on the taxpayers.

Third. The money to meet these notes or promises to pay could be paid by saving out of the current expenses of the Government, without new taxation for that purpose. That is what the Administration elected to do.

Appropriations for current expenses usually increase with each succeeding Legislature. They trebled in Pennsylvania in the ten years previous to this Administration. Instead of going along with this natural increase of appropriations, this Administration undertook to run the Government for enough less than it had actually been run for in the previous two years to pay off the debt. In order to do so the appropriations of Departments responsible to the Governor were cut on an average of 26½ percent.

The result is that out of the specific items which made up the debt of about $29,000,000, nearly $24,000,000 had actually been paid off on November 1, 1924, and the rest will be approved for payment or contracted for before June 1st next.

Long before the two years were up my pledge to put the Commonwealth on a pay-as-you-go basis had been redeemed. For the year before this Administration took office the bills in the Treasurer's Office due and unpaid for lack of funds at the end of each month averaged more than $13,000,000, and ran as high as $18,000,000. By the end of the first year of this Administration there was cash on hand in the State Treasury in excess of warrants by $231,000. During four months of the past calendar year, there was actually cash on hand in excess of obligations, while in the others the unpaid bills were but a fraction of the 1922 figures.

Outside of the current expenses of the State Government, where the saving was made, the expenses of the Commonwealth increased, as they would have done no matter whether we had undertaken to pay off the debt or not. Thus, under the Edmonds Law, $16,000,000 more was appropriated by the Legislature of 1923 for common schools than by the Legislature of 1921, and emergency taxes were enacted to provide for that increase. That fact has nothing to do with the debt, for the State would have had to raise and spend the $16,000,000 in any case to take care of the needs of its children.

In the same way more money was spent on roads from the proceeds of the automobile license taxes, because the increasing number of automobiles in Pennsylvania brought more money in and the law requires these funds to be spent on the roads. So with the other special funds. But these increases in receipts and expenditures from special funds would have gone on just the same whether or not this Administration had undertaken to pay off the debt.

To put it in still another way, whether or not this Administration had undertaken to save and pay off the debt, every cent of increased expenditure for schools, roads, etc., made during the last two years would have gone on just the same. If we had let things run on as they were going, the money we actually have saved would have been used up in current expenses, and the debt of about $29,000,000 would still be unpaid.

I have frequently made the statement that this Administration was saving the taxpayers $40,000 for every working day. Here is the way to prove it. Take the $23,675,000 actually paid off on November 1st, 1924 and add to it, out of the balance of several millions that has been or will be paid off by June 1st, 1925 enough to make $24,000,000. Then divide the $24,000,000 thus found by 600, which is about the number of working days in the two years. The result is $40,000 for every working day. It will be even better than that.

ECONOMY AND EFFICIENCY.

Many different means have been made use of in converting this Government from what it was into an efficient and economical business machine for the service of the people, the chief of which is the Administrative Code and the Executive Board. Both have done their work well. How a dollar's worth of service is now secured for every dollar spent is more particularly referred to hereafter.

COAL STRIKE SETTLED.

Throughout the anthracite using regions of the United States the differences between miners and operators, which resulted in the anthracite coal strike of 1923, threatened the strong and well with hardship and discomfort, the weak and sick with disease and death during the winter of 1923-24. After other efforts to settle the strike had failed, in September, 1923, the present Administration, on its own initiative, undertook negotiations with the miners and operators.

After extended meetings in Harrisburg with the contending parties, the strike was settled. The customary supply of anthracite was thus assured to users who otherwise would either have paid for it at far higher prices, or would have gone without altogether, and the widespread suffering of an anthracite famine was avoided.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE AND FINANCE.

The former Department of State, now the Department of State and Finance, was once mainly a political office charged in addition with certain simple routine clerical and recording duties. Under the provisions of the Administrative Code it has become one of the most important branches of the Government, with the supervision of all fiscal matters not under the control of the State Treasurer or the Auditor General. It is now of incalculable value in enabling the Governor to supervise and control the expenditures of the departments responsible to him. Indeed the cleaning up of the financial mess at Harrisburg would have been impossible without the new powers and the personnel of the Department of State and Finance.

The most remarkable financial achievement of this Administration is not the paying off of the $29,000,000 debt, but the reduction of deficiency appropriations, and for this the Department of State and Finance is largely responsible. In the face of such a cut in expenditures as had never been made in any American State or city, or by the National Government except after a war, without uniform accounts, on the basis of the first Budget ever made in Pennsylvania, and with the necessity for forecasting the financial needs of the State's work for two years in advance, the money available was so well divided, and fiscal control was so effective, that deficiency appropriations have practically disappeared. They have been reduced from nearly $7,000,000 in the session of 1921, from nearly $6,000,000 in the session of 1923, to a total for all deficiencies of less than a quarter of a million dollars in the session of 1925, or one-sixth of one percent of the total appropriations. This achievement, which, so far as I can ascertain, has never been matched, appears in its true light when compared, for example, with deficiency appropriations requested in the current National Budget of $175,000,000, or more than five per cent of all appropriations, when not one of the difficulties just enumerated had to be met.

The present Secretary of the Commonwealth prepared the first Budget ever submitted to a Pennsylvania Legislature. He is responsible for the first system of uniform accounts adopted by this Commonwealth, under which, for the first time, it is now possible to compare the efficiency, dollar for dollar, of one kind of work with another. The departmental estimates of expenditures to be made pass through his office monthly in advance. These estimates enable the Governor not only to supervise the fiscal operations of the various departments, but to foresee and prevent unnecessary deficiencies.

Under this system of fiscal control the departments responsible to the Governor were required to expend but 45 percent of the present two years' appropriation in the first year, and thus were able to expand their work slightly during the second year on the basis of needs shown by actual experience, to the great advantage of their work.

Here are some of the results of reasonable fiscal supervision coupled with economy and competency in public service. The expenditures from the General Fund for comparable purposes for salaries and wages by the Harrisburg appointive departments for the first eighteen months of this biennium showed an actual decrease of $1,372,042, or 15½ percent as compared with the first eighteen months of the previous biennium.

In the same period these spending agencies made, in traveling expenses from the General Fund, as compared with the first eighteen months of the previous biennium, a saving of $118,067, or 14¼ percent.

The expenditures for telephone and telegraph for the same period for the same spending agencies showed a decrease of $25,420, or 24.7 percent.

In the first eighteen months of this biennium these agencies spent for printing and binding $174,993, as compared with $325,780 in the same eighteen months period in the previous biennium. This is a decrease of $150,787, or 46.3 percent.

Comparable General Fund expenditures for supplies and equipment for the Harrisburg Departments, exclusive of Highways, cost $287,231.08 in the first eighteen months of this biennium as compared with $457,423.50 for the first eighteen months in the previous biennium. This is a decrease of $170,192.42, or 37.2 percent.

These five items alone total a decrease in actual outlay for the Harrisburg appointive departments in the first eighteen months of this biennium of $1,867,018.42.

The Department of State and Finance keeps up-to-date a series of charts showing the exact financial condition each month of each department in comparison with the monthly xpenditures of the previous biennium, and the actual monthly xpenditures as compared with the Budget allotments in the resent biennium. These charts are hung for public inspection on the walls of the Governor's reception room. From them one can see at a glance whether any spending agency is or is not living within its means.

The departments report their expenditures by accounts. Thus the Highway Department has succeeded in keeping its overhead down to six cents out of every dollar—a remarkable achievement in a department whose work requires such constant supervision and inspection. Out of each dollar appropriated for welfare purposes less than two cents goes for overhead to the Department of Welfare and all the rest directly to the relief of the taxpayers in the various counties. The overhead cost of the Department of Public Instruction is but two cents out of each dollar appropriated for education.

Of every dollar spent by the State Government for all purposes under this Administration, 85 cents goes directly back into the counties in the form of highways, schools, welfare agencies, etc., while the remaining 15 cents pays for all the costs of running the State, including the Legislative, Judicial, and Executive Departments.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

During the past two years the Attorney General's Office has discharged a greater variety of duties and performed a larger amount of work than in any other biennium in the history of the State. Its work has increased at least fifty percent, yet it has been carried on by a smaller force, at less expense, and without exceeding its appropriation.

The most important achievement of the Department of Justice was the drafting of the new Administrative Code, which converted the Government of Pennsylvania from a loose and irresponsible collection of some 130 independent spending agencies without financial control into a compact, business-like government service of eighteen departments and three responsible commissions. The drafting, enactment, and application of this monumental piece of legislation, and its successful defense in the courts against obstructive attacks by the Auditor General and State Treasurer, has remade the Government of our State.

The Department of Justice has had a most important part in the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, and the laws enacted to give it effect, one of which, the Pennsylvania Enforcement Act, it drafted.

In addition to the enormous burden which devolved upon the Attorney General's Office through the necessity for drafting bills for a Legislature already in session when this Administration came into office, the Attorney General has personally had greater touch with the Departments and a larger part in their work than has ever happened before. His Department was responsible for the new water and power policy, whose adoption brought our legislation into harmony with the Federal Water Power Law. The work of the Giant Power Survey has required the assistance of the Attorney General and his Department upon points of law and policy at every step of its progress.

The success of the Attorney General and his Department in litigation has been most remarkable. Up to the time when this message goes to press every decision handed down has been directly in the interest of the State.

A decision was secured from the Pennsylvania Supreme Court which enjoined coal companies from polluting streams now pure that serve as water supplies or recreation spots for large bodies of our citizens. This decision is of epochal importance in the effort to prevent the pollution of pure streams throughout the State.

The distinguishing characteristic of the Department of Justice under this Administration has been its extreme helpfulness to the Departments, and the constructive part it has taken not only in their work, but in the work of various boards, such as the Sanitary Water Board, the Giant Power Board, and others.

The Attorney General does not conceive his duties to be limited to the dry as dust interpretation of the law. He holds that they include the active desire and effort to secure for the citizens of Pennsylvania whatever they may require and the law does not forbid. In this his attitude is precisely that of the Roosevelt Administration.

JUDICIAL APPOINTMENTS.

During the two years ten vacancies, due to the death or retirement of sitting judges, have been filled by appointment. This Administration attaches the greatest importance to the selection of judges. It has done its utmost to secure men, and in the case of one magistracy, a woman, conspicuously fitted by character, point of view, and capacity to fill these most important places.

BOARD OF PARDONS.

The question of pardons for prisoners is one of the difficult problems with which the State Government has to deal. Fortunately in Pennsylvania responsibility is laid directly upon the Board of Pardons, without the recommendation of three of whose four members the Governor can grant no pardon.

In spite of the increase in applications for pardon the present Board has acted favorably upon a lower percentage of applications than any of its predecessors. In the year 1914 the Board granted 59.5 percent of the pardons applied for; in 1921, 31 percent; in 1922, 32 percent. The average for the ten years ending in 1923 is 34.4 percent. In the eighteen months of this Administration the percentage of pardons granted is 28, the lowest in the history of the Pardon Board.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

The plan of organization of the Department has been revised and greatly improved, and real advance has been made in the administration of its fiscal affairs. More than all else, the present biennium has been marked by progress in all fields of educational activity.

The Administrative Code imposed upon the Department many additional responsibilities, and many additional opportunities for constructive service. It made the Superintendent of Public Instruction responsible for the financial supervision of fourteen professional examining boards, for the State Library and Museum, the State Board of Censors, the School Employees Retirement Board, the Historical Commission, and the educational institutions wholly or partly supported by the State.

The responsibility of the Department in money during the current two years will amount to over $56,000,000. There will be no deficiency from any agency operated or supervised by the Department. For the first time in years, payments to school boards are being made on time.

Under an amendment to the Edmonds Law further assistance, reaching a total of 75 percent of the cost of teachers' salaries, was given to a newly created class of rural schools, thus very greatly promoting the cause of education in the open country.

Interest in rural education has been greatly stimulated. The course for one-teacher schools, distributed early in the year, has received wide commendation, while the establishment of traveling libraries marks a new development in the extension service of normal schools to rural districts.

The staff of the School Buildings Bureau has reported on plans for buildings costing more than $34,000,000.

Of the 50,000 teachers in the State, 28,000 were enrolled in the summer sessions of 1924. There was an increase in normal school enrollment of over 1,400 students, while for the current year 8,000 more college students are taking educational courses than ever before.

A plan of adult education has been organized for the purpose of reaching the 315,000 illiterates in Pennsylvania, and has made progress. The vocational education program has been enriched and expanded, evening classes for miners have been organized in thirty-three centers which enable them to prepare for fire boss, mine inspector, foreman, and assistant foreman, while child conservation has received increased attention, and the wise and economical expenditure of the family income has been stressed.

The Professional Bureau has rendered an increasingly valuable service in the evaluation of more than 6,000 high school and college credentials from institutions in all parts of the world. It has established standards and a checking system which will keep Pennsylvania free from the operation of diploma mills.

Among the other achievements of the Department were the development of a greater appreciation of art and art values, the organization of a guidance program in 30 teacher training institutions, the growth of Junior High Schools to 150, the trend of Senior High Schools to first grade classification, the increase of average daily attendance and the organization of libraries in a large number of high and grade schools.

The appointment of committees to make studies of the more important educational problems in Pennsylvania has produced important results. Groups composed of eminent educators from within and without the State will complete in the near future studies, with recommendations, on appropriations and subsidies, high schools, normal schools, rural schools, and teachers' institutes.

I note with great regret and deep sympathy the long-continued illness of Doctor J. George Becht, Superintendent of Public Instruction. Doctor Becht has endeared himself not only to the teachers and scholars of Pennsylvania, but to all who are interested in education throughout the Commonwealth. I am confident that I express your feelings, as well as my own, in wishing him a prompt and complete recovery.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AFFAIRS

The Department entered this biennium with a deficit of over $230,000. That deficit will be wiped out, and no new deficit will take its place. This is true notwithstanding that the strength of the National Guard was increased; that the requirements of the War Department have increased; and that additional expenses have been placed upon the Department throughout the two years. The result is ascribed almost entirely to the Budget system.

The National Guard, under the plan as outlined in the National Defense Act, has been developing steadily and carefully. The Guard today is fifty percent stronger than at any time in its previous history, and is organized into such units as would become most useful in case of emergency.

The Military Reservation at Mount Gretna has been developed until today it is recognized as of the highest type, and possibly the best within the United States.

Last summer's encampments worked with a better spirit, and did better work, than any of their predecessors. The National Guard especially was never in better condition.

The Arsenal at Harrisburg and the storehouse at Mount Gretna are thoroughly equipped and filled with equipment and munitions.

I cannot let this opportunity pass without paying my tribute to the memory of General Asher Miner, whose devotion to the National Guard of Pennsylvania made him known throughout the State, whose services in the World War shed honor upon this Commonwealth, and whose death is universally deplored.

INSURANCE DEPARTMENT

During the past year 130,000 licenses to agents have been issued by the Department, and 6,500 to persons and corporations as insurance brokers. Taxes and fees collected during the last fiscal year amounted to $4,723,470, an increase of almost half a million dollars over any previous year.

DEPARTMENT OF BANKING

Under Secretary Cameron, who has the entire confidence of the public, and whom I continued in office, the Department of Banking has made real progress through the entire elimination of politics, and the increased facility, flexibility, and effectiveness of operation under the Administrative Code.

It is pleasant to note in the last two years an increase of a billion and a quarter dollars in the funds entrusted to the banks and building and loan associations of this State, and an increase of more than 600,000 depositors. Today one out of every two persons in Pennsylvania, including the children, has a bank account.

In the past the bank examining force had been wholly inadequate. It has now been increased, without increased cost to the State, from 39 to 75. As a result embezzlements hidden for years have been uncovered, and the banking of the State has been better protected than ever before.

More attention has been devoted to the examination of building and loan association than ever before, with great resulting increase of safety to their members, and a notable reduction of unfair practices on the part of certain unscrupulous promoters.

In August, 1923, the Bureau of Securities, which administers the Act approved June 14th, 1923, the so-called Blue Sky Law, was established in the Banking Department. During the first fifteen months of its existence, it kept off the market in Pennsylvania not less than $400,000,000 in worthless or questionable securities, many of which were not worth the paper they were printed on. In all, more than 7,000 stock salesmen filed applications for registration, of whom 2,847 were given licenses.

Unscrupulous promoters and salesmen of fraudulent securities, who, before the passage of the Securities Act, profited immensely at the expense of our people, will unquestionably attempt to weaken or destroy this law. The Legislature should be on its guard against any proposed amendment not approved by the Department of Banking.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

For the first time in the history of the Department of Agriculture there was appointed as its head a man who was actually making his living from the land. His administration has been strikingly successful. The Department has been in closer and more effective cooperation with the farmers of the State; has received more assistance from them; and has rendered them more beneficial help than ever before. It has organized all the farmer's clubs and associations into a central Agricultural Council which covers the whole State.

The Department tested more cattle for tuberculosis in 1923 than during the three previous years. The adoption of the area plan of testing gives great promise of effectively eradicating bovine tuberculosis from the herds of this State.

Funds for this work were derived from the enforcement of the Pennsylvania Dog Law, which has proved not only a source of revenue indispensably needed for the advancement of the cattle industry of the State, but a real protection to human beings, live stock, poultry, and wild life. In 1923 nearly 60,000 more individual dog licenses were issued than in 1922, while in 1924 approximately 150,000 more licenses will be issued than in 1921, when the dog license work was under county supervision. These figures tell their own story.

Studies in poultry and egg marketing, and in the consumer demands for milk and meat have been begun. By the shipping point inspection of fruit and vegetables the consumer is guaranteed good quality, while loss in transit is practically eliminated for the farmer.

The Pennsylvania Seed Law has been enforced more vigorously than ever before.

The Bureau of Foods and the Bureau of Chemistry have been merged, with no decrease in the amount or completeness of the work previously accomplished. With a field force of but sixteen agents, 14 percent more samples of food products were collected and analyzed, and 17 percent more prosecutions were carried through in 1923 than in 1922, at a reduction of 12 percent in cost over the previous year.

The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Statistics and the United States Department of Agriculture's Division of Crop and Live Stock Estimates have entered into close cooperation, with the result that the greatest handicaps hitherto encountered in making crop estimates will be largely removed.

The Japanese Beetle invasion is a matter of very serious concern. This pest has been spreading at the rate of five to fifteen miles each year, and at present is found in at least five Pennsylvania counties. Every effort has been made to check the artificial spread of this beetle by quarantine and otherwise in cooperation with the United States Government, and its progress has been materially decreased.

A conference of officials of county fairs was called for the purpose of eliminating gambling and immoral shows. During the past summer reports of inspectors showed that immoral exhibitions had actually been eliminated at the fairs visited. Gambling has not yet been driven out, but there is strong reason to believe that it can be controlled.

The publications of the Department of Agriculture are of great use to the farmers of Pennsylvania. More than twenty such publications, mostly short, practical reports, were issued during the past two years.

DEPARTMENT OF FORESTS AND WATERS.

Forestry has made great progress in Pennsylvania during the last two years. We have developed the best forest fire protective system in the United States, and have enlisted a degree of popular cooperation without example elsewhere. When it became necessary to close the counties of this State to hunting because of the unprecedented dry weather of the past fall, the support and cooperation of the hunters and the general public were beyond praise. The result, notwithstanding the most severe fall drought in fifty years, was that the area burned over per fire, which is the real test of efficiency in fire extinction, was reduced to 47 acres, the lowest in the history of the State, while the total area burned over in 1924 was 25 percent lower than in any previous year.

The combination of highly organized State forest protection, in which 48 foresters, 63 forest rangers, and 3,000 forest fire wardens are engaged, with increasingly effective cooperation from the public, is slowly but surely changing the timber production ledger of Pennsylvania from heavy losses to substantial gains. As yet we are producing but a negligible fraction of the timber necessary to keep the industries and agriculture of Pennsylvania going, but we have taken the first steps toward self-support in forest products.

Almost a million people used the State forests during the past two years, of whom about 225,000 were hunters, and 50,000 fishermen. For their accommodation there have been established 26 public camp grounds, 15 of them within the last two years.

Since tree planting began in Pennsylvania it has resulted in the reclamation to forest growth of about 50,000 acres. Compared with the 5,000,000 acres of desolated unproductive timber lands, this total is not yet impressive. Nevertheless real progress is being made. The annual planting of young forest trees by land owners is now rapidly approaching the 10,000,000 mark, while the nurseries operated directly by the Department of Forests and Waters and in cooperation with the Department of Welfare have an annual capacity of approximately 12,000,000 trees.

Under a cooperative agreement with the Highway Department about 40 miles of State highway has been planted with roadside trees in the last two years.

Pennsylvania has in the State Forest School at Mont Alto not only next to the oldest existing forest school in America, but far and away the most valuable and effective outdoor equipment for instruction in forestry in the United States. The attendance of students and faculty is now the largest since the school was established, the curriculum has been remodeled and brought up-to-date, and has been extended to cover four full years. In spite of this outstanding progress, the cost of instruction and maintenance to the State is less than $300. per student.

During the past two years the Topographic and Geological Survey has continued its valuable work. It has given valuable technical advice about the mineral resources of the State, has rendered conspicuous service to intending investors in mining enterprises, has prepared a large number of reports of public interest and value, and has taken a most important part, through the State Geologist as Chairman, in an inter-departmental committee organized to study the maps and map problems of all of the administrative departments.

Through the Water Resources Service, the State, within the last two years has launched a definite project to protect the Commonwealth's interest in our inland waters. Before 1923, Pennsylvania had no fixed policy concerning the control and regulation of streams for water power and steam power development. This situation was corrected by the Act of June 14, 1923, which applies the principles of the Federal Water Power Act to Pennsylvania. This Act is promoting—not checking—the development of water power in Pennsylvania. The two major projects for which permits have been issued by the Water and Power Resources Board are the Wallenpaupack project of the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, and the Conowingo project of the Susquehanna Power Co. The Clarion River project was, by the insistence of the Administration, compelled to ask for and accept the restrictions of the Federal Water Power Act.

FOREST BOND ISSUE

Because Pennsylvania, as the greatest industrial Commonwealth on earth, must have timber in large quantities or shut down her industries; because Pennsylvania, with a number of farms second only to Texas, must have timber or let her agriculture perish; because nothing that we eat or use or wear can be produced, manufactured, or transported without the help of the forest; and because the source of outside supply from which Pennsylvania is now importing more than four-fifths of all the timber she consumes is almost exhausted—for all these reasons our future timber supply is probably the most important economic problem before the people of this Commonwealth.

We can produce the timber Pennsylvania needs if we set to work the land now idle and fit only for growing trees. That is the essential thing. A bill to authorize a proposed bond issue of $25,000,000 for that purpose passed the last General Assembly. No one can deny that our future prosperity requires its passage. No one can deny that the money to be invested will be returned in cash and in service over again. There is no politics in this measure and there should be no division of opinion upon it.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY.

When this Administration took office, the Department of Labor and Industry was in deplorable condition. It was honeycombed with politics, and dominated in certain parts by false standards of public duty to such extent that its rehabilitation was necessarily a long and difficult task. Much progress has been made. Much remains to be made in the coming two years.

On October 15, 1924, Doctor Royal Meeker, then Secretary of Labor and Industry, resigned to take up important work elsewhere. He was succeeded by Richard H. Lansburgh, whose tenure of office, although as yet but brief, has resulted in marked improvement in the Department. The Department stands by the policy of working in close cooperation with organized labor and the industrial interests of the State. It seeks to aid rather than hinder the business prosperity of Pennsylvania.

The Workmen's Compensation Board was reorganized and put on a higher plane than at any time in recent years. By the exclusion of politics many needless employees were eliminated. The Board and the Referees, in consequence, handled in 1923, with less assistants and at a reduction in expenses of over $20,000, a total of 84,747 petitions and appeals. The highest number in any previous year was 72,049.

More and better work has been done by the Workmen's Compensation Bureau during the past two years than ever before. At the same time a revision of the Accident Code has been carried through, and much progress has been made in the enforcement of the compulsory feature of the workmen's Compensation Law.

About 5,000 persons disabled in industry, representing every county in the Commonwealth, are in process of rehabilitation. Courses of training, necessary artificial limbs and appliances, and proper placement provided by the Department are returning the handicapped to suitable occupations at an average individual wage slightly in excess of $100 per month. This means that thousands of workers who otherwise would become helpless cripples and charges upon the community are enabled to support themselves in useful occupations.

The Industrial Board, reorganized and greatly strengthened, has revised the elevator, lighting, and crane safety standards, and has adopted, for the first time, safety standards for the textile industry.

Comparing the periods from January 1st to October 31st, 1923 and 1924, the State Workmen's Insurance Fund has issued double the number of new policies in the latter as against the former period, at a total decrease in running expenses of more than $44,000. At the same time its commercial premiums have increased by more than $200,000.

During 1923 and 1924 more than 350,000 persons applied for work at State Employment Offices. For over 65 percent of them permanent positions were found. This service was performed by a staff whose personnel had been reduced 14 percent.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES

The Department of Mines has made noteworthy progress because the most important advance in safety in mines is to be made through the education of the mine workers, the Department has, during the two years, established 26 evening vocational schools in the mining regions. There were only 8 before. A complete course of study in mining was prepared by cooperation between the Department of Mines, the Department of Public Instruction, and State College, with the result that no other State is believed to have advanced so far in the personal education of mine workers.

The efforts of the Department have brought about a steady and gratifying decrease in the number of fatal mine accidents. In proportion to hours worked, the year 1923 showed a marked improvement over 1922, but 1924 has thus far outstripped every other year in the last decade in the decreased number of fatal accidents in mines. In the first eight months of 1924, 333 men lost their lives in anthracite mine accidents. This was 55 less than in the same period of 1923. In the bituminous mines 228 died in the same period in 1924. This was 65 less than in 1923. Better inspection was the chief cause in saving the lives of 120 men in two-thirds of a single year.

I take the warmest pleasure in acknowledging the patriotic and self-sacrificing attitude of the mine inspectors, both anthracite and bituminous, who, when a shortage of funds threatened to reduce the amount and effectiveness of inspection in the mines, voluntarily offered to continue their duties without pay, until the necessary adjustments could be made. This is practical patriotism of a high order, and deserves grateful acknowledgment.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

The most important thing that has happened to the Health Department during the present biennium is that it has been taken wholly out of politics, with very large resulting increase in its service to the people of the State. Its organization has been remade and consolidated, and in consequence it is doing more work per dollar than ever before.

The incessant fight waged by the Department against contagious diseases has resulted in lowering the death rate.

The Health Department has undertaken a new campaign to reduce infant mortality, and to increase the health of growing boys and girls. The Department estimates that not less than 800,000, or about one-quarter, of the 3,000,000 children in Pennsylvania are undernourished and are seriously retarded thereby in their physical and mental development. This under-nourishment, most of which is due not to scarcity of food, but to faulty diets and remediable physical defects, is the greatest problem before the health authorities of this State.

The examination of school children for physical defects is a most necessary function of this Department. In 1924 such inspections were conducted in more than 1100 fourth class school districts. A total of more than 100,000 defects were discovered, the vast majority of which the Department took steps to correct before the health of the child could be seriously affected. This work should be expanded to cover every child in every public school in this Comonwealth.

During the present biennium the Health Department has been replacing the comparatively inefficient part time Health Officers by a smaller number of full time officials, who, after selection, are sent to a special medical school, are there trained, and then returned to their districts better fitted to carry on public health work than ever before. The number of part time Health Officers has been reduced by 300 during the past year.

The water supplies of more than 6,000,000 people throughout Pennsylvania are under the protection of the Health Department. During the past summer a laboratory equipped to test drinking water was sent over the main highways of the State. Steps were taken to correct unsanitary conditions wherever they were found, and waters found pure were placarded as safe for public consumption.

For the first time, arrangements have been made for the mailing of an official certificate to the parents of every child born in Pennsylvania. This will provide both the child and its parents with a birth record that will save much trouble and confusion to the people of the State.

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS

Three thousand miles or road will be built or contracted for by the Department of Highways during the current four years. This is the largest program of road construction ever undertaken in an equal time by an American State. Of the 10,270 miles on the primary highway system in Pennsylvania, 7,000 miles will be finished or under contract when the present Administration goes out of office.

A new and greatly improved design for the construction of cement highways has been prepared and adopted by the Highway Department. The result is not only a great improvement in strength and durability, but also a saving of $5,000 per mile as compared with the old specifications. On three thousand miles of roads this means a total saving of $15,000,000. To put it another way, it means the construction of three hundred miles of roads for which there would have been no money under the old plan. Because of the new design the people of Pennsylvania will get three hundred miles, or $15,000,000 worth, of new roads they would not have had at all under the old design, and that without a cent of extra expense.

Another half million dollars was saved by the rejection of bids for road construction that were too high. Where the bids were above the estimate regarded as fair by the Department, they were thrown out and the contract readvertised. The money thus saved has been or will be used to construct more than ten miles of additional roads.

The relocation of roads on the shortest practicable lines between important points has saved approximately one hundred miles of roadway, or a total economy of something over $4,500,000 in construction alone. This straightening of routes not only saves large sums in construction cost and leads to the elimination of bridges and grade crossings, with corresponding increase in safety to the traveling public, but the saving to the motoring public will be very large. In the next ten years this shortening of distance will save the people of Pennsylvania not less than $44,300,000 in the cost of getting from point to point.

The relocations which led to these savings in distance and cost were not always satisfactory to local interests, but from the point of view of the State as a whole they were thoroughly justified.

One of the outstanding accomplishments of the Highway Department during the two years just passed is a better maintenance of secondary roads than the State has ever seen before. Great progress has been made in taking the highway maintenance force out of politics, far greater efficiency and economy has been attained, and the dirt roads of the Commonwealth under State supervision have been better made and better kept on a scale and to a degree altogether new in Pennsylvania.

The comfort and convenience of the traveling public is being considered by the Department in a way unknown before. The policy of oiling the more heavily traveled earth roads has been inaugurated. Prior to this Administration it was impossible to travel these roads with any satisfaction. They are now oiled, not only to the great improvement of the surface, but to the elimination of dust. The Department has adopted the policy of oiling roads in half widths, so that one half of the road is always dry. Moreover, for the first time in this State, there has been adopted the policy of completing the oiling of all roads before July 1st, or in advance of the summer travel.

The principal routes of the State have been marked and numbered in order to facilitate travel, and warning markers at railroad grade crossings are being or have been placed throughout the State, while the white divisions lines on curves have served greatly to increase the safety of traffic.

The Department has erected or is erecting signs at all points of natural or historical interest along the roadway, addition already has erected for the protection and convenience of the public more than eleven thousand signs, or over twice as many as were in existence on State highways when this Administration began.

The system of issuing automobile license plates has been notably improved. Hitherto the steps to be taken in securing a license were cumbersome and antiquated, and included an oath before a notary and a notarial fee. Now the Bureau of Motor Vehicles of the Department mails to the owner the license application and all the applicant needs to do is to sign his name and enclose his check. The license plate is mailed out on the same day the application is received.

On October 4th 1924 the Department had completed the mailing out of some 1,300,000 application blanks, thus giving ample time for every automobile owner to secure his new license plate before the first of the year. The licensing of more than a million cars is a big business, and it is now being handled in a big way.

HIGHWAY BOND ISSUE

At the election a year ago a second $50,000,000 bond issue for road construction was approved by an overwhelming majority of 375,000 votes. Last June we advertised the sale of these highway bonds to the value of $15,000,000 for construction estimated to be completed during 1924, but they were not sold for the reason that lawyers representing investment bankers raised a question as to the constitutionality of the enabling act.

The Highway Department already had under way an extensive program of construction based on the expected sale of the bonds. The situation thus created had to be met and it was met, legally and without interruption of the construction program, by the decision to finance the latter out of the motor license fund, the fund to be reimbursed when the bonds were sold. By the end of 1924 the Highway Department had spent about $12,000,000 from this fund for new highway construction.

The constitutionality of the enabling act is before the Supreme Court. Whether the verdict of that Court is affirmative or negative, there can be no reason why the General Assembly should not immediately pass a new enabling act, concerning the constitutionality of which there can be no question. We shall thus avoid the possibility of any interruption in the highway construction program, which the will of the people so clearly directs us to carry out. Moreover, such action will make possible the letting of contracts in the near future for from 1,000 to 1,200 additional miles which can be constructed only by means of the bond issue, and which will be delayed unless the proceeds of the highway bonds can be made promptly available.

DEPARTMENT OF PROPERTY AND SUPPLIES

The business methods of the Department of Property and Supplies, which takes the place of the old Department of Public Grounds and Buildings, have been completely renovated, with the result of a saving during the biennium of at least $40,000 on pay-rolls, of about $65,000 on rent, of more than $30,000 on telephone charges, and so on. With the completion of the South Office Building still further savings will be made.

The methods of purchasing supplies both for the departments at Harrisburg and for institutions outside of Harrisburg have been completely revised. The old loose method of inviting bids without specifications, or with specifications restricting the bidders to a single brand or trade name, has been done away with, with large resulting savings to the Commonwealth. Definite standards for articles used by the State are being prepared, and these standards when completed will cover nearly a thousand different articles.

The standardization of forms and stationery has resulted not only in a noteworthy increase of efficiency, but also in a definite saving of money.

The Art Commission has been placed under the fiscal control of the Department of Property and Supplies, its office has been changed from Philadelphia to the State Capitol at Harrisburg, and a Supervising Architect, a new office under the present Administration, has become the executive officer of the Commission. The results of these changes are excellent.

PRINTING

For years the management of the printing of the Commonwealth was often corrupt and always lax. A definite effort has been made to get it done on strictly business principles. The difficulty of doing so has been greatly increased because the contract under which it is done indefensibly under-pays the public printer in certain items and indefensibly over-pays him in others. Nevertheless, real progress has been made, with a total saving to the State during the first 18 months of the biennium of $150,787 or 46.3 per cent of the former total.

STATE PUBLICATIONS

The general character, form, and contents of publications issued by the Commonwealth have been carefully reviewed. As a result, the old custom of issuing excessively bulky and expensive reports has been discontinued, and short compact statements of business actually accomplished, or information of timely value, have taken their place. The great mass of belated unpublished reports accumulated in the Governor's Office, some of them as much as five or six years old, has been gone over, the valuable material has been culled out, and in nearly every instance the publications of the departments have been brought up-to-date.

The publication rights of Smull's Manual have been purchased, the manual itself has been revised and shortened by the elimination of much unnecessary material, and it will hereafter be issued by the Commonwealth. In the forthcoming edition the customary list of State employees has been omitted for the reason that the reclassification of employees was still in progress at the time the manual went to press. A complete and up-to-date list of all State employees, with their duties and rates of pay, is always available for consultation in the Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

STATISTICAL ABSTRACT

Much of the statistical material hitherto gathered at State expense was found to be so unreliable as to be unsuited for publication, or was published in such form as to have comparatively little value, or was not published at all. Accordingly, plans were made to issue a yearly statistical abstract, in which the more important statistical contributions of the whole State Government will be brought together in accurate, convenient, and usable form. The first volume is now in press.

Under the responsibility imposed upon me by the Administrative Code, I withheld my consent to the publication of the 1922 volume of "Productive Industries" prepared in the office of the Secretary of Internal Affairs as it was presented to me, for the reason that the statistics therein contained were in large part either obviously inaccurate and misleading or represented exclusively the work of other Departments. Moreover, to furnish to the Department of Internal Affairs information already required by law to be supplied to other Departments imposes on many industries of the State a serious and unnecessary burden which can thus be avoided.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE POLICE

During the past two years the State Police force has done its work in a manner entirely in keeping with the traditions of this fine body of men the best of its kind in the United States. The routine work of the year was admirably carried on, and in addition the State Police shouldered the brunt of the work of enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment.

During the last two years 38,000 calls for assistance were received and answered. A total of 45,000 investigations were conducted by members of the force, and resulted in more than 22,000 arrests. Of these, 190 were for murder, 1,000 for burglary, and 8,000 for bootlegging, illicit distilling and other violations of the liquor laws.

The percentage of convictions obtained was unusually high. Eighty-two percent of all trials conducted on State Police evidence resulted in convictions. The percentage in liquor cases was 64.

The men have worked hard, incessantly, and with unusual spirit. In 1921, when the number of men on the force was considerably higher than it is now, each trooper averaged a little less than 34 arrests. During 1923-24 each trooper averaged 44 arrests. The cost per arrest to the State in 1921 was $72; in 1924, $63. The authorized strength of the State Police force is 420 men. Its average strength in the past two years has been 270 men.

BOARD OF FISH COMMISSIONERS

The fresh water fish of Pennsylvania are fighting a losing fight against the increasing number of fishermen and the automobile. Moreover, the choicer portions of our fishing waters are increasingly closed to the general public by the growth of hunting and fishing clubs. In spite of much good work accomplished in fish propagation, a steadily growing scarcity of good fishing is clearly in sight. Vigorous measures must be taken to prevent it.

As a step in that direction, the Fish Commission has been reorganized, a new system of accounts and reports has been adopted, and, for the first time, a thorough survey of the streams of the State has been undertaken. This survey will establish the carrying capacity of each stream, or other body of water, the kind of fish best adapted to it, and will show what the production of fish should be in our hatcheries in order to keep our waters adequately stocked. It has already been made in a number of counties, and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The most striking achievement of the Board in fish culture s its production of approximately 650,000 two to three-inch black bass at the Pleasant Mount hatchery this year, and their distribution in the bass waters of the State. This is a larger number of hatchery raised black bass than have ever been distributed before in a single year by any State, or by the United States Government inself. The Pleasant Mount hatchery will shortly be able to distribute yearly about one million black bass.

Th question whether the age at which a fishing license is required should be changed from eighteen to sixteen years, thus increasing the revenue available for fish culture, will undoubtedly be raised during the present session.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

During the past two years, with reduced appropriations, the Public Service Commission has completed a larger volume of work. By its action in the complaint of the Commission against increased rates proposed by the Bell Telephone Company it was able to effect a saving to the public of approximately $570,000 a year, and in the recent short haul iron and steel rate case the Commission's order cancelled certain proposed increased rates, as a result of which very large sums will annually be saved by the shipping public.

Because of the progress of railroad grade crossing elimination and protection, during the year 1924 accidents at crossings have decreased in number by twelve percent.

The Commission has cooperated in the work of the Giant Power Survey, and has initiated its own investigation into rates charged by electric companies to rural consumers.

In the case of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit rate increase, at my suggestion the Commission decided to employ Doctor Milo R. Maltbie, one of the foremost experts on public utilities in the United States, to make to it a recommendation whether or not a valuation of the property of the company would lead to a reduction in fares. Mr. Maltbie's report is expected during the present month.

SANITARY WATER BOARD

The Sanitary Water Board has charge of the whole question of stream pullotion from any cause, including sewage and industrial waste. Stream pollution by industries has long been a subject of controversy and bitterness in Pennsylvania. The Sanitary Water Board has approached the problem along the line not of contention but of cooperation with the industries involved.

This is the right line to follow. As a result, the leather tanners of Pennsylvania have entered into an agreement with the Board under which the tanning companies provide $35,000 for research intended to discover reasonable and practicable means for the harmless disposal of tannery waste. The work is already under way.

The Board has undertaken to inventory the streams of the State as to their purity. Of class A streams, now clean and unpolluted and to be kept so, it has already listed 3450 miles, although the inventory is complete in only seven counties.

The policy of the Board in cooperating with municipalities for the progressive construction of sewage works has resulted in a marked increase of such works during the two years.

BOARD OF GAME COMMISSIONERS

The personnel of the Board of Game Commissioners was largely changed during the past year, and the entire work of the Board has been reorganized and tightened up. A new staff service for educational work has been added, and a system of competitive examination for the selection of all field officers has been established, and is working well.

A comprehensive two year program for the work of the Board has been prepared and approved. Among the important projects are the creation of many more game refuges, greater attention to improving the relations between farmers and sportsmen, an educational program on wild life conservation, and the support of the $25,000,000 bond issue to purchase forest lands. The new Game Code has proved itself to be a real step forward, and has met with almost universal approval.

The type of hunters' tags has been changed, with the result that tags of a durable character are being manufactured by the Prison Labor Board at an annual saving of $30,000.

Much more game has been purchased and distributed for stocking purposes during the past than during any previous year, and the organization and its work as a whole is in better condition than ever before.

I mention with especial pleasure the effective cooperation of the Board of Game Commisisoners with the Forest Service and the very telling and generous assistance given by the hunters of Pennsylvania for the prevention and extinction of forest fires.

WATER AND POWER RESOURCES BOARD

In addition to its many other duties the Board has, during the last two years, conducted extensive and most important negotiations with representatives of the States of New York and New Jersey concerning the development and allotment of the water of the Delaware River in conformity with the rights and interests of the States of New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. These negotiations look to the ultimate adoption of a compact between the three States as provided by the Constitution of the United States, which compact, when approved by Congress, would have the force of Federal law.

The legal and technical difficulties to be overcome in these negotiations are very great. Throughout them the Water and Power Resources Board, as representing Pennsylvania, has properly insisted that all uses of the waters of the Delaware, and benefits to be derived from their control, should be considered in the compact. Real progress has been made, and the negotiations have now reached the point at which further action depends upon the decision of the City of Philadelphia in selecting its future source of water supply.

DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE

Among the great spending agencies of the Commonwealth the Department of Welfare follows next after Highways and Public Instruction, with an expenditure for the present biennium of $17,000,000. The additional functions devolved upon it under this Administration are the fiscal control of State welfare institutions, and the supervision of the credit service in the State-aided hospitals. It is the policy of the Department to encourage local responsibility in the field of social welfare under its slogan of Home Rule in Welfare Work, which is in conformity with Pennsylvania traditions since Colonial days.

The organization of the Department is such as to provide expert consultation service for any community or organization which may desire it in social problems or institutional administration.

Fiscal control through the Budget has resulted in marked economy of administration without injury to institutions, while the supervision of hospital credit service has eliminated deadheads and greatly increased the revenue of the hospitals from those, but only from those, who are able to pay.

In spite of the cut in State appropriations forced by the lack of revenue, a cut of which the Legislature was warned in advance, the State-aided hospitals rendered 317,640 more days of patient service in the last fiscal year than in the year 1921, when State contributions to these hospitals were at their highest point. A study of 125 identical hospitals, doing 90 percent of the entire work of the State-aided hospitals, in the year ending May 31, 1924, shows that these hospitals had $924,000 more to operate on in the last fiscal year than in the fiscal year 1923. They had $1,818,000 more than in 1921, the year of largest State contributions, and treated 16,683 more patients.

The ten State medical and surgical hospitals, with a total bed capacity of 994 patients, gave 285,564 days of treatment during the fiscal year 1924. The earnings of these hospitals have increased and former habitual large yearly deficiencies have been eliminated. With two exceptions these institutions will live wholly within their appropriations, and taking the ten hospitals as a whole, they will be without a deficit.

The total capacity of our institutions for mental defectives is about 4,500, which is about half what we need. The Department is conducting, at 37 different centers clinics for the early diagnosis of feeble-mindedness and insanity. This service is of great importance in checking the increase in cases of mental illness, which is one of the most serious threats to the ultimate welfare of the State.

The annual increase in the number of patients in our mental hospital is 600. There were 22,494 patients in the county and State mental hospitals on May 31, 1924, and 4,521 feeble-minded persons in State institutions and at Elwyn.

Great progress has been made in the last two years in the care and treatment of the State's prisoners. The State penitentiaries, and especially the Eastern Penitentiary, as they were conducted two years ago were most efficient schools of crime, in which first offenders were made into hardened criminals, familiar with vice of every sort. The condition in the Eastern Penitentiary was beyond description, and was directly due to the political control which had for years sacrificed the welfare of the prisoners to the advantage of politicians.

The change which has been brought about is like that from night to day. Dope, drink, and social vice have been eliminated from the penitentiaries. Idleness, which for a prisoner means spiritual, mental, and physical death, has been done away with. The penitentiaries of Pennsylvania are now run for the central purpose of restoring their inmates to society better and not worse than when they came in.

In cooperation with the Department, an Inter-racial Committee has been appointed and a State-wide study is being made of the problem of every community in which there are one hundred negroes or over. More than one thousand volunteers are assisting.

There are more than 95,000 dependent children receiving aid in or outside of their own homes in Pennsylvania. The increase in appropriations to the Mothers' Assistance Fund has made it possible to add twelve hundred families to the list of beneficiaries. The total number of children under its supervision is 16,000.

Because it has been politically more profitable to appropriate money for jobs than for the building of institutions, Pennsylvania is far below a proper standard in certain types of welfare work. It has also been far below standard in the conduct of many of its State institutions. Thus the supposed beneficiaries of a school for soldiers' children were found to be getting but two months' schooling in the year, while an institution for feeble-minded children was keeping its charges within doors from one year's end to the other, because it was thus easier to control them. These matters have been set right.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE ATHLETIC COMMISSION

Boxing has been a much discredited sport in Pennsylvania. When the Athletic Commission was created, and boxing was legalized under the supervision of the Commonwealth, much fear was expressed that bad results would follow. The Commission has now been in existence a year, with excellent results.

Although serious difficulties were encountered in making and keeping the sport of boxing free from reproach, and although more than 1600 contests were held under the supervision of the Commission, only eight written complaints were received during the year. It was necessary to punish by fines or suspensions only forty-two boxers, managers, promoters, or others. But a single fake contest was attempted during the twelve months. That was promptly stopped, the State Treasury received three-fourths of the purse, and the guilty boxers were allowed sufficient money to get out of Pennsylvania.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE COMMISSION.

The Commission began its work in September, 1923. It has organized local boards in 45 counties, and has in preparation a report pointing out the unsuitableness of our jumbled poor laws, of which there are perhaps 3,000 on our statute books dealing with various phases of poor relief. The Commission is convinced that for the amount of money now spent on almshouses at least two and one-half times the number of persons could be taken care of under the Old Age Assistance plan.

Court proceedings questioning the constitutionality of the Act have interrupted its work, which is now temporarily suspended.

EXECUTIVE BOARD.

One of the most important and valuable achievements of the Executive Board was the reclassification of the positions and salaries of all State employees. When this Administration came into office many employees were notoriously overpaid, many were underpaid, while of two employees performing precisely the same work one was sometimes paid twice as much as the other.

As a result of the classification, and of better methods of administration in the various departments, the salary roll of the Harrisburg appointive departments paid from the General Fund has been reduced by about $1,750,000 for this as compared with the previous biennium, while in spite of this reduction in cost, the amount and quality of work done have both increased. The better positions now go to employees who have earned them by faithful work instead of to outsiders with political pull. The result is better service to the State.

The allocation of definite sums for service purposes to the different departments marks a long step in advance. Heretofore each department applied to and secured from the former Superintendent of Public Grounds and Buildings as much money as possible in printing, stationery, general supplies, telephone and telegraph service, and other forms of service and materials. It was a case of first come, first served. Incentive to economy was wholly absent. Now the Executive Board, in consultation with the head of each department, makes a definite allocation of funds for each of these purposes, and the department is required to keep within it, thus furnishing a powerful incentive to economy and efficiency in expenditure. Very substantial savings are the natural result.

The reorganization of the State Government has been definitely set down in a series of charts which cover all of the departments responsible to the Governor. In many or most cases the chart is the first ever prepared for the department in question. While the reorganization of the departments shown by these charts is complete as it stands, and marks a great forward stride toward the ideal of efficient and economical administration, further changes will undoubtedly be necessary during the coming two years as further experience indicates new lines of improvement.

THE HUMAN SIDE OF GOVERNMENT

The State ought to be a model employer. The people who work for it ought to have reasonable hours, good pay, safe, comfortable, and healthful conditions of work, and of vacation and sick leave neither too little nor too much. Their work should not be unreasonably hard nor unreasonably easy. Above all they should have fair chances for bettering themselves. That means an open field for promotion to the better positions—an open field in which the worker with the best output, and not the idler with the most pull, will carry off the prize.

What this Administration is trying to do is to replace the old order of push and pull by a new order of cooperation and advancement based on merit. If the servants of the State are to give the best that is in them to the service of the State, the State must do its full share. One well paid, well treated employee, with an open road to advancement on merit, costs the State far less than two dissatisfied half-hearted clock watchers, and returns the State far more. The way to get the servants of the States to take an interest in their work is, in the first place, to see that their work leads to something worth accomplishing; and in the second place, to see that the State takes an interest in them. Turn about is fair play.

THE OPEN DOOR

The plan of receiving in the public reception room on certain days of the week all who may desire to see the Governor is intended to make the contact between the people and their Government direct and easy. It has worked thoroughly well in all respects, and will be continued.

This Administration will never use its power unjustly to its own advantage, nor will it suffer the enemies of policies openly adopted by the people to make use of it to strengthen their evil cause. It will continue unbroken to the end of its term the policies it has adopted for the safety, honor, and welfare of the people of the Commonwealth, holding fast to its purpose to set the public good in the first place.

January 6, 1925. GIFFORD PINCHOT.

JOINT SESSION TO COUNT VOTE

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVIS. By the provisions of the Constitution it becomes the duty of the President of the Senate to open and publish in the presense of the Members of both Houses the official returns of the elections for Auditor General and State Treasurer, held on Tuesday, November 4, 1924, in the several counties of the Commonwealth. I will now proceed to perform that duty, and the election returns will be opened and read by the Clerk.

The Teller on the part of the Senate is the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Daix, and the Teller on the part of the House is the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams. They will come to the desk and proceed in the performance of their duties.

The said returns were accordingly opened and read by the Clerks of the respective Houses.

(For tables showing returns see today's Senate proceedings.)

Whereupon the President of the Senate announced that Edward Martin having received the highest number of votes was duly elected Auditor General for the term of four years, from the first Tuesday in May, A. D. 1925, and that Samuel S. Lewis having received the highest number of votes was duly elected State Treasurer, for the term of four years from the first Monday in May, A. D. 1925.

Four certificates were signed in each case, as follows:

We, the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do certify that the President of the Senate did, on the sixth day of January, A. D. one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, in the Hall of the House of Representatives at the State Capitol, open the returns of the election for Auditor General of this Commonwealth, and publish the same in the presence of both Houses of the Legislature, conformably to the provisions of the Constitution and laws of this Commonwealth, and upon counting the votes by a Teller, appointed by each House, it appears that Edward Martin had the highest number of votes; whereupon the said Edward Martin was duly declared elected Auditor General.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seals the day and year above written.

DAVID J. DAVIS,
President of the Senate.
THOMAS BLUETT,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
AUGUSTUS F. DAIX, JR.,
Teller on the part of the Senate.
GEO. W. WILLIAMS,
Teller on the part of the House of Representatives.

The Tellers agree in their tallies, and the count shows that—

Edward Martin, received	1,351,355
John R. Collins, received	414,956
Sidney Stark, received	69,392
George L. Pennock, received	30,279

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 19, 1925. No. 2.

SENATE.

MONDAY, January 19, 1925.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Our Father in Heaven: We acknowledge our dependence on Thee in all things, day by day. Life itself is from Thee. The very air we breathe is Thy gift. Food and raiment and shelter, all these temporal blessings, are from Thy bountiful hand. Thou hast granted us minds that we may think, and we have spirits akin to the divine Spirit. Make us truly grateful to Thee for Thine unfailing goodness, and help us to so use Thy gifts to body, mind and soul, that Thou shalt be well pleased with us.

Grant Thy blessing upon these Senators as they come together this evening. In all that they do may they be guided by divine wisdom. In city and state and nation, and through the whole world, do Thou rule and overrule.

We ask it in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BUCKMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

ADMINISTRATION OF OATH OF OFFICE TO SENATOR ELECT.

The PRESIDENT. I note with much pleasure the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, is present. He was not with us at the organization on account of illness. The oath of office will be administered to him by the Honorable William M. Hargest, President Judge of the Twelfth Judicial District.

The oath of office was then administered to the Senator-elect.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1925. No. 3.

SENATE.

TUESDAY, January 20, 1925.

The Senate met at 10.30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

O Lord, Thou knowest the heavy work that lies before the Senate. These coming weeks will be extremely busy. A multitude of important questions must be decided. Grant the Senators the physical strength they will need. May no serious illness come to any one of them, and if any are now sick do thou lay Thine healing hand upon them and restore them to health, if it be Thy gracious will. Give them clear minds that they may think wisely and well. And we pray Thee to remember their families, their wives and children and all who are near and dear to them, and keep them in perfect safety. Bless our Governor and our Presiding Officer, and all who are in places of special responsibility, and guide us through this new day. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. LESLIE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication:

SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF GERMANTOWN.

Philadelphia, January 13, 1925.

Presiding Officer of the Senate, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: In conformity with Article 13 of our Charter, we enclose herewith a copy of our Seventieth Annual Statement.

Yours very truly,
W. N. PRICE,
Treasurer.

(For report see Append.x)

REPORT OF THE WESTERN SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF PHILADELPHIA.

THE WESTERN SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF PHILADELPHIA.

19th January, 1925.

Honorable David J. Davis, Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: On behalf, and by direction of the Auditors duly appointed by the President Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas of this County, to audit and settle the accounts of The Western Saving Fund Society of Philadelphia for the year 1924, I have the honor to hand you herewith their report, which has been prepared and which is forwarded in conformity with Article 1 of the Charter of this Society, which requires us to transmit one copy of the Auditors report to the President of the Senate, and one copy to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth. I remain,

Yours very truly,
FRED. F. HALLOWELL,
Vice President & Treasurer.

(For report see Appendix)

COMMUNICATION FROM BOARD OF JUDGES OF PHILADELPHIA COUNTY RELATIVE TO NEW SITE FOR EASTERN STATE PENITENTIARY.

Court of Common Pleas No. 4.

Philadelphia, January 9th, 1925.

To the Presiding Officer of State Senate, Harrisburg Pennsylvania.

Sir: I have the honor to herewith transmit to you a copy of Resolution this day adopted by the Board of Judges of Philadelphia County, relative to the matter of the Eastern State Penitentiary, located in the County of Philadelphia.

Very respectfully yours,
JOSEPH P. McCULLEN,
Secretary Board of Judges.

"Be it Resolved That, it is unanimously agreed by the Board of Judges of Philadelphia County that the Eastern State Penitentiary, now located in the County of Philadelphia, has become and is, by reason of its location, its ancient construction and overcrowded condition, unfit to be used as a penal institution and that humanity and a decent consideration for the welfare of prisoners and their reformation demand a prompt removal of the said institution from its present location to a rural section of the state where adequate facilities for handling prisoners and giving them wholesome and reformatory, industrial and farm work can be provided; And

Be it Further Resolved That, a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor and the General Assembly of the Commonwealth."

Which was committed to the Committee on Appropriations.

JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following joint resolution:

JOINT RESOLUTION.

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following article is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution:

"Article—

"Section 1. The Congress shall have power to limit, regulate, and prohibit the labor of persons under eighteen years of age.

"Sec. 2. The power of the several States is unimpaired by this article except that the operation of State laws shall be suspended to the extent necessary to give effect to legislation enacted by the Congress."

F. H. GILLETT,
Speaker of the House of Representatives,
ALBERT B. CUMMINS,
President pro tempore of the Senate.

WM. TYLER PAGE,
Clerk.

Which was committed to the Committee on Judiciary General.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate comunications, in writing, from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, dated January 6th, 1925, and which were laid upon the table.

Which were referred to the Committee on Finance.

RESOLUTION THANKING THE PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY FOR SAVING FOR THE COMMONWEALTH AND ITS CITIZENS WILLIAM PENN'S CHARTER OF LIBERTIES.

Mr. MacDADE offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania,
January 20, 1925.

Whereas, The Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia through its newspaper, The Public Ledger, invited popular subscriptions to the amount of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for the purpose of purchasing from the owner, the original charter of the Province of Pennsylvania, usually called William Penn's Charter of Liberties; and

Whereas, Through this patriotic act sufficient funds were raised to complete said purchase which was formally made in Philadelphia in the offices of the Public Ledger Company on December twenty-seventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, at which time, the owner transferred this historic charter to the temporary custody of the Public Ledger Company to be later turned over to the Commonwealth and to be preserved in its archives at Harrisburg; and

Whereas, Through this patriotic deed the first charter of the liberties of citizens of Pennsylvania will be returned to the Commonwealth to be safely kept and preserved in the State Library where it will be treasured as the most valuable addition to that already priceless collection of historical documents. Therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senators and Representatives of the General Assembly of 1925 of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby express their appreciation of this public service and thank the Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia and its officers for the patriotic movement which has saved for the Commonwealth and its citizens William Penn's Charter of Liberties.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth forward a duly certified copy of this resolution to the Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO LUNCH ROOM IN CAPITOL BUILDING.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BARR offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the session of the General Assembly of 1923, a resolution was adopted by the Senate of Pennsylvania, concurred in by the House of Representatives and approved by his Excellency the Governor, calling for the establishment of a lunch room in one of the Capitol Buildings for the purpose of providing lunches for the members and officers of the Legislature and employes of the several departments of the State government, said room to be rented to a reputable caterer who was authorized to charge for the food furnished; and

Whereas, the said Capitol lunch room was to have been arranged for by the Board of Commissioners of Public Grounds and Buildings, now designated the Department of Property and Supplies; and

Whereas, to date no such Capitol lunch room has been established and as far as known no preparations for the lunch room have been made; therefore be it,

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed by the President of the Senate to confer with the Secretary of the Department of property and Supplies for the purpose of ascertaining the cause and reason why said lunch room has not been established in accordance with the resolution as adopted and approved by his Execellency the Governor.

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the President Pro Tempore, the Chair appoints as said Committee, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Harris, and the Senator from Blair, Mr. Snyder.

APPOINTMENTS TO COMMITTEES

The PRESIDENT. On behalf of the President Pro Tempore the Chair announces the following additional appointments to Committees:

Appropriations: The Senator from Jefferson, Mr. North.

Mines and Mining: The Senator from Bedford, Mr. Derrick.

HOUSE MESSAGES.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, January 20, 1925.

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That when the Legislature adjourns today it reconvene on Monday evening, January twenty-sixth, at nine o'clock.

RESOLUTION THANKING THE PUBLIC LEDGER FOR SAVING FOR THE COMMONWEALTH AND ITS CITIZENS WILLIAM PENN'S CHARTER OF LIBERTIES.

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania,
January 20, 1925.

Whereas, The Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia through its newspaper, The Public Ledger, invited popular subscriptions to the amount of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for the purpose of purchasing from the owner, the original charter of the Province of Pennsylvania, usually called William Penn's Charter of Liberties; and

Whereas, Through this patriotic act sufficient funds were raised to complete said purchase which was formally made in Philadelphia in the offices of the Public Ledger Company on December twenty-seventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, at which time, the owner transferred this historic charter to the temporary custody of the Public Ledger Company to be later turned over to the Commonwealth and to be preserved in its archives at Harrisburg; and

Whereas, Through this patriotic deed the first charter of the liberties of citizens of Pennsylvania will be returned to the Commonwealth to be safely kept and preserved in the State Library where it will be treasured as the most valuable addition to that already priceless collection of historical documents. Therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Senators and Representatives of the General Assembly of 1925 of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby express their appreciation of this public service and thank the Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia and its officers for the patriotic movement which has saved for the Commonwealth and its citizens William Penn's Charter of Liberties.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth forward a duly certified copy of this resolution to the Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia.

OFFICERS AND EMPLOYES OF THE SENATE.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BUCKMAN, from the Committee on Public Roads and Highways, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act authorizing the issue and sale of bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; defining the powers and duties of the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto; making an appropriation of the proceeds of such bonds for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the Commonwealth; providing for the payment of the interest on, and the redemption of such bonds by the Board of Finance and Revenue, and for the sale and registration of said bonds; and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of this act.

MOTION TO READ BILL THE FIRST TIME.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the bill reported from Committee at today's session be read the first time.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FIRST READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1, entitled:

An Act authorizing the issue and sale of bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; defining the powers and duties of the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto; making an appropriation of the proceeds of such bonds for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the Commonwealth; providing for the payment of the interest on, and the redemption of such bonds by the Board of Finance and Revenue, and for the sale and registration of said bonds; and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of this act.

And said bill having been read at length the first time,

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BUCKMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending revising, and consolidating, the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies, Lloyds associations, reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges, and fire insurance rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties and repealing existing laws:" authorizing mutual fire insurance companies to insure public buildings and public property.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday evening, January 26, 1925, at nine o'clock.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 2:17 P. M. until Monday evening, January 26, 1925, at nine o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

TUESDAY, January 20, 1925.

The House met at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Thomas Bluett) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cox, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and Eternal God, Creator of Heaven and Earth, Giver of our Being as well as our Well-being, we rejoice in our heritage which we have in Thee. And inasmuch as Thou dost work out the purposes of Thy divine will concerning us though the employment of human instrumentalities, we pray that Thou wouldst give us the mind of Him, who though chief among men was the servant of all. May Thy spirit make us plastic in Thy hands to prefer the service that Thou requirest of us, and we will give Thee eternal praise, through Christ our Redeemer. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Adam, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

The SPEAKER: The Speaker desires to announce the appointment of the following committees. In announcing these Committees I also wish to say that much time and consideration has been given to all these assignments, so as to, as far as possible, take care of the requests of the members, and to take care of the various interests of our state. I am quite aware that there must be some disappointments, that must necessarily be so, but I trust that you will be in the main satisfied that the best has been done under the circumstances, and that we will work together in co-operation for the success of the session.

RESIGNATION OF MR. WILLIAMS AS CHAIRMAN OF GAME COMMITTEE.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to express to you my appreciation of your courtsey in naming me as Chairman of the very important committee on Game, and to say to you that my health will not permit my performing the arduous duties of this very important committee. I take this early moment to so advise you that you may appoint or name another as chairman in order not to hold up the work of the committee and that it may meet and promptly organize. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair regrets that the gentleman from Tioga county serve on this committee. If he will not do so, we will later in the day appoint another chairman of the Game Committee.

The Speaker also wishes to announce that there is one error in the list of Committee appointments which has not been put on the list. The name of Mr. Clarence Whitehouse of Schuylkill should be added on the Committee on Appropriations.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Legislature adjourns today it reconvene on Monday evening, January twenty-sixth, at nine o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION THANKING PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 20, 1925.

Whereas, The Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia through its newspaper, The Public Ledger, invited popular subscriptions to the amount of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for the purpose of purchasing from the owner, the original charter of the Province of Pennsylvania, usually called William Penn's Charter of Liberties; and

Whereas, Through this patriotic act sufficient funds were raised to complete said purchase which was formally made in Philadelphia in the offices of the Public Ledger Company on December twenty-seventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, at which time, the owner transferred this historic charter to the temporary custody of the Public Ledger Company to be later turned over to the Commonwealth and to be preserved in its archives at Harrisburg; and

Whereas, Through this patriotic deed the first charter of the liberties of citizens of Pennsylvania will be returned to the Commonwealth to be safely kept and preserved in the State Library where it will be treasured as the most valuable addition to that already priceless collection of historical documents, Therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur). That the Senators and Representatives of the General Assembly of 1925 of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby express their appreciation of this public service and thank the Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia and its officers for the patriotic movement which has saved for the Commonwealth and its citizens William Penn's Charter of Liberties.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth forward a duly certified copy of this resolution to the Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, JANUARY 26, 1925. No. 4.

SENATE.

MONDAY, January 26, 1925.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God: We thank Thee for this wonderful age in which we are living, the most glorious that the world has ever known. We thank Thee for America, this land of opportunity. Whether we are native to the soil or sons by adoption, America is ours; we are proud of it; we love it. On every hand the doors to achievement stand wide open. In large measure it depends upon us what we shall accomplish in life. Help us to realize our responsibility, and to remember that from us to whom so much has been given, much will be required. May we do and be our best.

We ask Thee to bless these Senators as they enter on the duties of this new week and guide them in all their work. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SCHANTZ, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Mr. EYRE asked and obtained leave of absence until March 16th, on account of illness.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO ARRANGE FOR CEREMONIAL FOR RECEPTION OF CHARTER OF LIBERTIES.

Mrs. VARE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mrs. VARE offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 26, 1925.

Whereas, The Philadelphia Public Ledger, with subscriptions made by the people of Pennsylvania for that purpose, has purchased the original Charter of Liberties granted to the Providence of Pennsylvania by William Penn; and

Whereas, The Philadelphia Ledger desires to transfer to its owners, the people of Pennsylvania, through their representatives in Harrisburg, the Senate and House of Representatives and the Governor, this priceless document to be deposited in a proper receptacle among the archives of the State; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That a joint committee of seven Senators be appointed by the President Pro tempore of the Senate, and ten Members of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker of the House, who together with the President Pro-tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, shall constitute a committee to confer with the Governor, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and the President Judge of the Superior Court, to arrange for a ceremonial at which the Charter of Liberties shall be received and properly and safely deposited in the Capitol Buildings in Harrisburg, there to remain as the property of the people for all time to come.

Mrs. VARE. Mr. President I move that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION REQUIRING COLLEGES, UNIVERSITIES AND OTHER INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING, RECEIVING APPROPRIATIONS FROM THE COMMONWEALTH, TO GRANT CERTAIN SCHOLARSHIPS.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BARR offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, January 26, 1925.

Whereas, It is proper that worthy and deserving young men and women, graduates of secondary schools of the Commonwealth, should be afforded every opportunity to acquire higher education, and

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania biennially appropriates large sums of money to certain institutions of higher learning to assist in the maintenance of the same, and

Whereas, Some direct return should be made to the people, who through taxes paid into the Commonwealth, contribute a portion of the cost of maintenance of said institutions; therefore be it

Resolved, That each college, university, or other institution of learning, receiving appropriations from the Commonwealth, shall award annually to each Member of the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth, three scholarships in a complete course of study at said college, university or institution, and be it further

Resolved, That said scholarships shall be distributed or awarded by the said Members of the Senate, after competitive examinations or otherwise, as to each of them may seem proper.

Resolved, That the appropriations committee of the Senate shall before reporting out any bill, making an appropriation to any college, university or other institution of learning, incorporate in such bill, by way of amendment, a condition that the appropriation is made subject to the provisions of this resolution.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

PETITION OPPOSING THE ADOPTION OF THE PROPOSED 20TH AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Mr SPROWLS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to present a petition at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SPROWLS presented the following petition, which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

STATE COUNCIL OF PENNSYLVANIA ORDER OF INDEPENDENT AMERICANS, Inc.

Philadelphia, Pa.

To the Members of the House of Representatives and Senate of Pennsylvania.

Whereas, the undersigned executive Board of Officers of the Order of Independent Americans, Inc. of Pennsylvania, represententing 50,000 citizens of the State, are conversant with the fact that the General Assembly will have the responsibility of voting for or against the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, the said amendment having for its purpose the regulation of the age limit of eighteen years for the rights of employment.

Resolved, that we respectfully request that you negatively cast your vote as a member of the General Assembly for the following reasons:

First—We believe that further centralization of power granted to the Federal Government will be extremely dangerous, denying to the various States their right of self government, not incompatible with that of the Federal Government.

Second—We assert that to control the youth of the land by Legislative enactment would give comfort and impetus to the cause of Socialistic theories and Communistic ideas, which will be of great detriment to our Nation.

Third—We feel justified in our opposition to the adoption of this Amendment in a strong belief that the age limit of eighteen years would produce an element of young people who would be a compulsory dependent upon the parent, although within three years of the legal age of citizenship.

Fourth—We assert that the adoption of this Amendment to the Constitution, would wreak hardship on the numerous dependent parents or relatives, deriving them of the righteous and willing support which could and should be rendered by the Minor Child, but is prohibited by this unjust and inhumane Statute.

Fifth—We believe that the laws governing child labor are adequate; that a Constitutional enforcement would lead to violations innumerable, necessitating the employment of enforcement officers, creation of bureaus, and added taxation upon the people, for a proper support of this legislation.

Sixth—We are opposed to the indiscriminate presentation of amendments to the United States Constitution, feeling that these continued attacks upon our fundamental authority as a Nation breeds contempt for that instrument of Government which has continued us as a successful Nation.

Finally—We appeal to you to defeat this Amendment, which is but one added propaganda of unrest, fostered by radical minds based upon the narrowest possible limitations of a true knwoledge of the rights of States and of individuals.

Fred C. N. Markus, State Councilor, McKeesport, Pa.
Perry F. Ramey, Jr., Post State Councilor.
E. W. Hershey, State Vice Councilor, Steelton, Pa.
Chas. A. Henderickson, Treasurer, Pittsburgh, Pa.
M. H. Rasener, Secretary, 1414 Oxford St., Philadelphia.
Edward Wilson, Philadelphia, John F. Lowers, Braddock, Legislative Committee.

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 23, 1925.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ladies and Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed a resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives conveying the thanks of the General Assembly to the Public Ledger Company of Philadelphia for having invited and procured popular subscriptions in the necessary amount for the purchase from the owner of the original copy of William Penn's Charter of Liberties, which is to be donated to the Commonwealth for preservation in the State Library and Museum.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

REQUESTING JOINT SESSION OF SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 23, 1925.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ladies and Gentlemen: If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly, I should like to address the members in joint session on Tuesday, January twenty-seventh, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, at twelve o'clock noon.

If for any reason this cannot be conveniently arranged, I would be glad to address you at some other time.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I move that the invitation of the Governor be accepted and that he be advised that the Senate will be glad to hear him deliver his message to the General Assembly in joint session to-morrow at 12 o'clock noon.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE MESSAGES.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO DIVERSION OF WATERS FROM LAKE MICHIGAN.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1925.

Whereas, The city of Chicago is now diverting colossal quantities of water out of Lake Michigan into the Chicago Drainage Canal for sanitation and power purposes, which diversion has already caused great injury to commerce on the Great Lakes, and

Whereas, The said city of Chicago is now seeking permission through the provisions of a bill now pending in the Congress of the United States, to increase the diversion of water from said lake to ten thousand cubic feet per second for the alleged purposes of protecting its water supply and disposing of its sewage, and

Whereas, The diversion of water in the quantities intended would result in a considerable additional lowering of the mean levels of the Great Lakes, to the great damage of the inner harbors and connecting channels and by reducing the carrying capacity of the lake fleet would make certain an enormous yearly loss of owners thereof, and

Whereas, The lowering of the levels of the Great Lakes and the changing conditions resulting therefrom would very seriously affect the fishing industries of the Commonwealth, and

Whereas, This excessive drainage would be of water to and in which the Dominion of Canada has rights equal to those of the United States, and any attempt to increase the same is in violation of the Treaty Relations with the Dominion of Canada; therefore,

Be it resolved, (if the Senate concur), That it is the opinion of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that any increase in the amount of water permitted to be drained from the Great Lakes would be against the interests of the people of the United States, would seriously affect the fishing industries of this Commonwealth, would be unnecessary, and might have an unwanted affect upon our friendly relations with the people of the Dominion of Canada; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to each Member of the Senate and each Member of the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States, and that they be urged to use their vote and influence against the passage of any legislation intended to permit such further damage.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING CONGRESS TO ADOPT LEGISLATION PROVIDING RETIREMENT PRIVILEGES FOR DISABLED EMERGENCY OFFICERS.

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows, and agreed to:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1925.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does respectfully request Congress of the United States to adopt legislation which will provide for retirement privileges for disabled emergency officers of the army under the same conditions now provided by law for officers of the regular army in so far as regards physical disability in line of duty.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Comomnwealth forward a copy of this resolution to the President Pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States and a copy to each Member and Senator from Pennsylvania in Congress of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, January 26, 1925.

The House met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.
The SPEAKER (Thomas Bluett) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, Thou who art the source of all law and of all government, we pray Thee that Thy blessing may be upon the government of this Commonwealth, that it may especially be upon this House, upon these members of the Legislature. May they all,—may we all,—seek to do the thing which is truly wise and just. Keep us from all personal bitterness. Help us to fight as valiant soldiers for the things which we believe to be right; but help us to fight as men and to fight with the cheerfulness of the joyful soldiers of that which is right. We pray Thee our Father that Thou wouldst help us all as we strive to do the thing which is truly wise and just, to always remember that back of all such bodies as this, back of the Executive, back of everything, are the people, and that the people are the ones for whose happiness and the maintenance of whose liberties everything is done by us. Keep us therefore, we beseech Thee, sincere and honest in our hearts, unafraid of any man that walks this earth, fearing only Thee, so that we may, as we think and as we speak, have no man in our minds or in our hearts, but truth only. And we pray Thee that Thou wouldst especially bless every man and every woman here. God grant that we may never forget that every man and every woman in such a body as this, have individual trials and problems and sorrows and temptations and hopes and fears; and if we would have each other respect our opinions, let us respect the opinions of each other. Let us believe, as we do believe, that these men and women who gather here are sincere, honest Pennsylvanians, seeking to do the things to the best interests of this grand Commonwealth which we love. Keep us from bitterness and strife and bless us and keep us in Thy fear and in Thy fear only, for Christ's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Tuesday, January 20, 1925.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of Tuesday, January 20, 1925, when, on motion of Mr. Allman, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT OF THE SAVING FUND SOCIETY OF GERMANTOWN, PA.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the seventieth annual statement of the Saving Fund Society of Germantown, Pa., for the year 1924.

RESIGNATION OF ASSISTANT JOURNAL CLERK.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a communication, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Thomas H. Garvin, Esq., Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: I hereby resign as assistant Journal Clerk.

(Signed) MARTIN R. WEITZEL,
Dormont, Pa.

ELECTION OF ASSISTANT JOURNAL CLERK.

Mr. McCAIG offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved: That Ray L. Epping, of 1681 New Haven Avenue, Dormont, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, be elected as Assistant Journal Clerk of the House, vice Martin R. Weitzel, resigned.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO RETIREMENT PRIVILEGES FOR DISABLED EMERGENCY OFFICERS.

Mr. HALL offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1925.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does respectfully request Congress of the United States to adopt legislation which will provide for retirement privileges for disabled emergency officers of the army under the same conditions now provided by law for officers of the regular army in so far as regards physical disability in line of duty.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth forward a copy of this resolution to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States and a copy to each Member and Senator from Pennsylvania in Congress of the United States.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO CHICAGO WATER SUPPLY.

Mr. SCHILLING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution at this time, and ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that unanimous consent was asked to have it read or considered?

I have no objection to the resolution being read, but there may be some objection to having it considered at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the resolution for the information of the House.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1925.

Whereas, the city of Chicago is now diverting colossal quantities of water out of Lake Michigan into the Chicago Drainage Canal for sanitation and power purposes, which diversion has already caused great injury to commerce on the Great Lakes, and

Whereas, The said city of Chicago is now seeking permission through the provisions of a bill now pending in the Congress of the United States, to increase the diversion of water from said lake to ten thousand cubic feet per second for the alleged purpose of protecting its water supply and disposing of is sewage, and

Whereas, The diversion of water in the quantities intended would result in a considerable additional lowering of the mean levels of the Great Lakes, to the great damage of the inner harbors and connecting channels and by reducing the carrying capacity of the lake fleet would make certain an enormous yearly loss to owners thereof, and

Whereas, The lowering of the levels of the Great Lakes and the changing conditions resulting therefrom would very seriously affect the fishing industries of the Commonweatlh, and

Whereas, This excessive drainage would be of water to and in which the Dominion of Canada has rights equal to those of the United States, and any attempt to increase the same is in violation of the Treaty Relations with the Dominion of Canada, therefore

Be it resolved, (if the Senate concur), That it is the opinion of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that any increase in the amount of water permitted to be drained from the Great Lakes would be against the interests of the people of the United States, would seriously affect the fishing industries of this Comomnwealth, would be unnecessary, and might have an unwanted affect upon our friendly relations with the people of the Dominion of Canada, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to each Member of the Senate and each Member of the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States, and that they be urged to use their vote and influence against the passage of any legislation intended to permit such further damage.

Mr. SCHILLING. Mr. Speaker, the reason for asking unanimous consent for the resolution at this time is because the Supreme Court of the United States ruled against the Chicago Drainage Canal to use this water. They have now introduced an Act in Congress, I believe, known as the Madden Act, and the states of New York, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, also Canada, have protested, and there will be a meeting before the committee on the 29th of this month. The chamber of commerce, as well as other people interested in it desire to attend this meeting and have this resolution pass the General Assembly of Pennsylvania so that they can appear before Congress and support their protest.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House adopt the resolution.

Mr. FRATT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. STAVITSKI asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Schwartz, on account of illness.

Mr. DILSHEIMER asked and obtained leave of absence for himself, for February 2nd.

Mr. McKIM asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Goss, on account of illness.

The SPEAKER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Hoover, for the week on account of illness.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to your request, a committee composed of the Chairman of the respective committees of the House met last week to formulate a schedule or roster for the meeting of the committees during the session, and it is the report of that committee that I desire to present to you and to the members of the House at this time.

The committee bases its report upon the premises that for the time being this House will meet on Tuesdays between the hours of eleven and one in the morning, and five and six in the afternoon. In order to avoid overlapping and conflict in the meeting of the respective committees, and to permit the members of the various committees to find it possible to attend the meetings of all the committees, this schedule or roster was prepared.

In approaching the work the committee divided the various House committees into two groups, those that would of necessity meet once a week or more frequently, and those that would meet bi-weekly or less frequently. In working out this roster the committee considered only those committees that would meet once a week or more frequently. The committee made no attempt to fix a time for the meeting of the Committee on Appropriations for the obvious reason that that committee because of the volume of work that it has assigned to it must almost continuously meet.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I want to submit to you at this time the roster as prepared:

Monday evening at eight o'clock, Committee on Game, Bidelspacher, Chairman.

On Monday evening immediately after adjournment, Banks and Banking, Baldi, Chairman; Judiciary Special, Sowers, Chairman.

Tuesday, eight thirty A. M., Committee on Agriculture, Haines, Chairman; Counties and Townships, Aston, Chairman.

Tuesday at nine A. M., Ways and Means, Sterling, Chairman.

Tuesday at ten A. M., Law and Order, Armstrong, Chairman.

Tuesday at two P. M., Judiciary General, McKim, Chairman; Municipal Corporations, Haas, Chairman.

Tuesday at three P. M., Public Health and Sanitation, Heffernan, Chairman; Public Roads, Hess, Chairman.

Tuesday at four P. M., Judiciary Local, Marshall, Chairman; Education, Miss Bentley, Chairman; Mines and Mining; Parkinson, Chairman.

Mr. Speaker, in the preparation of this roster it is contemplated that the Chairman of the various committees will make every possible effort to adhere to the schedule as set up. Of course, we all know that there must be a certain amount of elasticity in a schedule of this kind, particularly to afford time for committee meetings where public hearings may be involved, but it is the suggestion of the committee of chairmen that when any deviation from this schedule is necessary that the chairman of the committee who is obliged to step aside from this schedule confer with the chairmen of the other committees upon whose time he may encroach.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to thank this committee for the work it has done. It is the desire, I believe, of every member of the House, and particularly of every chairman of the different committees, to expedite the business of the House and the session as much as possible. Consequently this roster has been gotten up so as to focilitate the meetings of the different committees in order that they will not conflict with one another. I think it might be a good idea if this roster were read by the Clerk. Therefore, I will ask the Clerk to read it, and ask the chairmen of the different committees to note down the times fixed for their meetings, and as far as possible try to carry these things out so that we can facilitate the business of the House. The Chair realizes, of course, that it will not always be possible to carry out this program. That will have to depend entirely upon the circumstances as they arise. I will ask the Clerk to read the roster as given to us by this Committee.

The Clerk read the roster as follows:

REPORT OF PHILIP STERLING, CHAIRMAN OF COMMITTEE OF HOUSE COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN.

Pursuant to call of the Speaker, meeting of the Chairmen of the several House Committees was held in the office of the Speaker on Tuesday, January 20th, 1925. Consideration was given to the arrangement of a roster or schedule for meetings of the various Committees during the 1925 Session. The Committees were first divided into two groups; First, Those Committees which will meet once or more frequently each week; Second, Those Committees meeting bi-weekly or less frequently. After due consideration of all factors, the Committee, with a view to avoid overlapping or conflict in Committee meetings, and to afford the members of the respective Committees opportunity to attend meeting of the Committees of which they have been assigned, the following Schedule has been prepared and is herewith submitted for consideration and adoption.

Monday evening, 8 o'clock, Committee on Game, Bidelspacher, Chairman.

Monday evening immediately after adjournment, Banks and Banking, Baldi, Chairman; Judiciary Special, Sowers, Chairman.

Tuesday, 8.30 A. M., Committee on Agriculture, Haines, Chairman; Counties and Townships, Aston, Chairman.

9 A. M., Ways and Means, Sterling, Chairman.

10 A. M., Law and Order, Armstrong, Chairman.

2 P. M., Judiciary General, McKim, Chairman; Municipal Corporations, Haas, Chairman.

3 P. M., Public Health and Sanitation, Heffernan, Chairman; Public Roads, Hess, Chairman.

5 P. M., Judiciary Local, Marshall, Chairman; Education, Miss Bentley, Chairman; Mines and Mining, Parkinson, Chairman.

The Schedule submitted is based upon House Sessions for the time being to be held on Tuesdays as follows:

Morning Session, 11 to 1.

Afternoon Session beginning at 5 o'clock.

It is hoped that the Chairmen of the respective Committees assigned in this Roster or Schedule will make every possible effort to adhere as closely to it as is practical. The work of the Committees will be thus regularly facilitated and the terests of members, in legislation, assigned to the Committees, will be best protected. While it is believed that this Roster will be a practical working Schedule, there may, of course, be times when on account of a sudden emergency, such as public hearings and the like, that some variance will be necessary and even some conflict or overlapping may occur. It is suggested that the Chairmen of the respective Committees assigned, make every possible effort to further co-operate with each other in the hope that the business of the House may be speedily and efficiently considered and concluded.

Respectfully submitted,

PHILIP STERLING.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER declared a recess for fifteen minutes.

AFTER RECESS.

The SPEAKER. The House will be in order.

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, January 26, 1925.

Whereas, The Philadelphia Public Ledger, with subscriptions made by the people of Pennsylvania for that purpose, has purchased the original Charter of Liberties granted to the Province of Pennsylvania by William Penn; and

Whereas, The Philadelphia Ledger desires to transfer to its owners the people of Pennsylvania, through their representatives in Harrisburg, the Senate and House of Representatives and the Governor, this priceless document to be deposited in a proper receptacle among the archives of the State; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That a joint committee of seven Senators be appointed by the President Pro-tempore of the Senate, and ten Members of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker of the House, who together with the President Pro-tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House, shall constitute a committee to confer with the Governor, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and the President Judge of the Superior Court, to arrange for a ceremonial at which the Charter of Liberties shall be received and properly and safely deposited in the Capitol Buildings in Harrisburg, there to remain as the property of the people for all time to come.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that the resolution be adopted.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to and the resolution was adopted.

Ordered, that the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. HAAS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 9:50 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned until Tuesday, January 27, 1925, at at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal

Vol 8. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1925. No. 5.

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 27, 1925.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father: We are very glad that in some measure we know Thee. Thou art not only our Creator, our King, our Lawgiver and Judge, but Thou art the Father in Heaven; and like as an earthly parent loves his children and cares for them day by day, so Thou, the Father of us all, dost provide for our every need. We fear Thee in holy reverence, but we are not afraid of Thee, and we dare look up into Thy face and call Thee, "Father." We love Thee and worship Thee, and we earnestly pray that our daily lives may be acceptable in Thy sight.

Bless the Senate in the business of this day, and may Thy will be done on Capitol Hill as it is done in Heaven!

We ask it in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. SCHANTZ, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO STUDYING AND SIMPLIFYING PREVAILING METHOD OF PRINTING AND FILING BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives, informing the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, January 27, 1925.

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That a committee be appointed for the purpose of studying the prevailing method of printing and filing bills and resolutions before and after being acted upon by the Houses of the General Assembly, with the purpose of simplifying said method. Such committee shall consist of two members appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and two members appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The Secretary of the Senate shall be a member of said committee ex-officio. Said committee shall submit recommendations for consideration by the General Assembly on or before March tenth, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five.

RESOLUTION TO ADJOURN OUT OF RESPECT TO THE MEMORY OF DAVID H. LANE.

Mr. ARON offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 27, 1925.

Whereas, David H. Lane, the Sage of the Republican Organization and the nestor of his party in the city of Philadelphia, died on Saturday, January twenty-four, after a life that encompassed a period of more than four score years, and five, and

Whereas, During more than half a century as a member of the Republican City Committee, for many years it chairman, always a staunch Republican and a contributor to its successes, he was looked up to for the wisdom of his advice, and

Whereas, Although best known as a political seer, he had mastered the classics and was a Greek Scholar of preeminence, drawing from the wisdom of the ages the sagacity and shrewdness that made his counsel sought and valued, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Mr. Lane, the city of Philadelphia has lost a citizen who was ever interested and concerned in its welfare, those who knew him best have lost a friend they loved and whose affection they cherished, the Republican Party has been deprived of the advice and counsel of one whose experience and wisdom added much to its strength and resulted often in its victories, and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread at length in the Legislative Journal and that when the Senate adjourn to-day, it adjourn in respect to the memory of David H. Lane, eminent citizen, wise political leader, faithful friend and dreamy philosopher.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph one of section eight of an act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and twelve) entitled "An Act to establish an intermediate court of appeal regulating its constitution officers jurisdiction powers practice and its relation to the Supreme Court and other courts providing for the reports of its decisions the compensation of the judges and other officers and the practice and costs on appeals from its judgments" eliminating the exception prohibiting said court from enforcing any short or hour list

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That paragraph one of section eight of an act approved the twenty-fourth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and twelve) entitled "An act to establish an intermediate court of appeal regulating its constitution officers jurisdiction powers practice and its relation to the Supreme Court and other courts providing for the reports of its decisions the compensation of the judges and other officers and the practice and costs on appeals from its judgments" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 8 The practice in the said Superior Court shall be governed by the rules which do now or may hereafter govern the practice in the Supreme court so far as the same may be applicable except (that no short list or hour list as provided by said rules shall be enforced and except also) that the Superior Court may in its discretion make such other or different rules as it may consider to be necessary or desirable upon any subject connected with its jurisdiction or its procedure

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 18, entitled:

An Act allowing Appeals from Orders of Court Discharging Motions and Rules to Set Aside Extra-Territorial Service in Equity Cases.

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all cases in equity now pending or which may hereafter be brought where an extra-territorial service has been made or attempted upon one or more defendents and the Court upon motion and rule to set aside the extra-territorial service has refused or shall refuse to set aside the same the party or parties whose motion and rule was discharged may appeal to the Supreme or to the Superior Court as in other cases This right to appeal shall be immediate without waiting for final judgment and may be exercised at any time before an answer to the merits has been filed Said appeal when perfected shall act as a supersedeas.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 37, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the seventeenth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six (Pamphlet Laws twenty-nine) entitled "An act relating to appeals in cases of summary convictions" as amended

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of an act approved the seventeenth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six (Pamphlet Laws twenty-nine) entitled "An act relating to appeals in cases of summary convictions" which was amended by an act approved the eleventh day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and seventy-one) entitled "An act to amend an act approved the seventeenth day of April one thousand eight hundred seventy-six entitled 'An act relating to appeals in cases of summary convictions' " is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in all cases of summary conviction in this Commonwealth before a magistrate or court not of record either party even though any fine imposed has already been paid may within five days after such conviction appeal to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which such magistrate shall reside or court not of record shall be held upon allowance of the said court of quarter sessions or any judge thereof upon cause shown and either party may also appeal from the judgment of a magistrate or a court not of record in a suit for a penalty to the court of common pleas of the county in which said judgment shall be rendered upon allowance of said court or any judge thereof upon cause shown Provided That pending the taking of an appeal by either party or the allowance or refusal thereof by the court or judge the fine or penalty and costs imposed by the magistrate or court not of record need not be paid if bail is entered with one or more sufficient sureties in double the amount of such fine or penalty and costs for the payment thereof on the refusal of such appeal or if allowed on the final disposal of such appeal If the defendant pays the fine or penalty and costs imposed and wishes to take an appeal under the provisions of this section he shall give bail in double the probable amount of costs that may accrue in the final disposition of the appeal

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 46, entitled:

A Joint Resolution making an appropriation to the Auditor General to pay the balance of the claim of the architect employed by the Commission to erect an institution for inebriates under the provisions of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand six) entitled "An act to provide for the selection of a site and the erection of a State institution for the detention care and treatment of inebriates or persons habitually addicted to the use of alcoholic drink or intoxicating drugs to be called the State Institution for Inebriates and making an appropriation therefor" said claim having been adjusted and approved by the Auditor General State Treasurer and Attorney General

Whereas By the provisions of an act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen a Commission was created to acquire a site select an architect and to provide for the erection of an institution for inebriates and

Whereas Said Commission was duly appointed acquired a site and employed an architect by whom services were performed in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen but on account of the World War the said Commission deemed it inexpedient to proceed with the erection of said institution and

Whereas The site so acquired for an institution for inebriates was transferred by the provisions of the Administrative Code to the Board of Trustees of the New Cumberland Industrial Farm and

Whereas The Commission appointed for the State institution for inebriates in the year one thousand nine hundred and seventeen was not confirmed by the Senate and no subsequent appointments were made and therefore no legal commission existed thereafter to pay the debts incurred by said commission and bills outstanding and

Whereas By the Act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Appropriation Acts page thirty-one) ten thousand dollars ($10,000) was appropriated for the purpose of paying the outstanding bills of this Commission including the claim by the architect said act empowering the Auditor General the State Treasurer and the Attorney General to adjust and approve all such claims before any payment thereon was made and

Whereas Two claims were presented and payment thereof authorized out of said State appropriation as follows For the Secretary of the Commission five hundred dollars ($500.00) for the architect to the Commission seventeen thousand and seventy-eight dollars and eighty-nine cents ($17.078.89) and

Whereas There was paid from said appropriation of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) the claim of the Secretary of five hundred dollars ($500.00) and nine thousand five hundred dollars ($9,500) on the claim of the architect leaving a balance due to the architect as found by the Auditor General State Treasurer and Attorney General of seven thousand five hundred seventy-eight dollars and eighty-nine cents ($7,578.89) therefore

Section 1 Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That the sum of seven thousand five hundred seventy-eight dollars and eighty-nine cents ($7,578.89) is hereby specifically appropriated to the Auditor General for the payment of the balance of the claim of the architect employed by the Commission appointed to provide for the selection of a site and the erection of a State institution for inebriates under the provisions of the Act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand three hundred six) entitled "An act to provide for the selection of a site and the erection of a State institution for the detention care and treatment of inebriates or persons habitually addicted to the use of alcoholic drink or intoxicating drugs to be called the State Institution for Inebriates and making an appropriation therefor" said claim having been adjusted by the Auditor General State Treasurer and Attorney General on August twenty-ninth one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four and the amount found to be due having been fixed at seventeen thousand and seventy-eight dollars and eighty-nine cents ($17,078.89) of which amount nine thousand five hundred dollars ($9,500) has been heretofore paid by the Commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of the Act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Appropriation Acts page 31) entitled "A joint resolution making an appropriation to the Auditor General for the purpose of adjusting and paying certain outstanding bills contracted by the commission appointed under the provisions of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand three hundred and six) entitled 'An act to provide for the selection of a site and the erection of a State institution for the detention care and treatment of inebriates or persons habitually addicted to the use of alcoholic drink or intoxicating drugs to be called the State Institution for Inebriates and making an appropriation therefor.'"

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 50, on second reading, entitled:

RESOLUTION TO ADJOURN IN MEMORY OF THE HONORABLE DAVID H. LANE.

Mr. SOWERS offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, that when the House adjourn today it do so out of respect to and in memory of the late Hon. David H. Lane of Philadelphia, an honest, frank, loyal, truthful, persistent, consistent, perserving man, citizen, soldier and statesman, who dedicated his life to the service of his city, State and nation, and who believed that the safety of a free people depended upon large representation and the creation and continuance of political parties as the peoples means to express their perferences and opinions and to bring about their enactment into law. And with the beginning of his very active and long life associated himself with others in the formation of the great and grand Republican Party and aided it with all his strength and wisdom in every contest from its start to the present time honestly believing in its principles as the best to guide his city, state and nation. And without ever faltering, loyally supported its duly and regularly selected candidates for office from Freemont for President to Coolidge, thereby justly earning for himself the name "Sage of Republican Stalwarts."

RESIGNATION AS CLERK TO COMMITTEE.

The SPEAKER. The Chair presents the following resignation as Clerk to Committee which the Clerk will read:

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1925.

Whereas, the city of Chicago is now diverting colossal quantities of water out of Lake Michigan into the Chicago Drainage Canal for sanitation and power purposes, which diversion has already caused great injury to commerce on the Great Lakes, and

Whereas, the said city of Chicago is now seeking permission through the provisions of a bill now pending in the Congress of the United States, to increase the diversion of water from said lake to ten thousand cubic feet per second for the alleged purpose of protecting its water supply and disposing of its sewage, and

Whereas, The diversion of water in the quantities intended would result in a considerable additional lowering of the mean levels of the Great Lakes, to the great damage of the inner harbors and connecting channels and by reducing the carrying capacity of the lake fleet would make certain an enormous yearly loss of owners thereof, and

Whereas, The lowering of the levels of the Great Lakes and the changing conditions resulting therefrom would very seriously affect the fishing industries of the Commonweatlh, and

Whereas, This excessive drainage would be of water to and in which the Dominion of Canada has rights equal to those of the United States, and any attempt to increase the same is in violation of the Treaty Relations with the Dominion of Canada, therefore

Be it resolved, (if the Senate concur), That it is the opinion of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that any increase in the amount of water permitted to be drained from the Great Lakes would be against the interests of the people of the United States, would seriously affect the fishing industries of this Commonwealth would b unnecessary, and might have an unwanted affect upon our friendly relations with the people of the Dominion of Canada, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to each Member of the Senate and each Member of the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States, and that they be urged to use their vote and influence against the passage of any legislation intended to permit such further damage.

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 26, 1925.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does respectfully request Congress of the United States to adopt legislation which will provide for retirement privileges for disabled emergency officers of the army under the same conditions now provided by law for officers of the regular army in so far as regards physical disability in line of duty.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth forward a copy of this resolution to the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States and a copy to each Member and Senator from Pennsylvania in Congress of the United States.

SENATE MESSAGE.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVID J. DAVIS presiding.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVIS. The Assembly will be in order.

Mr. GOODNOUGH. Mr. President, I have the honor to present to you His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Hon. Gifford Pinchot.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVIS. Members of the General Assembly, we have met here for the purpose of listening to a message from His Excellency, the Governor. I take great pleasure at this time to present to you His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, Hon. Gifford Pinchot.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT:

Ladies and Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I have the honor to present to the General Assembly the second Budget in the history of this Commonwealth. This Budget is based on estimated revenues from tax laws now in effect, and it balances. In spite of collections of revenue in the present biennium falling millions below estimates, the Budget affords a complete balance between income and outgo in the coming two years.

The Budget does not include receipts in the coming two years from the emergency gasoline or the emergency profits taxes, both of which expire by limitation with this fiscal biennium.

It gives the items of the inherited debt and the details which prove that four-fifths of it had already been paid on November 1, 1924, and that the rest will be paid or contracted for by June 1st next. It shows that the State is already able to pay its current debts as they fall due. We are back on a substantial pay-as-you-go basis.

In a word, the State of Pennsylvania is once more solvent, and the mess brought upon this Commonwealth by the muddled practices of politicians has been cleaned up. This is the direct result of the reorganization and fiscal control established under the Administrative Code.

We have been so fortunate in the allotment of the money available for the present biennium, and the fiscal control has been so effective, that deficiency appropriations have practically disappeared. They have been reduced to a total of less than $200,000, or one-sixth of one percent of the total appropriations.

During the fiscal biennium the State will spend from the General Fund as estimated by the spending agencies a total of $136,380,026.75. Of this amount $28,377,277.49 will be on account of the old current debt of June 1 1923 and $108,002,749.26 will be from the appropriations made by the Legislature of 1923. The total estimated expenditures from all sources in this biennium will be $211,154,000.

It is worth noting that in the present Budget the estimates of current operating expenses for every Department responsible to the Governor under the General Fund except the new Department of Welfare are still below the appropriations for the same purpose made by the Legislatur of 1921.

The important increases recommended go direct to indemnities for tubercular cattle, to welfare institutions, and to subsidies for common schools. The latter call for $20,000,000 more in the next two years then was appropriated for that purpose by the Legislature of 1921.

You will find in the Budget a statement of actual expenditures by this Commonwealth in the biennium before the present; a statement of actual and estimated expenditures in the present biennium, now more than three-fourths over; and a forecast of expenditures for the coming biennium, based on the allotment of revenues estimated to be produced by tax laws now in effect, not including the emergency taxes. The basis for comparison thus supplied covers six years or three fiscal bienniums.

You will also find comments after many of the items which contain information as to additional and future needs of the Commonwealth, and a ten years building program. This is a new feature in budgets, and I hope will be found of use.

The basis for the estimate of revenue adopted by the Administration, which estimate is different from that of the Auditor General, and the reasons for that difference, are given in detail.

THE INHERITED DEBT.

In presenting the Budget to the Legislature two years ago, I estimated that the appropriation liability on June 1, 1923, would be $29,000,000. This current debt was made up: 1. Of deficiency appropriations needed to cover unauthorized expenditures for the two years ending June 1, 1923; 2. Of appropriations by the Legislature of 1921 or previous Legislatures still unpaid as of June 1, 1923. Now that all the figures are available, it appears that the appropriation liability thus estimated was actully not $29,000,000 but $30,573,746.35.

If we add to the total of all unpaid continuing appropriations on June 1, 1923, which was $25,250,065.87, $6,604,361.76 of deficiency appropriations paid after June 1st out of the income of this biennium, we have a total actual current debt of $31,854,425.63 on June 1, 1923. Of this total, $1,280,679.28 is estimated to lapse, leaving a net actual current debt as of June 1, 1923, of $30,573,746.35.

Of this amount, $28,377,277.49 either has been or will be paid before June 1, 1925, and $2,196,468.86 will be under contract for payment shortly after that date. Thus the total appropriation liability which this Administration inherited, first estimated at $29,000,000 but actually more than a million and a half larger, will all be paid or contracted for within this biennium, and this in spite of the deficiency in revenue collection.

In wiping out this old debt of $30,573,746.35 we have paid off obligations due and unpaid for as long as fifteen years. This paid debt includes $6,872.28 due since 1909, $18,797.35 due since 1911, $59,236.44 due since 1913, $46,615.12 due since 1915, $548,567.59 due since 1917, and $3,383,066.25 due since 1919.

I have said that we are paying off this inherited debt at the rate of $40,000 every working day. Divide the $28,377,277.49, actually paid or that will be paid before June 1st, by the 600 working days in the two years, and you have an actual payment on these old debts of $47,295.46 for every working day.

DEFICIENCY APPROPRIATIONS.

The Legislature of 1921 passed deficiency bills totaling $7,071,188.77. The Legislature of 1923 passed deficiency bills totaling $5,812,547.14. The present Budget carries deficiencies to a total of but $177,163.19, or less than one-thirtieth of the deficiencies of two years ago. The total amount which was appropriated by the last Legislature, but is estimated to be unspent and to lapse as of June 1st, next, is $1,416,495.99. This is nearly eight times as much as all deficiencies in this Budget.

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE.

In November, 1922, the Auditor General estimated the income in the General Fund for the present fiscal biennium at $112,000,000. In December, 1922, he estimated it at $115,000,000 including the anthracite tax. In May, 1923, he estimated it at $119,000,000, exclusive of the anthracite tax then in litigation. In June, 1923, he estimated it at $124,000,000, including the anthracite tax. In eight months, the Auditor General increased his estimate of receipts in the General Fund from $112,000,000 to $124,000,000, or a disparity in estimates of $12,000,000 within eight months.

On Novermber 26, 1924, four weeks after the last date set by law for the receipt of estimates, the Budget Officer received from the Auditor General his estimate of income for the present and for the succeeding fiscal bienniums. The Auditor General's estimates for receipts in the General Fund for the biennium 1925-27, exclusive of all gasoline and emergency profits tax, was $117,062,500. The same tax laws will produce on his own estimate in the present biennium $127,714,406. This is a net decrease for the coming two years of about $3,700,000.

In the face of our increasing prosperity this estimate of reduced revenue could not pass unquestioned. Moreover, for the last twenty years and more the receipts in the General Fund have uniformily increased from one biennium to the next. Accordingly, under the authority given me by law, I directed that an examination of these estimates be made. This inquiry was made by McGee & Co., Certified Public Accountants of Philadelphia.

The examination raised further questions concerning the Auditor General's estimates of revenue. For example, it showed that his estimates of receipts from interest on bank deposits of General Funds was $125,057.10 for the present fiscal biennium. But during the first eighteen months of this same biennium receipts from this source totaling $161,-262.39 had already been collected. In other words, the actual collections of eighteen months, within four days from the end of which the Auditor General's estimate was made, were $36,205.29 greater than his estimate for the twenty-four months of which the eighteen months are a part.

Again the Auditor General estimated that the General Fund would receive from the tax on building and loan stock for the present twenty-four months $83,739.84. But there was actually collected in the first eighteen months of that period $86,190.64.

In the same way the Auditor General's estimate ($112,-991.60) of what fines will bring in during the twenty-four months of this biennium is $38,412.75 less than was actually collected ($151,404.35) during the first eighteen months; while his estimate for receipts from fines in the twenty-four months of the coming biennium was $50,000 less than was actually collected in the first eighteen months of the present biennium.

Unfortunately the effect of inaccuracies such as these is strengthened, when the Auditor General estimates that the tax on insurance premiums, which he does not collect, will bring in about a million and a half less than the Department which does collect it says it will bring in.

Because the Auditor General denied to McGee & Co. the data he had used in making his estimates of receipts for the next biennium, they were forced to prepare their estimates on the basis of actual cash receipts for a period of years. Their report is printed in full in this Budget.

The result of this inquiry is to show beyond question that a safe and conservative estimate of all General Fund receipts (including the ordinary gasoline tax and certain deferred collections from the emergency taxes) in the next biennium will be $132,850,000, or $8,850,000 more than the $124,000,000 estimated from these sources by the Auditor General. This is about two-thirds of the increase the Auditor General himself made in his own estimates within eight months two years ago. I have, therefore, adopted the sum of $132,850,000 as a reasonable and conservative estimate of the normal revenues to be expected in the General Fund during the next two years on the basis of present tax laws, assuming that the emergency taxes will expire.

The receipts from the ordinary gasoline tax during the next biennium are estimated at $4,812,500. Since the Budget recommends that all receipts from this tax be transferred to the Motor Fund, $4,812,500 must be substracted from the amount of $132,850,000 estimated by McGee and Company as income available in the General Fund for the next biennium. This leaves $128,037,500 for General Fund uses. The Budget is made on this basis.

From this $128,000,000 we must still further deduct under-collections in this biennium of not quite $6,000,000 and continuing appropriations of about $2,000,000 leaving $12,-000,000 (exactly $120,211,998.45) available for appropriation by the Legislature of 1925 for the next biennium. The sums recommended in the Budget total $120,211.464.

SPECIAL FUNDS.

No suggestion is here made for change in the provisions of existing laws relating to such special funds as those for fish and game propagation and for banking inspection. These self-sustaining activities not only relieve the general taxpayer but also supply a sound reason for the fees and licenses which sustain each fund. The Budget accounts in as great detail for expenditures from these funds as it does for expenditures from the General Fund.

REVENUE COLLECTIONS.

The problem of financing the State has been complicated by the failure of the Auditor General to collect by several millions the amount he estimated would be produced by the emergency profits tax. On June 11, 1923, the Auditor General wrote me that he estimated the receipts from the emergency profits tax at $8,000,000 for one year, or $16,-000,000 for the biennium. This estimate, which was also given to the Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, appeared to be excessive.

Accordingly I asked the Secretary of the Commonwealth for his estimate, which was based on the examination of Federal income tax returns. Upon this basis he reported probable receipts of not over $10,000,000. That estimate was approved by the Auditor General in his letter of June 29, 1923, as "logical, comprehensive, and conservative." I was therefore justified in counting upon receipts of that amount.

In place of receipts of $16,000,000 according to the Auditor General's own estimate, or of $10,000,000 according to the later estimate approved by him, his estimate of November 26, 1924, shows a total of but $3,030.460,52 to be collected in the present biennium from the emergency profits tax, and $2,125,000.00 in the next biennium. Had the Auditor General collected the $10,000,000 of the estimate approved by him—to saying nothing of the $16,000,000 of his own estimate—the Commonwealth would have completed the present two years with a cash balance of $3,600,000.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

An item of $500,000 for law enforcement is included in the estimate for the Department of Justice. The reasons for it will be described in a future message to the General Assembly.

EDUCATION

In the last biennium there was paid out of the General Fund for educational purposes $42.346,288, or 41 percent of the General Fund of that biennium. In the present two years the State will spend from the General Fund for educational purposes $57,683,475, or 46.9 percent of the General Fund of this biennium. The Budget recommends $65,640,-263, or 52.2 per cent of the General Fund for the next biennium. Including special funds and Federal aid, the amount recommended for the coming biennium is $67,582,-342, or six dollars for the education of our children where we spent one dollar twenty years ago. This is as it should be.

The normal school is the foundation of our public school system. Pennsylvania normal schools can supply only about half the new teachers needed each year to keep our schools going. They must have help.

For this biennium the appropriation for maintenance was the same as that of 1921-23. The present Budget adds a total of two and a half million dollars to normal school appropriations. Of this amount one-half million is for increased maintenance due to increased attendance, one-half million for necessary repairs and for equipment, and one and one-half million dollars for new construction.

SCHOOL EMPLOYES RETIREMENT BOARD

This is a trust fund for the payment of pensions to teachers who have served the State for ten years or more and who are over 62 years of age. Half the cost is paid by the school teachers, one-quarter by the School Districts, and one-quarter by the State.

The total appropriation carried in the Budget for the School Employes Retirement Funds is $5,490,000. The amount recommended will, for the first time since the Funds were begun, meet in full the State's obligations to the teachers of Pennsylvania.

There is a special reason for appropriating the full amount recommended. The actuaries of the Funds have recommended that the percentage of the total pay rolls for past services to be paid into the Funds be reduced from 5.6% to 4% on the sole condition that the State hereafter shall make promptly all payments due. A bill to make this reduction possible will be presented. Its passage will save the State $1,025,000 in each biennium hereafter, and will save the school districts an equal amount.

AGRICULTURE

The Budget carries a total of $2,933,563 for the coming biennium, or an increase of about $1,000,000, most of which goes to increase the amount available for paying indemnities on tubercular cattle. Pennsylvania ranks third among all the States in the value of her dairy products, sixth in the number of dairy cows, and only fourteenth in the number of cattle under supervision for the prevention and eradication of tuberculosis. If we allow this condition to continue we shall lose our market for dairy products to other States. New York, for example, is appropriating $4,000,000 in one year for this purpose. The longer this work is postponed the more it will cost.

HIGHWAYS

At present the State's share of the gasoline taxes goes into the General Fund. It should, in my judgment, go to the Highway Department. The receipts from motor license fees are increasing rapidly. They should, in my judgment, carry the interest and sinking fund payments on highway bonds, since these are part of the legitimate expenses of maintaining the highways of the State. The Budget, accordingly, recommends that all gasoline tax receipts shall, after June 1st next, be paid into the motor license fund, and that all expenses of maintaining highways, inculding interest and sinking fund payments on highway bonds, shall be met from that fund in the next biennium.

Including the proceeds from the two highway bond issues and the ordinary gasoline tax, the Highway Department will have from all sources to spend in the construction and maintenance of highways in the Commonwealth during the next biennium an estimated amount of $100,066,025. Of this amount there will still be expended from the General Fund $2,406.961.

WELFARE

The Budget recommends a total increase in appropriations from the General Fund for welfare institutions of $4,500,000. This is the largest increase for any purpose except for schools. In the last biennium, $19,700,518 was spent from the General Fund for Welfare purposes; $17,794,638 is being spent in the present biennium; and $22,269,100 is carried in the Budget for the next biennium. We are now spending from the State Treasury for welfare purposes three dollars for every dollar spent twenty years ago.

The Budget carries an increase of $280,000 for State-aided hospitals. I call special attention to the fact that instead of suffering from the reduction of appropriations necessarily made during the present biennium, these institutions are spending far more money and treating far more patients than ever before in the history of the State. To assert that they have decreased their service to the poor in these two years is a direct perversion of the facts.

The appropriations to these hospitals for this biennium were, for the first time, based on actual service rendered. They were made to individual institutions, some of which rendered service up to the full amount, and some did not. But there is no way for those which have a surplus to assist those which have not. As a result about $100,000 will remain unexpended. The Budget recommends a lump sum appropriation so that the whole amount intended for these institutions may actually be used by them.

The present Budget carries $4,275,000 for penal and correctional institutions, including $1,000,000 toward a new Eastern Penitentiary. It carries a total of $9,480,000 for State Hospitals and schools for mental defectives, an increase of not quite $2,000,000.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

I desire to pay my grateful acknowledgment to the men and women, many thousands in number, who have contributed to the results here set forth, and especially to the executive officers in control who have cheerfully and unselfishly subordinated the immediate interests of their own particular work to the permanent advantage of the whole Commonwealth. In spite of reduced appropriations, they have rendered to the people of the State more varied and more useful service than was ever before given by their public servants in an equal time. Their record reflects high honor upon them.

PAY AS YOU GO.

In conclusion it is no more than fair to say that the financial condition of the State is better than it has been for years. During the calendar year 1922 the bills on hand in the Treasury of this Commonwealth in excess of cash on hand, and due and unpaid for want of cash, averaged more than $13,000,000 at the end of each month. During the calendar year 1923 they averaged $6,100,000, or less than half. During the calendar year 1924 they averaged but $898,000, or about one-fifteenth of what they were when this Administration took office. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has reached a place where it can pay its obligations substantially on the nail.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVIS. The business for which the General Assembly met in joint session having been transacted, the joint session is adjourned. The Senators will retire to the Senate Chamber.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 60, as follows:

An Act transferring and reappropriating to the Department of Forests and Waters certain unexpended balances of appropriations heretofore made to the Water and Supply Commission for the purpose of making investigations examinations and surveys and for preparing plans and estimates of costs with a view of controlling flood-waters of the rivers of the Commonwealth

Whereas By the provisions of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Appropriation Acts page two hundred) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania for the purpose of cooperating with the Government of the United States in making investigations examinations and surveys and in preparing plans and estimates of cost with a view of devising and carrying into effect plans for controlling the flood-waters of this Commonwealth" an appropriation of fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000) was made to the Water Supply Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the purpose of cooperating with the United States Government in making examinations investigations and surveys on rivers and tributaries and for preparing plans and estimates of cost with a view to devising and carrying into effect plans for controlling the flood waters of such rivers and

Whereas By the provisions of the act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Appropriation Acts Page two hundred and forty-six) entitled "An act making an appropriation to the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania or the Department of Conservation for the purpose of cooperating with the Government of the United States in making investigations examinations and surveys and in preparing plans and estimates of cost with a view of devising and carrying into effect plans for controlling the flood waters of rivers and their tributaries being either in whole or in part within this Commonwealth" an additional appropriation of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) was made to the Water Supply Commission for the purpose of cooperating with the United States Government in making examinations investigations and surveys on rivers and their tributaries with a view to devising and carrying into effect plans for controlling the flood waters of rivers and

Whereas By the provisions of the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred seventy-six) entitled "An act to amend section one of an act approved the eighteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Appropriation Acts two hundred and forty-six) entitled 'An act making an appropriation to the Water Supply Commission of Pennsylvania or the Department of Conservation for the purpose of cooperating with the Goverment of the United States in making investigations examinations and surveys and in preparing plans and estimates of cost with a view of devising and carry into effect plans for controlling the flood waters of rivers and their tributaries being either in whole or in part within this Commonwealth' saving said appropriation from lapsing" the further sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) was appropriated and the sum of fifteen thousand dollars appropriated by the said act approved the twenty-fifth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen was reappropriated to the Water Supply Commission for the same purposes and

Whereas The Water Supply Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was abolished by the provisions of "The Administrative Code" of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) being the unexpended balance of appropriations hereinbefore referred to is hereby transferred and rappropriated to the Department of Forests and Waters for the purpose of cooperating with the Government of the United States in making examinations investigations and surveys on rivers of this Commonwealth or on tributaries of such rivers whether the same be wholly within or partly within and partly without or wholly without this Commonwealth and for preparing plans and estimates of cost with a view to devising and carrying into effect plans for controlling the flood-waters of such rivers for the purpose of such cooperation the Department of Forests and Waters is hereby authorized on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to enter into such contracts arrangements or agreements with the Secretary of War or other proper officer bureau department or agency of the Government of the United States as to the Department of Forests and Waters may seem proper Provided however That the amount of money agreed to be expended in such cooperative work on behalf of the Commonwealth shall not exceed the amount so to be expended by the Government of the United States

Section 2 All moneys expended out of the reappropriation herein made shall be paid by warrant of the Auditor-General after requisition by the Secretary of Forests and Waters in the manner provided by law

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 211, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies of Five thousand one hundred sixty-six dollars and sixty-four cents ($5,166.64) for the completion of a monument to Robert Morris in the City of Philadelphia

Whereas by the provisions of the Act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphelt Laws nine thirty-seven) entitled "An act making an appropriation of twenty-one thousand dollars for the erection of a monument to Robert Morris in the City of Philadelphia and empowering the appointment of a Commission to select a site and to build such monument and providing for the expense of the said Commission and dedication of monument" an appropriation of twenty-one thousand dollars or so much thereof as might be necessary was made for the purpose of building a monument in the City of Philadelphia to Robert Morris in commemoration of his services to the United States during the Revolutionary War and

Whereas said Robert Morris Commission was abolished by the passage of the "Administrative Code" of nineteen hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four ninety-eight) and said Act of Assembly was thereby repealed and

Whereas the balance remaining in the appropriation provided by said Act of Assembly lapsed by virtue of the repeal of the said Act of Assembly and there remained unpaid contracts entered into by said Commission for work in connection with the erection and completion of said monument

Therefore Section one Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of $5,166.64 is hereby appropriated to the Department of Property and Supplies for the purpose of meeting all appropriate demands by contractors and upon others made on account of work performed or materials furnished in connection with the building erection and completion of said Robert Morris monument

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That payments from said appropriation shall be made by warrant of the Auditor General after requisition of the Department of Property and Supplies in the manner provided by law

Section 2 All act and parts of act inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Vol 8. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1925. No. 6.

SENATE.

MONDAY, February 2, 1925.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father: We come to Thee because we are needy and Thou alone canst supply our needs. We are weak but Thou art mighty; we are foolish but Thou art wise; we are ignorant but Thou knowest all things; we are sinful but Thou art holy; we are children but Thou art the Ancient of Days. Fill our emptiness, O God; make rich our poverty. From the unwanting fulness of Thy bounty do for us far more exceedingly than we can either ask or think.

Let Thy divine blessing rest upon these Senators as they enter on the duties of this new week, and guide them in all their work.

These things we ask in the name of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1, on third reading, entitled:

An Act authorizing the issue and sale of bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; defining the powers and duties of the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer in relation thereto; making an appropriation of the proceeds of such bonds for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the Commonwealth; providing for the payment of the interest on, and the redemption of such bonds by the Board of Finance and Revenue, and for the sale and registration of said bonds; and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of this act.

be recommitted to the Committee on Public Roads and Highways.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BUCKMAN: Mr. President, the bill now under consideration, Senate Bill No. 1, is the enabling act with reference the issuing of bonds by the Commonwealth in the sum of $50,000,000 for the purpose of road building and road improvement in the State. The bill was introduced and referred to the Committee on Public Roads and Highways, immediately reported from that Committee and then recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations. Last week it was reported from the Committee on Appropriations as committed. Since that time, however, the Governor has sent his budget message to the General Assembly, and in that message are certain suggestions relative to the transfer of the gasoline tax to the motor fund, and provisions with reference to the providing for a sinking fund and the payment of interest on these $50,000,000 of bonds.

It has also been called to my attention by a number of the senators that this bill differs very materially from the bill that was passed two years ago by the General Assembly and declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court in that the bill then passed provided that the State Treasurer and the Auditor General, in conjunction with the Governor, had certain rights and functions in reference to the issuing of these bonds.

It has been suggested by a number of senators at the present session and since last week that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Public Roads and Highways for the purpose of considering these amendments.

Not for the purpose of delaying this most important piece of legislation but in order to comply with the wishes of a very large number of the senators, I have consented to make this motion, that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Public Roads and Highways for the purpose of considering amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Our fathers' God, Thou who didst sustain and direct and govern them in the days when they were building this Commonwealth, we beseech Thee that Thou wouldst guide and direct us as we carry on the work which they have given to us to do. To this end, bless the Speaker and the members of this Legislature; keep us and all those who are seeking the welfare of this State in Thy fear, and give us wisdom, and give us power to do Thy will; for Christ's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of Tuesday, January 27, 1925.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of Tuesday, January 27, 1925, when, on motion of Mr. Armstrong, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, at the Legislative Session of 1923, by a joint resolution approved June 14, there was authorized the appointment of the Pennsylvania Tax Commission, which was directed to submit it's report to the General Assembly by the first of February, 1925. A printed copy of that report has been placed on the desk of each of the members of the House, and also of each of the members of the Senate tonight. The official copy, Mr. Speaker, over the signatures of the members of the commission, will be delivered to you next Monday night, but it is now in Pittsburgh, awaiting the signatures of the Pittsburgh members of the Commission.

May I say that the edition of this report is five thousand copies, of which four hundred are ready for distribution tonight. If any of the members of the House desire to have this report mailed to their constituents and will give the names and addresses to those to whom they desire them sent, either to Mr. Lick, Secretary of the Commission, or Mr. Wheeler, the gentleman from Forest County, or myself, we will be glad to see that the copies are sent in accordance with the desires of the members.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1925. No. 7.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 3, 1925.

The Senate met at 11 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE, (Mr. John G. Homsher), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God we thank Thee for the refreshing sleep of the past night and for this new day of life. It is Thy gift and we praise Thee for it. We ofttimes marvel that while so many of our fellowmen all about us are taken away, we are spared. Surely it must be because our life-work is not yet done, and Thou hast further use for us here on earth. Help us to live earnestly and faithfully all through this day, that we may be well-pleasing in Thy sight. Bless the Senators who are present, and especially remember those who are absent on account of illhealth, and graciously restore to them their accustomed strength. Bless our State and our Country and the whole world.

For Jesus' sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mrs. VARE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Mr. FRANK D. EVANS, from the Committee on Banks and Banking, reported as committed, House Bill No. 106, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, (P. L. 1071), entitled "An act requiring banks, banking corporations, copartnerships, or associations, cooperative banking associations, trust, safe deposit, real estate, mortgage, title insurance, guaranty, surety, and indemnity companies, savings institutions, savings banks, provident institutions, building and loan associations, lodges and societies, to file of record names of persons authorized to make entries on records of mortgages; imposing certain duties on recorders of deeds; and declaring certain entries void," by extending its provisions to all corporations, copartnerships and associations.

Mr. WELTY, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as amended, House Bill No. 27, entitled:

An Act to validate certain municipal assessments, municipal claims, and municipal liens in the several boroughs of the Commonwealth; providing for the filing of claims therefor, and the proceedings for the collection of such assessments and claims.

Mr. HIMES, from the Committee on Counties and Townships, reported as committed, House Bill No. 334, entitled:

An Act to amend section one hundred and ninety-six, as amended, of the act, approved the fourteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 840), entitled "An act concerning townships; and revising, amending, and consolidating the law relating thereto."

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. The Speaker desires to state that he has been informed by the Resident Clerk that there are a number of bills in that office awaiting the chairmen of the various committees, and wishes that the chairmen of the committees would get their bills that have been assigned to the respective committees so they may get to work as soon as possible.

RESOLUTION.

REQUESTING INFORMATION FROM EXECUTIVE BOARD.

Mr. ALEXANDER offered a resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 3, 1925.

Whereas, By the provisions of the Administrative Code the Executive Board was empowered to "standardize all titles, salaries and wages of persons employed by the administrative departments, boards and commissions, except the Department of the Auditor General, the Treasury Department and the Department of Internal Affairs," and also to "establish different standards for different kinds, grades and classes of similar work or service;" and

Whereas, The Administrative Code abolished all statutory offices, positions and salaries, except the salaries of heads of the several administrative departments; and

Whereas, The Governor, in his message to the General Assembly made the following statement:

"One of the most important and valuable achievements of the Executive Board was the reclassification of the positions and salaries of all State employes. When this administration came into office many employees were notoriously overpaid, and many were underpaid, while of two employees performing precisely the same work one was sometimes paid twice as much as the other.

As a result of the classification, and of better methods of administration in the various departments, the salary roll of the Harrisburg appointive departments paid from the General Fund has been reduced by about $1,750,000 for this as compared with the previous biennium, while in spite of this reduction in cost, the amount and quality of work done have both increased;" and

Whereas, It has been stated by reliable authority that the salary list of persons in the employ of the Commonwealth, other than in the elected departments, has been increased during the last fiscal biennium four million five hundred thousand dollars, therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth respectfully request the Governor of the Commonwealth to furnish it with a copy of the minutes of the Executive Board and any other data, schedules, and classifications prepared for and adopted by the Executive Board which will enable the House of Representatives to ascertain what effect said actions and rulings of the Executive Board have had upon the salary list of the Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as that resolution states, and as many of you know who were in the last session that under the so-called reorganization Code, sometimes known as the Administrative Code, all statutory offices and salaries were abolished and we were told at that thime that upon the passage of this Code that in two years hence, in which we are at the present time, that these different departments, offices and salaries would be classified and would be given to the Legislature for the purpose of re-enacting. As far as I understand, except from the message from His Excellency, the Governor, no one has seen any reclassification. It is the duty, as you all know, of the Auditor General to check up the salaries of all the different offices in the Commonwealth or, in fact, it was before the Administrative Code went into effect. The duty of the Auditor General and of the State Treasurer was to take checks and balances—the only checks and balances we had,—to check these different salaries and see that there was no mistake being made and that the salaries were according to the Acts of Assembly, and according to the Acts passed by this Legislature. Of course, after the Acts of Assembly or statutes had been abolished there was nothing left to check by until the reclassification was made and therefore we had been coming to the financial stand, as we call it in some gambling games, of going wild or going blind. Now, if there is a classification, before we come to examine this budget, which I have been endeavoring to study, it seems to me that we should know what that classification is and what the requirements of the next biennium are. I went first to the Auditor General, expecting to find the re-classification there. I was informed, however, by the Auditor General that there was no report of the Executive Board of any reclassification or any classification. I was also informed by the State Treasurer that he has no classifications. Now, it seems to me that we should stop going blind and especially when you are appropriating a sum amounting to $238,000,000, and we should know something at least of what is going on by this Executive Board and this one-man power. Somebody ought to know something besides the one man.

That is the purpose of this resolution, and I move its adoption.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. EDMONDS. I desire to inquire as to whether under the rule of the House the resolution does not lie over for one day and be printed?

The SPEAKER. This comes under Rule 66, and being a resolution requiring information from a department head, it takes precedence immediately and can be acted upon at once, without lying over for printing.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the Speaker to rule that the Governor is the head of a department under Rule 66?

The SPEAKER. Yes, sir.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have a great deal of sympathy with the resolutions requesting information and personally I should be very glad to have a resolution requesting proper information of the Governor passed. That resolution, as the gentleman from Delaware has introduced it, has a lot of "whereas" clauses to it. I do not always understand those "whereas" clauses as well as I do the purport of a resolution itself. It seems to me that if he would strike out those "whereas" clauses and simply request the information that that would be a resolution that we could afford to vote for. As I understand the situation, the financial problem of this Commonwealth is probably the most serious problem that will be before us. We will need information on that and we ought to get information on the subject. The question itself as to the financial condition of the State is, I think, made very clear by a reference to the first chart that was attached to the Governor's budget. I have also, like the gentleman from Delaware, been studying this budget, and I notice that it directs attention in Table No. 1, to the fact that on November 30, 1921, there were about $13,000,000 of bills presented to the Commonwealth which it should have paid, and it had a cash balance of $4,000,000 to pay them, and that that condition continued through 1922 and largely through 1923, with the amount of the bills exceeding the amount of cash by many millions; that when we get down to 1924, there is pretty near a balance on the subject, so that by the end of 1924, the bills were $4,700,000 with a $3,900,000 cash balance. That I think, must mean to any student of finances that the financial condition of the State today is very much better than it was two or three years ago, and for the improvement in the financial condition due credit must be given to the Governor. I am not particularly interested as to whom the credit is due. That can be determined in proper course of time. In my opinion it would be just as safe not to attempt to apportion the credit. I have no doubt the Auditor General himself deserves some credit for bringing about this situation, and I have no doubt, also, that the Governor deserves some credit for bringing about the present financial condition. I have a feeling in my mind that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Alexander, deserves some of the credit, because I do not know anyone who has argued more strenuously in favor of economy than he has, and I think we ought to notify the people of the State that on an examination of that record, it shows clearly that the financial condition of the State is very much better than it was some years ago. Now that being so we have a right to be gratified at the outcome of it. Personally I would like to see a request for information from the executives that have brought about this situation, but I would like to see the request for information without the "whereas" clauses which recite a great many things about the history of Pennsylvania that may or may not be correct. That is why I personally would like to see the resolution lie over for printing; and my feeling is that the point suggested by the gentleman from Montgomery, that the Governor does not rank as the head of a department, has a certain amount of appropriateness at the present time.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I am somewhat surprised at my friend from Philadelphia. He has generally been one of the first to ask for information. In answer to the request for information, he has gone into quite a deep discussion as to the financial situation of the State. I have not said anything against the financial condition of the State, in fact, I don't know anything; I have not had any information on the subject, and that is what I am after, so that I may be able to have the same information, perhaps, that he has had from private sources. I have not been in as close touch with some of the people who can give this information in a private or in a closed closet, perhaps, manner. I have not been in close touch with these people. However, that is of a public nature, and not a private nature, and I do not want to get into any discussion on this subject, because there is nothing to discuss. Now, the gentleman from Philadelphia refers to the gentleman from Montgomery, asking if the Governor was a department head. If you will notice this resolution asks for a report from the Executive Board, of which the Governor is one. So it is not from the Governor but it is from the executive head of the Executive Board which is a department under the Administrative Code. I do not see as far as the "whereases" are concerned that there should be any objection. Always, in asking for something, as the gentleman from Philadelphia knows, you must set out some reason why you ask for that information. The reasons are stated by the "whereas" clauses, to wit, that under the Administrative Code there are certain duties for the Executive Board to perform. I want to find out if they have performed them and if they have, what that performance has been. They have not reported to the fiscal officers whose duty it is to know what that classification is. For some reason or other, his Excellency the Governor stated in his message that that classification has been made and I think that is the reason why we, at least, who are passing on these appropriations, and giving to these different departments the great sums they are asking for, should know, and not play this game blind through all this session. That is the reason I am asking at this time, so that we will have this information. It is for no purpose of casting any reflections on anybody. Nobody need be afraid of that. Asking for information is the only way for us poor people, who don't know anything, to learn. That is the reason I am asking these questions and that is the reason I have put in this resolution.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Delaware?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. EDMONDS. Will the gentleman from Delaware be satisfied with that resolution without the "whereas" clauses?

Mr. ALEXANDER. I do not see why the "Whereas" clauses should be cut out, for I want to give the reason for asking the information.

Mr. EDMONDS. The "whereas" causes recite certain questions of fact and a lot of problems requiring an expression of the particular point of view. Now, if the "whereas" clauses are omitted you have a proper call for information there and personally I would be very glad to vote for the resolution.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I insist on it as it stands.

Mr. EDMONDS. You want the "whereas" clauses in?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Yes, sir.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Edmonds and Mr. Ludlow.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified as follows:

REPORT OF SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS TO BE MADE PART OF THE JOURNAL.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, I move that the report of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, submitted to the Governor of the Commonwealth and the members of the General Assembly in accordance with the Acts of Assembly, be made a part of the Journal of the House.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I rise to point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. LUDLOW. My point of order is whether under rule 66 that is the kind of resolution which should lie over for printing for the next succeeding day. I have no objection to the resolution, Sir, but I believe that the rule had better be complied with as far as possible.

Mr. BLUMBERG. Mr. Speaker, that is a motion and not a resolution, and therefore, the remarks of the gentleman from Montgomery apparently would not apply.

The SPEAKER. The gentlemen from Philadelphia is correct, it is a motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS COMMUNICATION

Department of Internal Affairs,
Harrisburg, October 1, 1924.

To His Excellency, Gifford Pinchot, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and Members of the General Assembly:

Complying with the requirements of the Constitution and Acts of Assembly, I have the honor to present herewith the general report of this Department for the period beginning November 30, 1922, and ending May 31, 1924.

Very respectfully,
JAMES F. WOODWARD,
Secretary of Internal Affairs.

ORGANIZATION OF THE DEPARTMENT.

Department of Internal Affairs at the present time operates through the following Bureaus:

1. Land Office Bureau
2. Bureau of Statistics and Information, which consists of the following divisions:
   (a) Industrial Statistics
   (b) Public Utilities Statistics
   (c) Tax and Assessment Statistics
3. Bureau of Municipalities
4. Bureau of Standards
5. Bureau of Publications

This Report will be short. The last Report made to the Governor and the Members of the Legislature covered the period beginning May 6, 1919, and ending November 30, 1922. This consisted of multigraphed copies and has not to this time been printed for general distribution. That Report was full of zeal and outlined ambitious plans for the future of the Department. But since that time there has 'come a frost, a killing frost' that has 'nipped its root' and left the Department in a condition very unsatisfactory to me.

The present Report embraces a period beginning November 30, 1922, and ending May 31, 1924. The Administration Code provides that "the head of each administrative department and each independent administrative board and commission shall, not later than October first of each even numbered year report in writing to the Governor concerning the condition, management and financial transactions of the Department, board or commission. Such reports shall, except where impracticable, be for the two-year period ending May thirty-first of the year in which they are made." As my last Report ended November 30, 1922, it would be impracticable to begin this Report with June 1, 1922, as it would result in a duplication of many items contained in the last Report.

THIS DEPARTMENT'S ANOMALOUS POSITION.

I believe that the time has arrived when the status of the Department of Internal Affairs in its relations to the Governors of the State should be frankly considered and discussed. In my treatment of the subject I shall endeavor to be dispassionate and respectful, but I hope forceful.

That a conflict has always existed becomes more and more apparent and that the Department has been almost completely at the mercy of the Governors cannot be denied. This presents an unfortunate situation. One governor may generously co-operate for the up-building of the Department, while his successor in office may completely reverse that policy and studiously undo all that has been previously accomplished. The past twenty years have witnessed several notable instances of this "up" and "down" policy of which the Department has been the victim, and the procedure has certainly not been to the advantage of it or of the public service.

The Constitution of 1873, the present fundamental law of the State, established the position of the Secretary of Internal Affairs in the structure of the state government. It made him one of the five elective executive officers and defined with clarity of language what his powers and duties should be.

Article IV, Section 19:

"The Secretary of Internal Affairs shall exercise all powers and perform all the duties of the Surveyor General, subject to such changes as shall be made by law. His Department shall embrace a Bureau of Industrial Statistics and he shall discharge such duties relating to corporations, to the charitable institutions, the agricultural, mining, mineral, timber and other material or business interests of the State as may be prescribed by law, he shall annually and at such other times as may be required by law make report to the General Assembly."

Article XVII, Section 11:

"The existing powers and duties of the Auditor General in regard to railroads, canals and other transportation companies, except as to their accounts, are hereby transferred to the Secretary of Internal Affairs, who shall have a general supervision over them, subject to such regulations and alterations as shall be provided by law; and in addition to the annual reports now required to be made, said Secretary may require special reports at any time upon any subject relating to the business of said companies from any officer or officers thereof."

Article XVII, Section 12:

"The General Assembly shall enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article."

The convention that framed the Constitution of 1873 was opposed to the concentration of all the powers of the State government in the Governor. And every consideration of respect for constitutional government demands that the work of that convention, composed of delegates duly elected by the people, and presumably expressing the will of the people, should not be nullified by combined executive and legislative action.

That convention thought that it was creating a high and dignified office with important and responsible duties attached and scarcely imagined that in time it might ever be possible, by combined executive and legislative usurpation, to reduce it to the status of a bureau chief.

What are the plain letter and spirit of the above cited Articles of the Constitution? The Secretary of Internal Affairs shall:

(1) Exercise all powers and perform all the duties of the Surveyor General.

(2) Maintain a Bureau of Industrial Statistics.

(3) Discharge such duties relating to corporations, to the charitable institutions, the agricultural, mining, timber and other material or business interests of the state as may be prescribed by law.

(4) Annually report and at such other times as may be required by law, to the General Assembly.

(5) Exercise a general supervision over railroads, canals and other transportation companies.

(6) Receive annual reports from the above named companies and call for special reports at any time upon any subject relating to the business of said companies.

There point the accusing fingers of the Constitution! There are the duties and services which the Constitution says the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall perform; which he is elected to perform and for the performance of which he should be responsible to the people.

Search the Constitution for a word or even a hint that the Governor or any Department, Board or Commission under him is authorized to perform any duties pertaining to the subjects enumerated in those Articles.

Furthermore, Article XVII, makes it the unequivocal duty of the General Assembly to enforce those provisions by appropriate legislation.

HOW HAVE THE MANDATES OF THE CONSTITUTION BEEN COMPLIED WITH?

By the Act of July 7, 1897, a Bureau of Mines was created in the Department of Internal Affairs. It is said that Governor Hastings, who was largely interested in the mining of bituminous coal, withheld his approval of the Act until it was amended giving to him the privilege of appointing the Chief of the Bureau.

By Act of April 14, 1903, the Act establishing the Bureau of Mines in the Department of Internal Affairs was repealed and a Department of Mines created under the Governor.

By Act of March 13, 1895, a Department of Agricuture was established under the Governor.

By Act of February 25, 1901, a Department of Forestry was created under the Governor.

By Act of May 31, 1907, a Railroad Commission was created under the Governor.

If the direction "he shall discharge such duties relating to corporations, to the charitable institutions, the agricultural, mining, mineral, timber and other material and business interests of the state as may be prescribed by law" were to have no controlling effect; if they are to be deemed mere useless verbiage, then, indeed they might better have been omitted entirely. The simple statement "he shall perform such duties as shall be assigned to him by law" would have been adequate.

While many will doubtless disagree with the interpretation of the letter of the Constitution for which I contend, the spirit of it cannot be denied. The spirit of it is indubitable that the framers of the Constitution intended that the General Assembly should impose upon the Secretary of Internal Affairs all, or at least some, important duties relating to the subjects particularly enumerated.

The policy of concentration of power in the Governors won long ago. The power of Governors over legislation and appropriations rendered Secretaries of Internal Affairs helpless and impotent. In the last sixteen years two Governors have endeavored to abolish the Department by amending the Constitution. Both efforts failed, perhaps because of a lingering sense that over-weaning power in a Governor generally becomes a grave menace and so long as the Department of Internal Affairs exists, it offers to the General Assembly opportunity for a distribution of power and responsibility.

REASONABLE DEMANDS.

When I was elected to the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs the complications of the state government were not a mystery to me. I had previously served twelve years in the Legislature, and during eight of those years as Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives. I realize, therefore, that the Department was in very low condition. Immediately after my election in November, 1918, although under the law I did not take office until May, 1919, I went to work to see what could be done toward bettering the situation. My legislative experience had given me a full realization of the fact that the work of the state was constantly expanding. That this growth was being met by the creation of new departments and bureaus under the Governor. I desired to have a part in this service, so I appealed to Governor-elect William C. Sproul. He received my overtures most graciously and expressed his willingness to co-operate with me in an effort to enhance the usefulness of the Department. His concessions were large and generous, even to the extent of surrendering privileges and powers of patronage already possessed by him and acquiescing in the placing of newly created important agencies in the Department. I worked strenuously during the entire Session of the Legislature of 1919 in harmony with Governor Sproul and the results were very gratifying.

The Bureau of Industrial Statistics which had been taken from the Department by a former Governor, regardless of the Constitutional mandate that it should be in the Department of Internal Affairs, was restored with enlarged possibilities for service.

The Bureau of Municipalities transferred from the Department of Labor and Industry.

The newly created Bureau of Topographic and Geological Survey was placed in the Department.

Several other less important duties were also assigned by the Legislature to the Secretary of Internal Affairs.

The task of organization and re-organization set for me was a large one fully occupied my time and energies during the next four years. I will not repeat here the details of accomplishments, the plans for future improvements, etc. They are all contained in my last report which was exhibited in multigraph form to His Excellency, Governor Pinchot, and the General Assembly at the opening of the Session of 1923.

The result of four years' zealous labor was a thoroughly organized and efficient Department, with a loyal, faithful, and capable corps of chiefs of Bureaus and employes, all earnestly striving to do their parts honestly and intelligently. Hundreds of letters from teachers, leaders in business and finance, experts in economics and in social movements; resolutions by Chamber of Commerce, civic bodies and officers of municipalities, acknowledging their appreciation of services rendered, were received. All of which was very gratifying.

In 1922 I was renominated without opposition and elected in November of the same year by a large majority. That this was a popular endorsement of all that had been done, I confidently believed.

Ever since I have occupied the office of Secretary of Internal Affairs, I have insistently demanded that this Department be enabled to perform the duties contemplated by the Constitution. I shall persist in the demands so long as I remain Secretary. I cannot but believe that all fairminded persons must agree that my demands are reasonable and just.

BUDGETS AND APPROPRIATIONS.

With the incoming of the administration of Governor Gifford Pinchot, the Budget system was inaugurated. Several months before the convening of the Lgislature most comprehensive questionnaires covering the expenditures for the biennium, 1921-1923, were submitted to the several Departments, accompanied by requests for a scaling down of estimates for the next biennium, 1923-1925. Later a demand was more explicitly given that there should be a reduction in estimates of at least twenty-five per cent. from the appropriations of 1921-1923.

I was in complete accord with the Governor's program of economy and requested an interview that I might personally discuss the needs of the Department. The preceding Legislature had granted lump sum appropriations arbitrarily arrived at, to three Bureaus—Statistics and Information, Municipalities and Topographic and Geological Survey, as the first two were to be reorganized and the latter wholly organized, and it was suggested that by the time of the meeting of the next Legislature, experience would show their actual needs and then positions and salaries could be fixed by statute, the general policy followed by the state for many years.

Governor Sproul was chary about approving lump sum appropriations and held them down, as he claimed his long experience in the Senate had convinced him that the system led to wasteful and extravagant expenditures.

My experience was that the grants to the above-named Bureaus had not been liberal, and I wished to demonstrate to the Governor the difficulty I would have in cutting them the required twenty-five per cent.

Governor Pinchot and I met by appointment and I endeavored to the utmost to impress him from my viewpoint, that as I had been engaged during my entire tenure of office in a task of reorganization and upbuilding that a fairly liberal appropriation to the Department would be necessary if the efficiency I had succeeded in establishing should be maintained. I recognized, however, that he was very busy and in the brief time he was able to give me no satisfactory conclusions were arrived at. I hoped, however, that later further opportunity for discussion of the subject might be had I never had subsequently any opportunity to present the financial requirements of the Department except by the inarticulate figures contained in the questionnaire.

I made up my requests for the Budget for 1923-1925 conservatively and carefully with regard to rendering good service, and based upon the experience of the past. The amount asked was $729,960, as compared with $651,600 for 1921-1923. The increases were chiefly for the Bureau of Statistics and Information, and Topographic and Geological Survey. The latter Bureau was by this time completely organized and the advice given to me by Dr. George H. Ashley, State Geologist, was that more money was needed to keep his corps of experts fully employed, and the more money available, a greater ultimate economy and benefit would result to the state. Owing to the industrial activity and demand for geologists by large corporations, he was experiencing difficulty in securing and retaining competent assistants at the salaries he was able to offer and pay.

Upon demand of the Governor to revise my estimates downward to the limit, I did so with little regard to the necessities of the Department. I reduced the total of $729,960 by $153,500, leaving a total of $576,460, which amount included $100,000 for the Bureau of Topograpic and Geological Survey subsequently transferred by the Legislature, at the instance of the Governor, from this Department to the Department of Forests and Waters. The total amount requested by me for the remainder of my Department was, therefore, $576,460, less this $100,000, or $476,460. The Legislature granted the Department $478,100. This sum the Governor, in his final action upon the General Appropriation Bill, cut to $265,000, and as $4,700 had already been expended by me upon the Bureau of Topographic and Geological Survey, there remained for the conduct of the Department during the biennium of 1923-1925 the sum of $260,300. The following table shows these facts in parellel columns as well as my requests for the 1925-1927 period.

	Approved 1921-23	*Request 1923-25	Passed by Legislature 1923-25	Approved by Governor 1923-25	Request 1925-27

*Upon the insistent request of the Governor for a reduction of 25% in the estimates, I reduced my request for 1923-25 by $153,500.

Expressed in percentages (the Bureau of Topographic and Geological Survey out of all calculations) the reductions by the Governor were:

Of appropriations for 1921-1923 ..... 48+%
Of final request for 1923-1925 ..... 45+%
Of grant by Legislature ..... 45+%

Governor Pinchot approved the General Appropriation Bill on the 30th of June, 1923. As soon as I learned of the drastic treatment the Department had received, I determined that there should not be any deficit at the end of the binennium regardless of the results to the organization and service. Accordingly on the 15th of July, 1923, I dismissed forty-six employes, which constitute 44% of the entire force. Salaries reduced: The Director of the Bureau of Municipalities, Director of the Bureau of Statistics and Information, Division Chief of Industrial Statistics, Division Chief of Public Utilities and Division Chief of Public Information voluntarily took reductions in salaries in amounts ranging from three hundred to six hundred dollars per annum. Since then four others have been let go, while six places were vacated by death and resignations which have not been filled because of lack of money. The Department's working force is therefore, less than 50% of what it was before July 15, 1923, and a still further curtailment will doubtless be necessary before the end of this biennium if a deficit is to be avoided.

The situation I have described presented many perplexing problems for solution. The Budget presented by the Governor to the Legislature at the beginning of the Session made the allowances or recommendations to all the Departments in "lump sums." My experience as Chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives had largely prejudiced me against this system. It has always seemed to me that the people have a right to know how the money appropriated to a Department is to be expended and that the requirements of a Department should be presented to the Committee on Appropriations with sufficient definiteness to permit the Committee to intellignetly designate the amount of money to be expended upon any form of service.

I, therefore, submitted my requests to the Appropriations Committee in itemized form, as shown in the preceding table, and in that form it was passed by the Legislature. In reducing the appropriations the Governor approved or cut the several items. In doing this the importance of the service as represented by the items or the necesary organization required to perform the service of a Bureau seem, in the light of the results, not to have been considered. This may be best illustrated in the case of the Bureau of Statistics and Information. This is the largest organized unit in the Department and rendered a service of incalculable value to the industrial, commercial, labor and other social and economic interests of the State. Its supreme importance is recognized by the Constitution when it commands "His Department shall contain a Bureau of Industrial Statistics" and requires the Secretary to annually make report of its operations (not to the Governor) but to the General Assembly. This Bureau must send out annually blank forms of reports to thirty thousand corporations, firms and individuals; see that these forms are properly returned with the required information; keep its lists up-to-date by purging them of those who have gone out of business, and by adding all new enterprises; correct, edit, compile and tabulte these returns, with the vast amount of correspondence necessary in such a task, and perpare the manuscript and read the proofs for a volume comprising approximately a thousand pages. In addition to this annual volume, it is provided by Act of Assembly that an Industrial Directory shall be compiled and published every three years. The Fourth Industrial Directory containing fourteen hundred pages was issued in the present year.

It should be apparent that to properly execute such a large volume of work, a sufficient organization of expert statisticians, editors, collectors of statistics, stenographers, accountants, clerks, and machine operators is absolutely necessary. In the preceding biennium $144,493, had been expended and was inadequate to obtain the best results. For this Bureau the Legislature appropriated $144,500, for the two year period 1923-1925. The Governor reduced this sum to $50,000, or a cut of 65 per cent. To do the work of the Bureau with such an insignificant fund was utterly impossible, and I was forced to almost completely abandon several other important lines of work in the Department and use the employes in this Bureau.

The Governor is in no sense responsible under the Constitution and Acts of Assembly for the manner in which the duties of the Bureau of Statistics, and for that matter other duties imposed upon the Secretary of Internal Affairs, are performed. The Secretary alone is accountable to the people who elected him. It is for them to judge whether his services should be commended or condemned.

It would be futile for me to pretend that the work of the Department in the present biennium has given me any real satisfaction. The organization has been reduced to a mere skeleton of its former state. The employes have worked loyally and assiduously, but baffled constantly by the consciousness that they could accomplish but a small part of the service which the public expects and the law requires of the Department.

Governor Pinchot at the beginning of his administration announced his beilef in the necessity for a program of drastic retrenchment in the State's expenditures, because of alleged unfavorable financial conditions. With such a policy I have no quarrel, for I believe that public business should at all times be conducted economically and efficiently. But it does seem to me that this Department was called upon to bear far more than its share in the economy program, and that it has been crippled and disorganized to a much greater extent than any other. I hope as the State's financial condition has greatly improved, that the Department will be dealt with more liberally in the next biennium, so that it may be able to perform completly and satisfactorily the functions imposed upon the Secretary of Internal Affairs by the Constitution and Acts of Assembly.

APPENDIX.

Consisting of the operations of the several Bureaus of the Department of Internal Affairs December 1, 1922 to June 1, 1924.

Honorable James F. Woodward, Secretary of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg Pa.

Dear Sir: I have the honor to hand you herewith the report of the activities of the Land Office Bureau of the Department of Internal Affairs from December 1, 1922 to June 1, 1923, and from June 1, 1923, to June 1, 1924.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN H. CAMPBELL,
Chief Draftsman.

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania,
September 3, 1924.

SEARCH WORK.

From December 1, 1922 to June 1, 1924.

A large amount of search work for data relating to historical, genealogical, land titles and other subjects has been made by Messrs. George F. Ross and James C. Kirk, the regular Search Clerks of this Bureau, who, at times, are assisted by other competent employees therein. That the extent of this work may be understood and appreciated it need only be said that searches are required on every application for certified copies of applications, warrants, surveys, patents, connected drafts and miscellaneous papers, including drafts of old roads, maps of towns, proprietary manors, etc. In many instances these searches require considerable time to complete, owing to insufficient information from persons requesting such certified copies or other data, which necessitates considerable correspondence. Requests for information for records of early land grants and for family history purposes are received by this Department from the descendants of those who formerly resided in Pennsylvania. These requests come from all parts of the United States.

CURRENT WORK.

From December 1, 1922 to June 1, 1923.

During this period the following certified copies were issued: 16 warrants, 124 surveys, 97 patents, 25 connected drafts, containing 238 tracts, 61 miscellaneous documents, a total of 323. This work is given precedence over all other work coming into the Land Office. It required 168 searches for the original papers.

From June 1, 1923 to June 1, 1924.

During this year there were copied and certified 116 warrants, 294 surveys, 247 patents, 27 connected drafts, containing 489 tracts, and 67 miscellaneous documents, totaling 751 copies. In addition to the searches made to secure the originals of the above copies, 105 searches were made on request of varous persons for which a small fee was charged.

SERVICE TO OTHER DEPARTMENTS.

Work done for other departments for which no fees were received:

For the Game Commisison, one connected draft containing fifty-one tracts.

Also, in the year ending June 1, 1923, at the request of Mr. Seth E. Gordon, Secretary of the Game Commission, Secretary Woodward assigned Mr. W. A. Moore, Surveyor of the Department of Internal Affairs, to make a survey and map of Game Refuge No. 33, in Rush, Worth and Taylor townships, Centre county. Mr. Moore began this survey on the twenty-eighth day of April and completed it on June fourteenth. The map was completed July second. This survey comprised the relocating and marking of the lines of twenty-three tracts of land, which contained over eight thousand acres.

In the year ending June 1, 1924, at the request of Mr. Seth E. Gordon, Secretary of the Game Commission, Secretary Woodward assigned Mr. Moore to make a survey of Kelly Game Refuge in Shippen township, Cameron county. Mr. Moore began this survey on the twenty-sixth day of April and completed it June fourteenth, 1924. The map of the Kelly Game Refuge was completed June 30, 1924. On July first Mr. Moore began a survey of some changes to be made in the Refuge and relocated the Game preserve on said Refuge, completing this work on July 19, 1924. This survey comprised the relocating and marking of the lines of eleven tracts of land, containing over ten thousand acres.

COPYING WORK

OLD WARRANTS From December 1, 1922 to June 1, 1923

During this period there were 3,594 old warrants, more or less torn and broken, carefully copied, compared and certified, in pursuance of an Act of Assembly, and bound in substantial books, each volume containing four hundred and eighty warrants.

From June 1, 1923 to June 1, 1924

The copying force was reduced in numbers from eight persons to three, and they were obliged to do their own comparing, as well as to assist with pressing current work. Nevertheless there were two thousand, seven hundred and ninety-one copies made, compared, signed, certified and bound in substantial books, each volume containing four hundred and eighty warrants.

WARRANTEE MAPS Authorized by Act of June 13, 1907 Pamphlet Laws Page 621

In pursuance of the above-mentioned Act of Assembly, at the closing of the Report of the Secretary of Internal Affairs for the four years of 1919, 1920, 1921 and 1922, inclusive, eighty- three townships were completed, traced and blueprinted. Hereafter, in referring to these warrantee maps the terms "Skeletons" and "Completed" will be used. The former refers to the preliminary or pencil draft, and the latter to to the finished tracing giving courses, distances, corners, streams, name of warrantee, area, name of the tract, date of survey, date of patent, pantee and where recorded, compared and corrected ready for the blueprinting and further disposition.

December 1, 1922 to June 1, 1923

During this period skeletons of eleven townships of Elk, Westmoreland and Pike counties were constructed ready for tracing. The area of same is approximately six hundred and twenty square miles.

Thirteen townships of Washington, Cameron and Potter counties were completed. The area of these townships is five hundred and seventy-five square miles.

June 1, 1923 to June 1, 1924

During this year skeleton maps of thirteen townships of Elk and Westmoreland counties were constructed, covering eight hundred and forty square miles; and twenty-nine townships of Cameron, Potter, Washington, Huntingdon, Fulton and Pike counties were completed, covering an area of one thousand, two hundred and forty-two square miles.

The total for both periods of skeletons and the completed maps was 3,277 square miles.

APPLICATIONS FOR PATENTS

During the six months from December 1, 1922, to June 1, 1923, fifteen applications for patents for tracts of land upon which warrants were issued prior to 1868 were filed in the Department, and thirteen original patents were prepared and issued, and two applications are still pending.

During the year from June 1, 1923 to June 1, 1924, twenty-two applications for patents on old warrants were filed, on nineteen of which patents were issued and three are pending.

APPLICATIONS FOR VACANT LAND

From December 1, 1922, to June 1, 1923, ten applications for vacant land were received, two of which were for vacant islands and are still pending.

From June 1, 1923 to June 1, 1924, eight applications for vacant land were filed in the Department, two of which were refused, three patented to the applicants, and three pending.

On several of these applications for vacant land warrants and patents were issued to the Department of Forests and Waters, under authority of the Act of May 3, 1909. On all applications the work involved in the drafting, investigating the question of vacancy and reporting on the same required considerable care and time. Copies of all the papers referring to each case were indexed and filed in the Department of Internal Affairs with the applications, where they can be consulted by any one wishing to do so, and certified copies can be obtained upon application on the payment of the required fees.

WARRANT REGISTER.

The Warrant Registers do not contain records of patents and to supply all such omissions Mr. John C. Gates, now deceased, was assigned to this work, with instructions to correct any errors that might be found. Until his death, on July 29, 1923, he had made searches covering 7,500 entries. From that date until June 1, 1924, Mr. W. G. Davis performed these duties. Mr. Davis has been a competent and faithful successor to Mr. Gates. He has made 7,000 similar entries upon these Registers. The two clerks together made 14,500 entries therein. The time employed on this part of the Land Office Bureau work has been well spent, as the regular search work for many years to come will be facilitated, by these new data entered upon the Registers, and by the elimination of all errors found therein.

WORK DONE UNDER ACT OF ASSEMBLY

Approved April 14, 1919.

In pursuance of the provisions of the Act of April 14, 1919, which made the Secretary of Internal Affairs of Pennsylvania custodian of all deeds, contracts, maps, surveys, policies of title insurance, abstracts of titles, and other documents or instruments relating to real estate owned or hereafter to be acquired by the Commonwealth, there were nine deeds and sixty other instruments relating thereto entered in the registers heretofore prepared for such purposes. This number covered a period of from December 1, 1922 to June 1, 1923, and the papers were filed in fireproof cases, arranged alphabetically to facilitate searches, examinations and inspections, as directed by said Act of Assembly.

From June 1, 1923 to June 1, 1924, there were ninety-three deeds and ninety-seven other pepers relating thereto entered in the said Registers and filed.

The total number of said deeds and other pepers relating thereto registered and filed from the date of said Act to June 1, 1924, was 1,700 deeds and 14,837 other papers.

September 30, 1924.

Honorable James F. Woodward, Secretary of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

I have the honor to transmit herewith a brief report of the activities of the Bureau of Statistics and Information for the period from December 1st, 1922, to June 1st, 1924.

Respectfully submitted,
M. HOKE GOTTSCHALL,
Director, Bureau of Statistics and information.

IN GENERAL

The substantial progress made by the Bureau of Statistics and Information during the 1921-1923 biennium could not be maintained the present biennium because of lack of appropriation and the necessity of making a drastic reduction in the number of employees of the Bureau. The division of waterways was discontinued entirely and every Division in the Bureau has suffered from the lack of sufficient employees to conduct its business in the efficient manner which characterized the two years previous.

PUBLICATIONS

The constitutional mandate that the Secretary of Internal Affairs "shall make annual report to the General Assembly" on the work of this Bureau, has not been complied with because of, first, delays in the Department of Printing in the delivery of the 1921 Report on Productive Industries and, second, insistence that copy for the 1922 Report on Productive Industries would have to be approved by the Governor before publication would be authorized. This approval was refused.

Despite the fact that the Report on Productive Industries for the year 1921 was made ready for printing before the end of 1922 and formally requisitioned for early in 1923, the 5,000 copies of this issue of 988 pages were not delivered until the middle of March, 1924. The same unsatisfactory treatment was given the Fourth Industrial Directory, copy for which was prepared the last biennium and the requisition for printing of which was dated October 13th, 1922. Delivery of the five thousand copies of this book containing 1400 pages, was not made until early in April, 1924. The copy for the 1923 Report of Productive Industries is well under way. A combination report for the years 1922 and 1923 will be offered for printing just as soon as prepared. Unfortunately, the reduced force of employees in the Bureau will not permit this work to proceed as rapidly as heretofore.

The distribution of the 1921 Report on Productive Industries and of the Fourth Industrial Directory has brought many letters of commendation on these publications. No other State holds as high place as Pennsylvania in supplying information such as they contain. Thousands of requests were on file for these books and in addition to their circulation in Pennsylvania, copies were sent to every American Consulate throughout the world in the belief that Pennsylvania's export business would receive an impetus thereby. The general tone of acknowledgments received is that such will be the effect.

INDUSTRIAL DIVISION

The adoption of your policy that the activities of the Industrial Division should cover all phases of productive industry in Pennsylvania and all employees thus engaged, and that reports should be required from all concerns doing business in excess of $500 a year, has resulted in the mailing annually of blanks to approximately 30,000 concerns in the Commonwealth. These forms went forward promptly the first of January, 1923, for reporting the business of 1922. A better record than ever before was made in the promptness with which returns were received and through the help of field men calling upon delinquents, the survey for the entire State for 1922 was finished in the early fall of 1923.

Sixty days after the close of the year the story of industry for the year preceding was made public for certain counties and cities through the medium of business men's organizations who look to the Bureau to supply such information to them annually. Eighteen public meetings were held under the auspices of such organizations throughout the State in the year 1923, when the industrial showing of their respective communities the year preceding was disclosed. It is the practice of the Bureau to release information on counties and cities just as soon as complete figures are tabulated.

The magnitude of detail work necessary before such totals can be made public is very great, indeed. Our files contain the names of all concerns in triplicate and corresponding checks for completeness and correctness must constantly be made. Every report must be edited and coded. The Hollerith tabulating system is used in the transfer of the information the reports contain to proper industrial classification. The fact that upwards of 600 lines of industry are checked, that the data gathered cover invested capital, employees, payrolls, volume, value and nature of product, as well as exports; that these data are segregated so as to show the actual industrial conditions in each of the sixty-seven counties and approximately ninety cities of the Commonwealth; that separate data are compiled for 205 trades and occupations embraced by such a wide variety of industrial activity and are likewise segregated by counties and cities—will illustrate the busy routine of the Industrial Division.

When the appropriation of the Bureau was so drastically cut, an immediate slowing-up resulted. It has been impossible for the Bureau during the last year to comply with requests which are being made constantly by various communities for up-to-date industrial information. There being no funds available for field work, the very unsatisfactory system of correspondence alone must be depended upon for gathering delinquent reports which causes great delay. It can readily be seen that it has been impossible for this Division to function in a satisfactory manner. Unless statistics can be supplied promptly and immediate benefit be had from their interpretation, the value of such work is greatly lessened. Inevitably, still greater delay in the routine conduct of the Industrial Division will ensue until an adequate appropriation is furnished.

It will not be possible for the complete story of productive industry in Pennsylvania in 1923 to be made public until after the year 1924 has ended—the poorest showing which this division has made during your term as Secretary of Internal Affairs.

DIVISION OF PUBLIC UTILITIES

The collection of annual reports from railroads, street railways, telegraph, telephone and canal companies has been a feature of the Department of Internal Affairs since its creation. By the specific requirements of the Constitution these reports are collected and by Act of Assembly a fine of $5,000 is provided for failure to report. A duplication in collection of such reports by any other state agency is superfluous. While it may be posibly a matter of convenience for its own use, such collection by any other department of the state government cannot and does not meet the constitutional purpose of providing information to the public.

The fact that the Secretary of Internal Affairs is the constitutional officer, elected by popular vote to represent the people in respect of public utilities, has never been lost sight of during your administration in the work of this Division. The value of these official records is hard to over-estimate. Certified copies of reports are called for very frequently in the conduct of cases before the courts and hundreds of individual requests are made from time to time for information on the operation of these public utilities in the Commonwealth. There is no other office in the state government where such information is collected for the use of the public.

In order to reduce the cost of the preparation of forms for the making of these annual reports, it has been the practice in recent years to purchase forms from the Interstate Commerce Commission, especially adapted for state purposes for railroads and street railway lines. The work which was started in 1922 in the Division intended to provide useful public information upon the production, distribution and sale of electricity, water and gas in Pennsylvania, has been continued and has met with wide public favor. Such information, likewise, is not furnished by any other state agency. The data thus gathered are given wide publicity when released to the newspapers as soon as the annual surveys are completed.

The tabulation of complete figures for the year 1922 was finished and the results thereof made public during the latter part of 1923. The progress of the work during this year on bringing down the totals for the year 1923 has been very much retarded because of the lack of office help. As in the Industrial Division, much embarrassment has been caused by our failure to respond to requests for information which cannot be supplied solely because we do not have enough employees to do the work expeditiously.

DIVISION OF TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS

As the only agency in the state government directed by law to gather information on the assessment and taxation of real estate in Pennsylvania, the work of the Division of Taxes and Assessments is becoming more and more important on account of the constant demand for information upon these questions. During the last session of the General Assembly, in their quest for data upon tax burdens of the people of the Commonwealth, this Division was besieged by the members thereof, for official figures on the assessment and taxation of real estate. These were supplied in a great variety of tabular data, requiring much research and clerical assistance.

It should be remembered that the form in which these tax data are gathered by the Department, is prescribed by Acts of Assembly as well as in the manner of the collection of the information. For more than forty years these figures have been gathered and the files of the Department are regarded as a veritable mine of information to the student of tax questions. Civic organizations, newspapers and investigators make continuous requests for tax information. Various organizations have sent men to copy our records and the use of the figures in national publications is common. I have before me now two reports of the National Industrial Conference Board. One of them, Research Report No. 55, at pages 50 and 58, produces figures supplied by the Division of Taxes and Assessments in this Bureau. Another, Research Report No. 64, furnishes similar data at pages 10, 22, 63, 64 and 92. These are handed you herewith. Letters are on file from the National Industrial Conference Board setting forth the distinction attaching to Pennsylvania for gathering information of this kind and in acknowledgment of unusual courtesies by the Bureau and Division employees.

This Division is very much restricted in its operation on account of the lack of appropriation to the Bureau. Your attention is respectfully called to the fact that a first-hand study of practices in the various counties as to the assessment of real estate and the collection of taxes has never been made but should be made under the auspices of this Division. When the practices are understood, suitable forms should be provided for gathering information which is not now supplied. At the present time clerks in the Division are making a study of the receipt of taxes in every tax district of the Commonwealth so as to be able to show what percentage of the tax burden on real estate in 1924 is borne separately by first class cities, second class cities, third class cities, boroughs, first class townships and second class townships. If the Division had sufficient clerical help to discect the reports filed, it could be of vastly more benefit to the members of the Legislature and to the people in general. As in the other Divisions, lack of office help has prevented the compilation of returns as promptly as desired.

I would strongly urge that the Division be given additional appropriation in order that it may undertake a much-needed study of taxation and assessment practices in the various counties of the Commonwealth.

September 30, 1924.

Honorable James F. Woodward, Secretary of Internal Affairs, Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Mr. Secretary: I am submitting herewith report of the Bureau of Municipalities from December 1, 1922, to June 1, 1924.

Yours respectfully,

J. HERMAN KNISLEY,

Director, Bureau of Municipalities.

BUREAU OF MUNICIPALITIES

Attention should be called to the great handicap under which the work of the Bureau has been carried on since the last biennial appropriation. As in the other bureaus of the Department, it has been compelled to curtail and eliminate much of its work because of the lack of appropriation. The general work of the bureau has been carried on as formerly and every effort has been made to render efficient service. During the period of this report information and assistance, in the nature of reports and advice, have been rendered to 1,371 municipal officials and others in the thirty-nine third class cities, 926 boroughs and 57 first class townships of the Commonwealth.

Cooperating with the Legislative Reference Bureau a Supplement to the "Third Class City Law" and the "Borough Law" has been prepared and sent out to thousands of the officials of the cities of the third class and boroughs, giving all the new legislation enacted and amendments made to the Third Class City Law and the Borough Law since their publication. This is found to be of inestimable value to the municipal official as he in this manner is enabled to note any changes in the law.

MUNICIPAL STATISTICS

Data have been gathered annually covering all the important activities of the thirty-nine cities of the third class covering the following subjects: Principal sources of revenue from taxation. This subject is shown by two methods: First, a graphic chart showing the changes in the assessed valuation, mileage and tax levy annually from 1917 to 1924 by a percentage of increase or decrease over 1917, which was the pre-War basis. This graphic chart is supplemented by a list showing in detail the subjects of taxation in the various cities and the proportion of tax raised from various subjects of assessment, giving each city an opportunity to compare their method of apportioning the burden of taxation with the customs of the other municipalities. These tables have not only been in demand from officials but have been furnished civic bodies and others interested in municipal government and have been widely published through the medium of the public press and magazines dealing with municipal problems. The indebtedness of these municipalities and the method of financing the retirement of this indebtedness is shown and has occasioned a change of method in a number of instances. The details of the activities and costs of fire and police have been arranged on charts enabling the interested officials to analyze the various methods used and the results obtained throughout the state. The manner of handling garbage disposal, street lighting, sewers, park and playground activities and street paving has been arranged in comparative charts and these charts have been used for the purposes above mentioned. A list of the names and salaries of the principal officials is on file and information concerning their duties enables executives to compare the duties and salaries as maintained in those cities. On account of the reduced appropriation we have been unable to secure detailed data as formerly in the boroughs.

CITY PLANNING AND ZONING

The engineering and other services of the bureau have frequently been requested by most of the departments of the State government. This service has been cheerfully given as the bureau is always anxious to cooperate when requested.

BUDGET AND ACCOUNTING.

The assistance formerly extended to the cities and boroughs in the installation of new accounting methods and budget systems has of necessity been withdrawn on account of insufficient funds.

It is gratifying to note, however, that the cities of Washington Chester and Lancaster have adopted the systems stablished by the bureau.

The time has arrived when the Commonwealth should take some definite steps to require a uniform system of accounting and budgets in the cities and larger boroughs, and the approval of the proceedings under which bonds and other forms of indebtedness are issued.

This is in accord with methods now in use in many of the states.

The lax method of issuing bonds is one of the weakest links in the government of our municipalities.

Within the year the bureau, through the advertisement of a pending ordinance in one of the cities of the third class, was able to suggest an infinitely better plan at a cost of over twenty-five thousand dollars less than the method proposed.

This is only one of many similar instances.

Proper legislative action should be taken to correct this evil, thereby saving thousands of dollars annually to the taxpayers.

PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS

Recreation has come to be regarded as much of a municipal function as most of the many other activities of government. Wonderful strides have been made in this direction but unfortunately we have been compelled on account of lack of appropriations to reduce the force engaged in the preparation of park and playground plans. We have now a number of projects awaiting the services of the bureau and have on hand upwards of twenty active projects to which we are giving our attention.

Harrisburg, Pa., September 15, 1924.

Honorable James F. Woodward,
Secretary of Internal Affairs,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Sir: I have the honor to submit to you a report covering the work of the Bureau of Standards and the City and County Inspectors of Weights and Measures for the past two years ending May 31, 1924.

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM B. McGRADY,
Director, Bureau of Standards.

Since the middle of July, 1923, the Bureau of Standards has been relegated practically to the condition it occupied in the year 1919, by reason of the reduction in appropriation. Ten Deputy Inspectors of Weights and Measures were dismissed and the State work of supervising local Inspectors of Weights and Measures, thereby correlating the two systems, had to be abandoned. The large number of inspections shown by this report by State Deputy Inspectors must be understood, therefore, to have been made before July, 1923. Beginning with the year 1919 several Acts of Assembly were passed which imposed large additional duties upon the Bureau, which are performed at the office. Chief among these were the Babcock glassware test Act and the Act requiring the approval by the Bureau of all weighing and measuring devices offered for sale in the state, and the assigning of serial numbers to the designs upon approval.

The small force now available is wholly inadequate for the proper performance of this office work. We have worked hard, however, and have been successful generally in sustaining the Bureau's reputation for promptness of service. The following is a brief summary of the work of the Bureau, and of the local Inspectors, who are required by law to report monthly to the Bureau.

OFFICE WORK

The Bureau tested 446 test weights, comprising almost all of the different units of the Avoirdupois, Troy, Apothecaries and Metric systems. The list is too long to set out in detail. Also, there were tested 33 test liquid measures, 4 test dry measures, 10 test linear measures and one milk scale.

57,050 Babcock milk and cream test bottles and pipettes were received from manufacturers, tested, marked with the letters S. G. P. (Standard Glassware Pennsylvania) and reshipped to their proper destinations. They were as follows:

43,780	8%	milk test bottles
7,217	50%	cream test bottles
6,053	17.6	C.C. pipettes
57,050	Total

In carrying out the serialization work as provided in Act of May 5, 1921 (P. L. 389) 3,610 weighing and measuring devices were submitted to the Bureau and examined, tested, approved or condemned.

The following is a statement of inspections, as tabulated from their reports to the Bureau of Standards, of the work done by the State Deputy Inspectors and the City and County Inspectors. The table exhibits the number of weighing and measuring devices inspected, adjusted, approved and condemned in the two-year period ending May 31, 1924.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, under a joint resolution passed in the General Assembly of 1917 there was created a Commission to study the criminal laws and the criminal proceedure in the Commonwealth. At each succeeding General Assembly that Commission was continued in its work until finally the Commission has completed the work for which it was appointed. Several weeks ago each of you had placed on your desk a report of the Commission both on the question of criminal proceedure and on the general criminal laws. The original manuscript report of that Commission will be presented to this body next Monday evening, but in the meanwhile, in order to expedite the progress of the bills based upon this report, it was considered expedient that the bills be introduced at once. Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I desire to call to your attention and to the attention of the House the fact that the bill revising the criminal proceedure of this Commonwealth, as well as the bill revising the criminal laws of this Commonwealth were today introduced by me.

Mr. DRUMBOR, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, reported as committed House Bill No. 82, entitled

An Act amending sections one and two of an act approved the twelfth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, (P. L. 548), entitled "An act providing for the depositing of money with the clerk of the several courts of quarter sessions and oyer and terminer or other courts of record having jurisdiction in this Commonwealth, in lieu of bail and recognizances with surety or sureties, in criminal or quasi criminal prosecution, desertion or non-support and surety of the peace cases, pending in said courts, and fixing the fees of the said clerk of the courts;" providing for the depositing of cash bill by others than defendants.

RESOLUTION

RELATIVE TO IMPROVEMENT OF THE ALLEGHENY RIVER.

Mr. ARMSTRONG asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 3rd, 1925.

Whereas, The Congress of the United States has by several acts of said Congress duly approved by the President of the United State, adopted a project for the improvement of the Allegheny River, and

Whereas, Said improvement has been delayed many years because the bridges across said river in the City of Pittsburgh obstructed navigation; and

Whereas, The Commissioners of Allegheny County have recently executed firm contracts for the rebuilding of said bridges so that they shall no longer obstruct navigation on said river; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby request and urge the Secretary of War to allocate for the improvement of the Allegheny River, as authorized by law, an amount from the lump sum appropriated by the 68th Congress for the improvement of rivers and harbors, sufficient to complete Dams Nos. 4 and 5 on said river, and to make additional allocations of funds from year to year until the project for the improvement of said river as adopted by the Congress of the United States shall be fully completed.

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Secretary of War, and to the Chief of Engineers, Washington, D. C., and to the United States District Engineer at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Mr. F. A. Bell asked and obtained leave of absence for

Mr. LORENZO D. THOMAS.

Legislative Journal

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1925. No. 8.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 4th, 1925.

The Senate met at 10.30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. John G. Homsher) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

O Lord, We thank thee for the refreshing sleep of the past night and for this new day of privilege and opportunity. Forbid that we should pass through life in a narrow selfish spirit, thinking merely of our own pleasure and comfort, forgetful of Thee and of our fellow men. We are in the midst of a world of sorrow and trouble and burden, of wrong and injustice. May we be lifters of burdens, may we bring joy into darkened lives and may we do our part in establishing truth and justice. May we do our best in helping to make this a better world, so that when life on earth is ended we shall feel that we have not lived in vain. May this be the animating spirit all through this new day.

For Jesus sake, Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when on motion of Mr. BUCKMAN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO IMPROVEMENT OF ALLEGHENY RIVER.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatices, which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 3rd, 1925.

Whereas, The Congress of the United States has, by several acts of said Congress duly approved by the President of the United States, adopted a project for the improvement of the Allegheny River, and

Whereas, Said improvement has been delayed many years because the bridges across said river in the City of Pittsburgh obstructed navigation; and

Whereas, The Commissioners of Allegheny County have recently executed firm contracts for the rebuilding of said bridges so that they shall no longer obstruct navigation on said river; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby request and urge the Secretary of War to allocate for the improvement of the Allegheny River, as authorized by law, an amount from the lump sum appropriated by the 68th Congress for the improvement of rivers and harbors, sufficient to complete Dams Nos. 4 and 5 on said river, and to make additional allocations of funds from year to year until the project for the improvement of said river as adopted by the Congress of the United States shall be fully completed.

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Secretary of War, and to the Chief of Engineers, Washington, D. C., and to the United States District Engineer at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolutions?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move to amend the resolution by adding thereto the following:

"Be it Further Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be instructed to send a copy of this Resolution to the two United States Senators and to all Congressmen from Pennsylvania".

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution as amended?

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 202, as follows:

An Act in relation to the procedure in certain classes of cases in which there is raised a question as to the jurisdiction of a court of first instance over the defendant or the cause of action for which suit is brought and authorizing appeals from the preliminary decision of such questions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That wherever in any proceeding at law or in equity the question of jurisdiction over the defendant or of the cause of action for which suit is brought is raised in the court of first instance it shall be preliminarily determined by the court upon the pleadings or with depositions as the case may require and the decision may be applied to the Supreme Court or the Superior Court as in cases of final judgments

Section 2 All such preliminary questions shall be raised by petition setting forth the facts relied upon whereupon a rule to show cause shall be granted and such preliminary question disposed of by the court Such proceedure shall be deemed de bene esse only and shall not operate as a general appearance

Section 3 The appeal here provided for must be taken and perfected within fifteen days from the date when the decision is rendered shall be made returnable on the third Monday after it is taken and shall be placed by the appellate court at the head of its argument list for civil cases to be heard at the earliest date consistent with its rules governing the presentation of appeals Porvided that as to decision made prior to the approval of this act the fifteen days limitation shall not begin to run until after the date of its approval A failure to appeal within the time specified will be deemed a waiver of all objections to jurisdiction over the defendant personally

Section 4 The right of appeal here conferred is not intended to cover questions of jurisdiction which go to the form of the action alone as between law and equity such as provided for in the Act of June seven one thousand nine hundred and seven Pamphlet Laws four hundred and forty

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to,

AMENDED HOUSE RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 3, 1925.

Whereas, The Congress of the Unitd States has, by several acts of said Congress duly approved by the President of the United States, adopted a project for the improvement of the Allegheny River, and

Whereas, Said improvement has been delayed many years because the bridges across said river in the City of Pittsburgh obstructed navigation; and

Whereas, The Commissioners of Allegheny County have recently executed firm contracts for the rebuilding of said bridges so that they shall no longer obstruct navigation on said river; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania does hereby request and urge the Secretary of War to allocate for the improvement of the Allegheny River, as authorized by law, an amount from the lump sum appropriated by the 68th Congress for the improvement of rivers and harbors, sufficient to complete Dams Nos. 4 and 5 on said river, and to make additional allocations of funds from year to year until the project for the improvement of said river as adopted by the Congress of the United States shall be fully completed.

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to the Secretary of War, and to the Chief of Engineers, Washington, D. C., and to the United States District Engineer at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Be it further resolved; That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be instructed to send a copy of this resolution to the two United States Senators and to all Congressmen from Pennsylvania.

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Be it further resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be instructed to send a copy of this resolution to the two United States Senators and to all Congressmen from Pennsylvania.

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1925. No. 9.

SENATE

MONDAY, February 9th, 1925.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor David J. Davis), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father: Whenever we come to Thee in prayer, it ought to be with grateful hearts, but at this season of the year we have special reason to thank Thee. We are approaching the anniversary of the birth of one of the greatest of America's sons, Abraham Lincoln. We are glad that in this democratic land it is possible for a boy with no blue blood in his veins, reared in poverty, selfmade, reaching manhood without financial or social or scholastic prestige, simply through sheer force of character, to become the leader of the nation and the Moses of a New Age. We praise Thee for the immortal Lincoln. His fame will endure to the end of time. May his life inspire us to a higher and nobler patriotism, and may we constantly seek to emulate his example!

We ask it in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, and in the insane asylums?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, that would be very bad, I am afraid.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, does the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, recognize that it would be in competition with the crafts and trades?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, yes, but in the State of New Jersey they do two-thirds of their printing.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I am speaking of Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I know, but I would say that in New Jersey they do two-thirds of their printing in the penitentiaries, and I believe the same thing could be done in Pennsylvania. The labor unions are in favor of it.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, you are satisfied that would do in Pennsylvania?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, no, it has not been tried.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, whether he is trying to do it by constitutional amendment?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, not at all, this is optional. This gives the State the option to let to the lowest bidder or set up its own plant or do the printing in the penitentiaries.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, whether he, in other words, would want prison labor to come in competition with the crafts and trades? They go out as apprentices and work themselves up into journeymen and then compete with prison labor.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would say it would be saving the State money in printing.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I am speaking about competition.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am in favor of educating the convict so that when he goes out of prison he will have a trade.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, that may be commendable with regard to a trade such as that of the carpenter, the weaver or some other craft not so technical; but with printing there is the specially designed machinery for printing, operated by men who spend their lifetime in the craft.

Mr. WOODWARD: Mr. President, It depends on the sentence.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, no, it depends on the individual and his disposition and character.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the question under discussion is not being followed. The Senators are deviating from the question before the house.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, is well taken. The Senators will confine themselves to a discussion of the bill under consideration.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I will admit that I have deviated from the question, and I would like to deviate further. I ask the Senate to consider the matter of turning the prisons into printing establishments. The printing press, today, is the most technical piece of machinery there is in existence. In one moment an individual can ruin that machinery, thereby taking away a craft and trade, and taking it out of public life. I am not defending any labor organization; I am only presenting the proposition of this State going into this technical profession.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—35.

Aron,	Daix,	Joyce,	Quigley,
Baldwin,	Davis,	Kunkle,	Snyder,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 165, entitled:

An Act authorizing counties to engage in health work and to appropriate monyes for such purposes.

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Board of County Commissioners may provide and appropriate from any monies in the county treasury not otherwise appropriated annually such sum or sums as they deem necessary for the protection of health cleanliness convenience comfort and safety of the people of the county and said Board of County Commissioners upon their appropriating money for health work as provided for herein shall cooperate with the State Department of Health and boroughs and first-class townships within their respective counties in the promotion of health work

Section 2 In case any health officers are appointed under section one of this act such appointees shall be approved by the State Department of Health and such appointees shall have the same powers and duties as are now prescribed for the same officers in boroughs and first-class townships

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. JOYCE. Mr. President I move to amend section 1, page 1, line 7, by inserting after the word "of" the word "the."

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to.

An Act to ratify and adopt a compact negotiated by Commissioners designated by the Governor under a law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with Commissioners duly authorized thereto by the States of New York and New Jersey, for the regularization of the flow of the Delaware River, the conservation of the water resources of the Delaware Basin, the apportionment thereof among the said States for domestic and municipal supply, and the utilization thereof for power and other beneficial uses.

The Preamble, entitles I, II, III, IV, V, VI, VII, VIII, and IX of the bill were read as follows and agreed to.

An Act to ratify and adopt a compact negotiated by Commissioners designated by the Governor under a law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with Commissioners duly authorized thereto by the States of New York and New Jersey for the regularization of the flow of the Delaware River the conservation of the water resources of the Delaware Basin the apportionment thereof among the said States for domestic and municipal supply and the utilization thereof for power and other beneficial uses

Whereas Commissioners duly designated on the part of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Commissioners duly appointed on the part of the State of New Jersey and Commissioners duly appointed on the part of the State of New York to negotiate a compact for the regularization of the flow of the Delaware River the conservation of the water resources of the Delaware Basin the apportionment thereof among the said States for domestic and municipal supply and the utilization thereof for power and other beneficial uses have executed in triplicate a compact for the purposes aforesaid one for each State which agreement is contained in the following words

COMPACT

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by Legislative Act approved the twenty-fourth of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred forty-eight) and the State of New Jersey by Chapter ninety-four of the Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and the State of New York by Chapter fifty-six of the Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three having authorized their respective Governors to appoint Commissioners for the purpose of negotiating a form of compact or treaty between the said three states and the said states through their Governors having appointed as their Commissioners

For the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Charles H Miner Robert Y Stuart Philip P Wells

For the State of New Jersey William A Starrett Frederick C Schneider

For the State of New York George MacDonald Rudolph Reimer Jefferson DeMont Thompson

who after negotiations have agreed upon the following articles

ARTICLE I

This compact between the sovereign states of Pennsylvania New York and New Jersey is entered into for the purpose of conserving by storage and otherwise for all uses the water resources of the said states in the Delaware river its tributaries and drainage area and as a means to that end for making allotments from the said water resources to the said states respectively and determining and adjusting their respective rights therein

ARTICLE II

Where used in this compact singular words shall be construed as including the plural masculine words shall be construed as including the feminine and neuter and the following terms and expressions shall have the meanings as respectively designated for each

The term "waters of the Delaware River" means all of the surface waters which following their natural courses flow into the channel of the Delaware river above that point in the said channel which marks the boundary between the states of Delaware Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The term "channel of the Delaware river" means the lands and bed of the river on and over which the waters of the Delaware river flow beginning at the point near "Monument Island" which is the northeastern corner of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and extending thence continuously as the said channel winds and turns to the point which is the common boundary between the states of Pennsylvania New Jersey and Delaware

The term "drainage area of the Delaware river" means the entire area of both land and water from which the surface waters naturally flow into the channel of the Delaware river

The term "tributary" or "tributary of the Delaware river" means any watercourse the waters of which naturally reach the channel of said river

The term "domestic and municipal" as applied to the use of water means the use of water by or for waterworks serving the public

The term "sanitation" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for the conveyance of sewage and industrial wastes

The term "sewage" means any substance or liquid containing any of the waste products or excrementitious or other discharges from the bodies of human beings or animals

The term "industrial waste" means any liquid or solid substance not sewage resulting from any process employed in manufacturing or industry

The term "water returned" or its equivalent means the return into a tributary or into the channel of the Delaware river of water after the same has been used for any purpose and in this sense the terms "sewage" and "industrial waste" shall be construed as being "water returned"

The term "industry" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for manufacturing and industrial purposes in all cases in which the water used is not taken from a public water supply system

The term "power" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for the development of energy whether that use be direct or indirect

The term "navigation" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for transportation and for the operation of water craft for all purposes

The term "develop" or "development" when referring to the use of water from the channel of the Delaware river or a tributary shall include any means for making the water available for use by the construction of any intake dam or other works

The term "point of development" means the point nearest the mouth of a tributary at which any dam or intake is built in connection with any development of the waters of such tributary

The term "divert" or "diversion" when referring to water in the channel of the Delaware river means the taking or removal of water from the said channel when the water taken or removed is not returned into the said channel within a distance of twelve miles below the point of diversion measured along the center line of the said channel

The term "divert" or "diversion" when referring to the water of a tributary of the Delaware river means the taking or removal of water from that tributary or from any portion thereof when the water taken or removed is not returned into the channel of the Delaware river either above the point at which the tributary enters the said channel or with a distance of twelve miles below that point measured along the center line of the said channel

at which water is taken or removed from a tributary or from the channel of the Delaware river

The term "developed for diversion" means conservation of water by storage or otherwise on or from any one or more tributaries for the purpose of diversion at any point on the tributary or tributaries or at some lower point in the channel of the Delaware river after the water shall have reached said lower point as water in transit

The term "ordinary flow" means a flow of forty-five hundredths (0.45) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point at which the "ordinary flow" is to be determined

The term "ordinary low flow" means a flow of fifteen hundredths (0.15) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point at which the "ordinary low flow" is to be determined

The term "allotment" means the share of any signatory state in the water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river which is in excess of all water in transit

The term "New York-New Jersey state line means the boundary line between the states of New York and New Jersey which line for the purpose of this compact shall be considered as crossing the channel of the Delaware river due east to the so-called "Tri-State Rock" and continuing thence in a south-easterly direction across the Neversink river to a rock on the west shore of the Hudson river near the village of Nyack

The term "water in transit" means water which has been developed by storage or otherwise and which is flowing in the channel of the Delaware river under the provisions of Article VII

The term "point of storage" means the point or place in the channel of the Delaware river at which a dam is maintained

The term "Commission" means the Tri-State Delaware River Commission

ARTICLE III

In the development use or diversion of the waters of the Delaware river and in all considerations of quantity and preservation of quality the order of importance and public value shall be as follows (A) domestic and municipal (B) sanitation (C) industry and power and (D) navigation

ARTICLE IV

Any administrative department political subdivision corporation partnership association or person authorized in that behalf by or under the laws of any signatory state may exercise the rights and privileges herein conferred on such state subject to the duties and obligations herein imposed on such state

ARTICLE V

Any tributary or any part of any tributary of the Delaware river may be developed for any purpose by or under the authority of the signatory state in which it is located and water so developed may be diverted for use at any point either within or without the drainage area of the Delaware river in case water so developed is diverted then the following restrictions and limitations shall apply

(1) Every such development shall be carried out in compliance with the legislative provisions governing such matters in the state in which it is located

(2) Every such development shall be so planned and the works shall be so constucted as to bring about the greatest practicable conservation and use of the waters of the tributary on which it is located

(3) In the case of every such development located above the New York-New Jersey state line there shall be maintained below the point of development during the months of July August September and October a reserve flow equal to the ordinary flow at that point and also if at any other time during the year the flow in the tributary at the point of development is less than the ordinary flow at that point then a reserve flow equal to the ordinary flow shall be maintained below the point of development In the case of every such development located below the New York-New Jersey state line there shall at all times be maintained below the point development a reserve flow equal to the ordinary low flow at that point

(4) The total drainage area in any state which may be developed for diversion under the provisions of this article shall not exceed three-fifths of the drainage area of the Delaware river which lies within that state

ARTICLE VI

All water which at any time is flowing in the channel of the Delaware river above the New York-New Jersey state line and which is in excess of all water in transit in said channel is allotted to the states of New Jersey New York and Pennsylvania and with the approval of the Commission as provided in Article VIII hereof each of these states may divert from the said channel at any point above the said state line that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of fifteen hundredths (.15) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point of diversion and at any point below the New York-New Jersey state line each of the said states may divert that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of twelve hundredths (0.12) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line The allotments of the respective states shall be computed from time to time as follows

In case no tributary within the drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion then the allotment of each state at any point in the channel of the Delaware river above the said state line hereinafter called the normal allotment shall be one-third of the total water which may at any time be flowing in said channel at that point In case one or more tributaries within said drainage area shall have been developed for diversion by only one of the signatory states then the respective allotments of the signatory states shall be determined by the following rule The allotment of said diverting state shall be determined by subtracting from its normal allotment an amount to be computed by multiplying said normal allotment by a fraction the numerator of which shall be the total drainage area developed for diversion on said tributaries within that state above the New York-New Jersey state line and the denominator of said fraction shall be the total drainage area above the said state line and the allotment of each one of the other two states shall be determined by adding to its normal allotment one-half of the amount subtracted from the allotment of the diverting state In case tributaries within the drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion by two or more states the rule herein above stated shall be applied separately and in turn as to each diverting state and the substractions from and additions to the normal allotments of the states thus determined shall fix the allotments of the states as of that time

All water which originates within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line and enters the channel of the Delaware river below that line and which is in excess of all water in transit in said channel is hereby allotted to the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania and with the approval of the Commission as provided in Article VIII hereof each of said states may divert from said channel at any point below the said state line that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of eighteen hundredths (0.18) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area lying above the point of diversion and below the New York-New Jersey state line The allotments of the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania in the waters which originate within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall be computed from time to time as follows

In case no tributary within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion then the allotment of the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania at any point in the channel of the Delaware river below said line hereinafter called the normal allotment shall be one-half of the water which has originated within the said drainage area and which at any time is flowing in the said channel at such point below said state line in case New Jersey or Pennsylvania shall have developed for diversion one or more tributaries within said drainage area then the allotment of the diverting state shall be determined by subtracting from its normal allotment an amount to be computed by multiplying said normal allotment by a fraction the numerator of which shall be the total drainage area developed for diversion on said tributaries within that state below the New York-New Jersey state line and the denominator shall be the total drainage area below said state line and the allotment of the other state shall be increased by the amount by which the allotment of the diverting state has been reduced In case tributaries within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion by both New Jersey and Pennsylvania the rule herein above stated shall be applied separately and in turn as to each of them and the subtractions from and additions to the normal allotments of the states thus determined shall fix the allotment of the states as of that time

Dams may be constructed across the channel of the Delaware river by or under the authority of any one of the signatory states for the purpose of storing water developed for diversion water in transit belonging to said state or any part or all of the water allotted to it under the provisions of this article All water so stored may be diverted or released from such reservoir or reservoirs by or under the authority of such state but the flow in the said channel below the point of storage must not be reduced below the ordinary flow whenever the flow above the point of storage is greater than the said ordinary flow When and if the flow in the said channel above the point of storage is less than the ordinary flow then and in every such case a flow equal to that above the point of storage shall be maintained in the said channel below the point of storage At all times however neither the water in transit nor the allotment or allotments of the other signatory state or states shall be interferred with but must at all times be permitted to pass such dam or dams

It is the intention of this article that no water shall be diverted from the channel of the Delaware River above the New York-New Jersey State line whenever the flow in the said channel is less than forty-five hundredths (0.45) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of the total drainage area lying above the point of diversion and it is further intended that no water shall be diverted from the channel of the Delaware river below the New York-New Jersey state line whenever the flow in the said channel is less than thirty-six hundredths (0.36) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of the total drainage area lying above the point of diversion but nothing contained in this article shall be construed to limit or prevent the diversion of water in transit of water diverted under any vested right or of water stored for diversion as herein provided

ARTICLE VII

The channel of the Delaware river is hereby constituted a carrier for conducting water designated as "water in transit" which has been developed or stored in accordance with the terms of Article five or Article six Such water may be removed or diverted at any time or place from the channel of the Delaware river by or under authority of the state under whose auspices the development was made irrespective of the quantity of water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river and the reserve flow provisions of Article six The rate at which such water is released or delivered shall be regulated so far as may be consistent with its economic utilization in such manner as not to unduly interfere with private rights or public interests along the said channel The daily rate at which such water may be removed or diverted from the channel of the Delaware river shall not exceed the daily rate at which it is released or delivered and no greater quantity may be diverted from the said channel than shall have been released or delivered from the developments made under the provisions of Articles V and VI less the reserve flows provided for in the said Articles V and VI except that allotted water may be diverted as provided in Article VI No development or construction in the channel of the Delaware river shall be permitted to interfere with the regularity of the flow of any water which has been released or delivered for carriage

ARTICLE VIII

In order to render possible the utilization or diversion of water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river each signatory state shall have the right to build dams entirely or partly across said channel and to construct wing dams headworks intakes or other necessary facilities at any point or points in or along said channel subject to the following limitations and stipulations

(a) All such works shall be built in compliance with the legislative provisions governing such matters in the state or states in which they are located

(b) Works for the development of water power may not be built except with the approval of the Commission in accordance with the provisions of Article ten hereof

(c) Approval of the Commission shall be secured for every project which involves the removal or diversion of more than two million gallons of water per day from the channel of the Delaware river such approval however need not at any time be obtained by any administrative department of a signatory state or any political subdivision within a signatory state or by any corporation partnership association or person in the case of any intake which is in existence at any point in said channel on the date when this compact becomes effective

In the exercise of this authority said Commission shall be governed and its power and authority shall extend to and be limited by the following principles restrictions and reservations to wit

(1) In the case of any project which in the judgment of the Commission will not interfere or conflict with any other use of the water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river the Commission shall approve said project without imposing any restrictions or conditions except such as may be necessary to insure compliances with the provisions of this compact

(2) As between any one or more proposed or possible conflicting uses the action of the Commission shall be based upon the relative importance of the uses to which the water may be put as fixed in Article III of this compact and to the extent that conflict is irreconcilable that possible and practicable project which will effect the use of water standing highest in the order of imporance shall be approved without restrictions or conditions except such as the Commission may deem necessary to insure compliance with the provisions of this compact To the extent that conflict is avoidable by a reasonable modification of any or all of the projects which may be involved the Commission shall fix the terms of such modification but such terms shall not require as against the higher use pumping in place of gravity delivery of water nor impose on the higher use the cost of any impounding works or any unreasonable enlargement of pipe lines conduits or tunnels or impose on the higher use any undue burden in either expense or convenience of operation In the case of conflict in uses of the same relative order of importance preference shall be given to an established use over a proposed one and the Commission shall have authority to determine the manner in which such conflicting uses may be harmonized without imposing unreasonable expense or undue burden upon either or any of them

ARTICLE IX

No water from the drainage area of the Delaware river shall be diverted to any point outside of the boundaries of the states signatory to this compact No one of the signatory states may give grant or dispose of to another signatory state or to any holder of an authorization therefrom any water developed by or allotted to it under the provisions of this compact except by legislative act when necessary and then only with the approval of the Commission but nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent or prohibit the joint exercise by or under the authority of any two or more of the signatory states of the rights conferred by this compact and such joint exercise of rights is hereby authorized

Article X of the bill was read as follows:

ARTICLE X

With the approval of the Commission any signatory state may construct or authorize the construction of a dam wing dam headworks power house or other structure in or across the channel of the Delaware river for the main purpose of the development of water power .Provided that every such authorization shall be limited to such period not exceeding fifty years as the said state shall determine and set forth in its authorization Provided further that the holder of such authorization shall be entitled to extension and renewal thereof upon the same terms until such holder shall have received through recapture or purchase by the authorizing state or by a duly authorized subsequent holder of like authority from said state repayment of the capital prudently invested in the power project upon the faith of the authorization plus such reasonable damages if any to property of such holder which is valuable serviceable and dependent for its usefulness upon the continuance of such authorization but not recaptured or purchased as may be caused by the severance therefrom of property taken Provided further that the authorizing state may in the discretion of its appropriate agency officer or employee empowered in that behalf embody in its authorization such terms conditions and stipulations as such agency officer or employee shall deem necessary to protect the present and future interests of each of the three signatory states and their people in the construction maintenance and operation of the project and in the water and power resources to be utilized thereby and suitable to secure to the holder of such authorization a reasonable opportunity for a fair return on the capital prudently invested in the project And provided further that every such authorization shall be on the following conditions which shall be expressed in such authorization namely (a) That the authorization shall become null and void unless within the time specified therein the holder of such authorization shall secure from the United States such license permit or authority as may be lawfully required and (b) that if and to the extent that any of the rights or powers set forth or reserved as rights or powers of the United States in or pursuant to the provisions of such license permit or authority shall be waived by the United States or be unenforceable by the United States then and to that extent such rights and powers (including if so waived or unenforceable any rights of recapture extension or renewal so set forth or reserved) subject to such alterations in plans specifications or structures and such extensions of time for commencing or completing structures as may have been made or granted by the United States may be exercised and enforced by the signatory states which originally authorized the construction No project authorized and constructed under the provisions of this article shall at any time be operated so as to injuriously affect any project for municipal and domestic water supply which has been or may be established under the provisions of this compact Subject to such conditions as the Commission may embody in its approval water for the development of power may be moved from the channel of the Delaware river and carried in a canal or in a pipe to any point below a dam constructed under the provisions of this article but said water shall be returned to the said channel within a distance of twelve miles below the point of removal measured along the center line of said channel and there shall always be maintained in the said channel immediately below the dam such regular and uniform flow of water as the Commission may determine to be reasonable and proper

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President I move to amend Article 10 page 17 by striking out "Articie" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "Article" also page 19 line 17 by striking out "shannel" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "channel"

Article XI of the bill was read as follows and agreed to.

ARTICLE XI

In connection with each and every development made under any provision of this compact there shall be installed and maintained all equipment and apparatus for measuring quantities and rates of water flow the determination of which may be necessary for the purpose of showing that the development or construction is being operated in compliance with the provisions of this compact

Article XII of the bill was read as follows:

ARTICLE XII

In order to put and maintain the waters in the channel of the Delaware river in a condition sanitary and suitable for the uses and purposes set forth by this compact no sewage or industrial waste shall be discharged or permitted to flow into or be placed in or permitted to fall or move into the channel of the Delaware river or into any of its tributaries otherwise than under the following conditions and restrictions

(1) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the channel of the Delaware river above the confluence with the Lehigh river shall within a time reasonable for the construction of the necessary works have been so treated as to remove settleable solids to render the effluent non-putrescible and to effect a reasonable reduction of B Coli Communis

(2) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the channel of the Delaware river below the confluence with the Lehigh river shall within a time reasonable for the construction of the necessary works have been so treated as to at least remove settleable solids and shall be discharged through submerged outlets into said channel provided that such submerged outlets shall be located and constructed as may be required by the Commission and provided further that in order to protect the public health in specific instances such higher degree of treatment shall be used as may be determined to be necessary by the Commission after due notice and hearing

(3) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into any tributary of the Delaware river except the Lehigh river shall be treated to that extent if any which may be necessary to maintain the water of such tributary immediately above its confluence with the Delaware river in a sanitary condition at any time at least equal to the sanitary condition at such time of the water of the Delaware river immediately above such confluence

All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the Lehigh river shall be treated to that extent if any which may be necessary to maintain the water of the Lehigh river immediately above its confluence with the Delaware river in that sanitary condition which the Commission after due notice and hearing shall have determined to be necessary because of the nature and extent of the use of the water of the Delaware river below such confluence provided however that the Commission may not require the sanitary condition of the Lehigh river immediately above its confluence with the Delaware river to exceed that of the sanitary condition of the Delaware river immediately above such confluence

(4) All industrial wastes discharged or permitted to flow into or be placed in or permitted to fall or move into the channel of the Delaware river or any tributary thereof shall first have been treated to such extent if any as may be necessary to maintain in the channel of the Delaware river sanitary conditions equivalent to those which would be attained by the treatment of sewage above required in this article provided nevertheless that industrial wastes containing substances likely in the judgment of the Commission to produce offensive tastes and odors in any public water supply from the channel of the Delaware river shall either be wholly prevented from being discharged or from flowing into from being placed in or permitted to fall or move into said channel or any tributary of the Delaware river or shall first have been treated to such an extent as to wholly eliminate such taste and odor producing constituents

This article shall become effective when any one of the signatory states or any holder of an authorization therefrom shall have begun the work of construction on any project under the provisions of this compact

Nothing in this article shall be construed to repeal or prevent the enactment of any legislation or the enforcement of any requirement by any signatory state imposing any additional conditions and restrictions to lessen or prevent the pollution of streams within their several jurisdictions

In order to maintain the water of any tributary immediately above its confluence with the channel of the Delaware river in a sanitary condition which will meet the requirements set forth in paragraphs (3) and (4) of this article the administrative determination and enforcement of the degree of treatment if any necessary to fulfill such requirements shall be made and undertaken by the proper officer or agent of the state wherein such tributary lies provided however that any other signatory state or any municipality citizen or resident thereof or property owner therein or any holder of any authorization therefrom under this compact shall nevertheless have full right either jointly or severally to sue for the enforcement of any and all of the provisions of this article and for the redress of any injuries which may have resulted by reason of a violation thereof

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move to amend Article 12, Section 2, page 20, line 5, by striking out "setteable" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "settleable".

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the aforesaid compact and every article matter and thing therein contained shall be and the same hereby is fully ratified confirmed and adopted and shall be and ever hereafter remain in force agreeably to the true tenor and intent thereof

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

CHIEF CLERK AUTHORIZED TO INSIST UPON MORE CAREFUL PROOFREADING OF BILLS.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I desire to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that almost every bill that comes up before us has to be corrected on account of typographical errors, misspelling or something of that sort.

I move you that the Chief Clerk be authorized to take the matter up with the State Printer, or whoever may be the proper party, and see if the proofreading cannot be done in a proper manner, so that the work of the Senate can proceed without so many amendments, which means a great deal of additional expense to the State for the reprinting of these bills.

Mr. SNYDER Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume the consideration of Senate Bill No. 47, on final passage, postponed for the present, entitled:

An Act regulating the sale of oysters at retail.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 47, entitled:

An Act regulating the sale of oysters at retail.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28.

Baldwin,	Davis,	Joyce,	Quigley,
Barr,	Derrick,	Kutz,	Schantz,
Baumer,	DeWitt,	Leslie,	Snyder,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

COMMUNICATION FROM PENNSYLVANIA STATE RELATIVE TO VALLEY FORGE.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate the following communication, which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations:

Pennsylvania State Camp
PATRIOTIC ORDER SONS OF AMERICA
Office of State Secretary
1317 North Broad St.

Philadelphia, Pa., February 6, 1925.

To the Governor, Senate and Legislature of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Sirs:---The Patriotic Order Sons of America are vitally interested in Valley Forge, its preservation and its upkeep.

Among the many accomplishments of the Order there is none that stands out more prominently than the part it took in the preservation of Washington's Headquarters at Valley Forge. That sacred edifice was fast going to decay, when a number of patriotic women of Montgomery and Chester Counties resolved to do their utmost to save it, and with this end in view they formed an association and proceeded to raise money by various ways for the purchase of the building, the grounds attached thereto, which was eventually consummated at a cost of $6000, of which amount they paid $3000, leaving a mortgage of $3000. They struggled nobly and bravely to raise the balance in order to lift the mortgage, and finally appealed to the Patriotic Sons of America to aid them in their noble effort. The Executive Committee immediately took the matter up, considered it favorably and at once went to the rescue of the noble band of patriotic women. By the liberal voluntary contribution of the Camps of the order, as well as by individual members of the Order, it was not long before sufficient money was raised, not only to pay off the mortgage, but also to restore the old stone mansion to its original condition when Washington occupied it as near as it was possible to get it, improvements were made from time to time to the grounds, trees were planted, additional ground was acquired, and when finally the State took it from the association to add to the State Park there was no lovelier spot on earth, and it will stand there forever as a monument to the patriotism of the Patriotic Sons of America and the Valley Forge Centennial and Memorial Association.

Hence you will note that the Patriotic Order Sons of America have an interest in this patriotic shrine, "Valley Forge" which is of years standing, and by their work, are in a position to expect and almost demand that the Commonwealth care for it, as a Mother cares for her children.

Our National President, Gabriel H. Moyer sits as the President of the Valley Forge Park Commission, because of the work and service of this Order at Valley Forge..

Ex-Governor Sproul knowing the work rendered by this Order, and at the writers request, (representing the Order), named Mr. Moyer upon the Commission.

The roads at Valley Forge are a disgrace to our State and Nation. Insufficient funds were granted the Commission last year, with the result that the roads there are unfit to travel over. Last summer we hung our head in disgrace, when, we noticed cars from Ohio, Indiana, and Washington trying to get over the roads, only to turn back, (as we had done), in order to save their cars and lives..

A serious situation is developed through somebody's neglect, and it is high time, that we straighten up and take a little more pride in this great patriotic shrine within our State. It is all well and good to conserve funds, and we agree with it, but not at the sacrifice of the pride, and patriotic honor of the State. Sufficient money should be appropriated at this session of the Legislature to put Valley Forge where it has a right to be. We should have perfect roads; good guards; and anything else needed to prove our faith in the Father's; American tradition and dignity.

Nothing short of a million dollars will do this. Let us conserve the funds at Harrisburg, but not at Valley Forge. The old time tradition; the Old Time Americanism must be preserved, even though our political powers cannot agree, and we count on the Legislature and the Executive Department laying down their bitter feelings while they consider the urgent needs of Valley Forge. Our patriotic traditions are of more importance than all other considerations. This is a fine opportunity for the patriots of Pennsylvania to mark time and note who really is 100% American.

Very truly yours,

C. B. HELMS,
Secretary.

ADDRESS OF HONORABLE CHARLES A. SNYDER, STATE TREASURER.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. BUCKMAN,

That Rule 38, which requires reports of committees on nominations made by the Governor to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session, for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations re-ported at to-day's session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. BUCKMAN,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—43.

Aron,	Davis,	Kutz,	Salus,
Baldwin,	Derrick,	Lanius,	Schantz,
Barr,	DeWitt,	Leslie,	Snyder,
Baumer,	Earnest,	MacDade,	Sones,

Buckman,	Heaton,	Norton,	Vare,
Coyne,	Homsher,	Painter,	Weingartner,
Culbertson,	Joyce,	Phipps,	Woodward,
Daix,	Kunkle,	Quigley,

NAYS—0.

Two-thirds of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Governor be informed accordingly.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that the Executive Session do now rise.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

MOTION AUTHORIZING THE PRINTING OF STATE TREASURER'S ADDRESS IN LEGISLATIVE JOURNAL.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the motion I made a few minutes ago that the address of the Honorable Charles A. Snyder, State Treasurer, be printed in the Appendix of the Legislative Journal.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I move to amend the motion by striking out the words "be printed in the Appendix of the Legislative Journal" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "be printed in the Legislative Journal."

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

ADDRESS OF CHARLES A. SNYDER, STATE TREASURER TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

To Members of the General Assembly:

Whether or not, due to changes of law, a communication is still required from the Treasurer to the General Assembly, estimating the expenses and income of the Commonwealth, need not be discussed; the State Treasurer, however, is moved to communicate his views formed from contact with the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth, and to submit the following, to wit:

After reviewing the estimates made by the Auditor General of the Commonwealth relating to the prabable revenues of the government for the next biennium, I am of the opinion that the report should be adopted.

The State Treasurer will here try to follow the sequence of the Governor's address.

PAYING OFF THE DEBT.

After reading the address of Governor Pinchot to the General Assembly at its joint session, January 6, 1925, and his statement on pages 8, 9 and 10—concerning a deficit or appropriation liability of $29,000,000 found upon his induction into office—which has heretofore been repeated in substance in many addresses and other official communications of the Governor I now again in the most emphatic manner, deny that such deficit ever existed and challenge a confirmation of the same from the books of the fiscal officers.

On the other hand, examinations show that Governor Sproul's administration, during his last two years 1921-1922, expended $141,000,000, not including the Bond Road Fund of $43,000,000. Governor Pinchot's administration, in his first two years, 1923-1924, expended $200,000,000, not including the $9,500,000 of Bond Road funds, or a difference of $60,000,000.

If the Governor saved $29,000,000, what has become of it? To whom, for what purpose, when, and how was it paid? If the Governor saved $29,000,000 and applied it to alleged debts, he still expended $21,000,000 more than Governor Sproul, or $33,000 a day in excess.

COAL STRIKE.

The Governor settled the coal strike and, like all other acts committed by His Excellency, it has been an added expense to the Commonwealth, so publicly announced at the time when the price of coal advanced from sixty cents to one dollar per ton, and made a charge against the tax-payers.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE AND FINANCE.

To activities of the Department of State and Finance reviewed on pages 11, 12 and 13 of the Governor's address need comment. My experience has been that the call of the Governor for $333,840, including the publication of the Constitutional Admendments, is a serious matter for consideration, and no appropriation committee should grant excessive amounts for the operation of this or any other department, unless it wishes to see the functions of constitutional fiscal officers duplicated and their rights of a half-century invaded.

BOARD OF PARDONS.

Never in the history of the Commonwealth has a Board of Pardons acted with the freedom it does now. And never have as many prisoners been released with reflections upon the Court that imposed the sentences, nor has the same kind of influence been exerted for the relief of certain kind of prisoners, as during the past two years.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

Under the Department of Public Instruction, it is pertinent to say that the Library, which contains historic records of this Commonwealth as a colony and State, has been permitted under the present Governor to degenerate into a town-library, and the fourteen thousand volumes of history and geneology of the founders, pioneers and builders of this Commonwealth are in the hands of indifferent custodians, who have no care for, nor pride in them; nor do they glory in the priceless pages containing the record of achievments of our ancestors. The Library has become neutralized, is no longer a channel for investigation and research, and is now but a reserve for further information when required by high schools throughout the Commonwealth. It may be interesting to note that for two years no pamphlet, no reports or journals, legal or otherwise, have been bound, but remain secured with red tape in the files.

The cutting of the appropriation to the Universities of Pennsylvania and of Pittsburgh and to State College has worked so great a deterrent to these institutions that a decade of intensive endeavor will not efface the injury committed against them.

BANKING DEPARTMENT.

Reference is made to the Banking Department of which the fees under Governor Sproul's last two years were 382,000 while under the first twenty-three months of Governor Pinchot's administration, they increased to $519,532; and since these fees have been collected from the several State banks examined, and as all expenses of the Banking Department are paid out of the same, it can well be seen how the Governor has increased the number of examiners from thirty-nine to seventy-five without any expense to the State Treasury.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

In 1921, Governor Sproul appropriated to the Department of Agriculture out of the General Fund the sum of $1,576,000. In 1923, Governor Pinchot appropriated $710,000 out of the General Fund, but expended the difference equal to Governor Sproul's administration out of the Dog Fund, which the farmers of the State believed was coming to them to pay the cattle indemnity claims. To justify this action, the Agriculture Department is now seeking legislation to use the entire Dog Fund, which grew $1,588,100, under Pinchot over that of Sproul, and his great fund, derived from fees, is to run the entire Department.

DEPARTMENT OF FORESTS AND WATERS.

Neither under the present administration, nor in fact, under the supervision of the former Commissioner of Forestry, has an acre of land been added to the Forestry Reserve of the Commonwealth. Outside of the added cost of printing, it is impossible to find what addition for the benefit of forestry and waters has accrued to the Commonwealth. To the lay mind, for money expended, it is impossible to learn or to state to the Legislature any inherent improvement to this Department to date. While the planting of young trees is emphasized, together with the fact that the State highways are being complimented by the planting of roadside trees, observation has shown and reports have proven that wherever the Department of Highways builds a road, saving trees is not an added task; and when constructed through mountain pass or woodland, the cutting of the growing timbers is one of the wastes inexplicable. Concerning pollution of waters and efforts to prevent same, these are found to be a duplicate and continuance of the work and policy instituted under former Commissioners of Health.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY.

This Department is reviewed at some length by His Excellency; and as it receives but few fees, must exist and operate from general appropriations. The effect of the Governor's veto power is best exposed here and is expressed in the fact, reported by the former Secretary of Labor and Industry who resigned October 1, 1924, that the inspectors have been decreased in number by two-fifths. Inspection of plants and factories has fallen to one-half. And whatever supervision there is, is without that vigor necessary to conduce safety, protection and care to the health and life of the worker.

This Department exhibits the peculiar attitude of the Governor and some of the members of his Cabinet with regard to economic and industrial activities. There is that parlor socialism which badges itself in the cap-and-blouse of subordinates employed, with the mannerisms of Soviet innovation and a total disregard for a morale and discipline obedient to the call of intelligent control.

WORKMEN'S INSURANCE FUND.

The Workmen's Insurance Fund, perhaps the most unique and most beneficent part of the State Government, and in strongest competition with private enterprise, has been reduced in its numerical force, which may account for a large part of that disapprobation and discouragement in favor of State insurance.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES.

Another Department paid out of the General Fund, and therefore not a subject for congratulation for services rendered to the people by the Governor, is the Department of Mines. He mentions the fact that due to the cuts of appropriations in the Department, mine inspectors work without pay. Officers of the Commonwealth, whose business is to protect the lives of miners and workers and supervise conditions in the mines and collieries must suffer because the Governor knew about this as about most things————? Therefore, until deficits can be provided and "other adjustments could be made"—whatever that is—this most dangerous of all occupations is in part protected by volunteer aid.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH.

In the Department of Health, the cutting of the appropriation for the cure of tuberculosis and for better Housing brought about closed doors at Mont Alto, and interfered largely with the sound policy for the establishment of good health of the people in the Commonwealth. An outraged people virtually forced the Department to reopen Mont Alto, and only recently was the Housing activity of the Department again instituted; and thus is emphasized the Governor's policy of indifference to those Departments where the General Fund appropriations must show his expenditures.

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS.

To the Highway Department, for the last two years of Governor Sproul's administration, there was appropriated out of the General Fund $6,750,000 for State and State-aid highways, and $3,330,000 for expenses, salaries and maintenance of the Department: in all, $10,080,000. Governor Pinchot, on the other hand, cut the appropriation out of the General Fund altogether; and all expenses of the State Highway Department, save alone the salary of the Commissioner of Highways, have been paid and are being paid from the Motor Registration and License Fees Fund, Federal Aid Title and Gasoline fees, amounting to over $60,000,000 for the biennium. This represents half of the income of the Comomnwealth of Pennsylvania, derived for General Fund purposes. It must be noted upon examination of the budget of Governor Pinchot that two-fifths of the Motor Fees of the Highway Department were spent for salaries and expenses of the Department, while under Governor Sproul, all salaries and expenses were paid out of the General Fund. In this way, Governor Pinchot takes credit for the saving of $10,000,000 in this Department over Governor Sproul.

It is also worth while to say that, of over $7,000,000 collected in Motor Fees of 1925 prior to January 1, 1925, $6,000,000 were expended by Governor Pinchot in 1924; and approximately $13,000,000 was expended out of Motor License Fees for 1924-1925 for the construction of State and State-aid highways, which should be charged to the State Bond Road Fund. The latter Fund is exhausted, and the Governor has borrowed against the time when Bond Road money might be available.

This practice leads to serious controversy because to date no one, not even the Commissioner of Highways, knows how much of the $13,000,000 borrowed and expended may be charged to the primary, or State-aid road. The Governor also arbitrarily increased the salary-roll of the State Highway Department at least $35,000 per annum, and just as arbitrarily paid other expenses. This should be corrected. In the amounts asked for the next biennium, the Legislature should not permit the Governor to borrow the entire $50,000,000 of the proposed Road Bond issue; and he should be confined by distinct allocation how he and the Department may properly expend the portion of the Road Bond moneys and the $60,000,000 in fees.

Attention is called to the condition of the Commonwealth two years ago, when His Excellency insisted that he had to cut all appropriations to the bone, and to that of today, when he asks the stupendous sum of $238,000,000 or $97,000,000 more than Governor Sproul's last two years' expenditures, which totalled $141,000,000. This is a total of $157,000,000 over Governor Sproul's entire four years.

DIVISIONS OF PUBLICATIONS.

The publication of documents is a serious business of the State, and as the law now stands, the Governor can and does suppress reports he does not care to have made public. To suit his ends, he can defer the printing of any report of any Department so long that the purpose of publishing the report is absolutely useless. The Governor has arbitrarily refused to print parts of a report of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, an elective officer, because of alleged inaccuracy. He has, in that most adroit and maladroit publication called "The Budget", exercised his abritrary power to print portions, parts, to change consequential sequences of a report, and so executed the manner of a report, that the Department which furnished the report may be exposed to criticism, misapprehension, and condemnation.

The extraordinary example of the Governor's discretion as to printing the budget stands alone. Ten thousand copies have been ordered by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the cost of which in preparation, mailing and printing, will be to the State no less than $15,000. The Governor's address, printed in a quantity of twelve thousand copies at his own expense, furnishes an example of the sort of privilege of which he avails himself. This privilege, abuse and made the channel for the exploitations of the Governor's promises, performances, and the notification of the same to the whole country, should be checked and checked hard by the General Assembly.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE POLICE.

The Pennsylvania State Police, a Department not long since a pass-word for security, order and law, now degenerated into a dual body of police, one under Major Adams, an officer and soldier of high order, the other unit of secret police under a nondescript, a stranger called Major Wright, calls for the serious attention of the General Assembly. The latter unit, paid out of the public funds and part of private contributions to the Governor, creates a personal exercise of government, which means a subversion of established and lawful authority; and this, together with the pledge of the Governor to pardon any agent or police who violates the law to enforce the enforcement laws, is a subject for diligent investigation by the General Assembly. And in such investigation might well be included an inquiry how, to whom and in what sums contributions have been received for the prosecution of persons violating the Enforcement Act, and how to restrain these insidious agencies for executive aggrandizement.

DEPARTMENT OF FISH AND GAME.

The two Department of Fish and Game for the past two years, under the administration of Governor Pinchot, have received in fees $474,000 for fish and $1,192,369 for game. Under the last two years of the Sproul administration, these Departments received in fees $207,421 for fish and $1,083,060 for game, or an increase for the Pinchot administration of $266,579 for fish and $109,309 for game. The Legislature will readily see how improvements can be made out of these fees, and as they are entirely under the jurisdiction of the Governor and no expense to the General Fund, the Governor may claim to you that it means no expense to the Treasury, but it does to the people; therefore, his one hundred per cent. credit means naught.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION.

The powers of the Public Service Commission were trespassed upon by the Governor,—a virtual command was made to rescind a unanimous order of the Commission upon a matter heard before it. This was met by the refusal of the Commission. A superinvestigation, by a non-electoral was then ordered by the Governor, in order to bring about a conclusion differnt from that found by the Commission. A resigned followed, with a protest that the Governor had usurped a judicial power. The General Assembly should attend to a non-recurrence of this interference.

DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE.

For the Department of Welfare the Governor claims many things, forgetting to state that under it, during the past two years, murders, arson, felonious escapes have occurred from the several penitentiaries, mutiny against authority, rebellion against overseers, protest against discipine, have had daily press headlines for many weeks. I submit that these have been caused in part by the propaganda issued by the Governor's publicity bureau, that conditions in State institutions were insufferable and that his new laws were the panacea. The penitentiaries have been made open doors from which prisoners march into interior counties, and march back again. Public note through facile publicity has been made of the strong effort under this administration to cure prison evils, but nothing said that every such effort has been attended with an increased expense to the several counties of $3 per week per prisoner.

Of course, it must be admitted that the Governor hastily visited some institutions, and behold! the convict insurrections ceased, and quiet and peace have been restored. Although insane asylums have been overcrowded, exchanges of patients have been restored to, crimes committed against children, food riots by imbeciles have occurred, and changes of superintendents have taken place, yet we are told that the Governor's look has changed all this, and we are assured that all is well in the dominion. However, reports have reached the fiscal officers of the State complaining of food shortage, clothing shortage, and of denial of the most primitive conveniences; hospitals and homes have been subject to the adoption of book-keeping systems, expensive and necessarily in charge of additional clerks. In institutions where females are inmates, young girls have given birth to children, and a general demoralization has affected the Welfare Department's underbody, so that the demand for one lump sum for the various institutions, to be placed at the disposal of the head of the Welfare Department—which means the Governor—should be neither tolerated nor conceded. The General Assembly should indicated how much money each and every hospital and institution should receive, and in what manner and for what purpose each and every dollar should be expended.

EXECUTIVE BOARD.

The Executive Board is the one activity of the Administration which harks back to feudal days and monarchial times. This body creates offices and classifies them, fixes salaries, policies, establishes systems, and in fact moulds the whole administration of the State Government, according to the mind of His Excellency, the Governor. His all power has been partially confirmed by the Supreme Court with regard to counsel for the elective offices. The Governor has brought hundreds of employees, non electors, non-residents, and some not even citizens of the United States, into the Commonwealth's employ. He has assigned them to high places, with altisonant titles, with comprehensive power, with super-oaths of loyalty to the person and policies of the Governor. Because of their relations with none but his Excellency, a natural aloofness from the people and their interests is evident, and the impossibility of securing proper information from any of the offices, institutions or activities over which these new employees prevail is apparent. This immigration by Executive solicitation, and the import of the same, should not be overlooked by the General Assembly.

"THE OPEN DOOR."

The "open door" is marked for attention by the Legislature. Observation and observation again by the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth has proven that all that exists about "the open door" is that it is still open.

SALARIES AND DEFICIENCIES.

Notice should also be taken that on page 12 of the Governor's message, he claims a reduction of salaries by $1,372,000 per annum. To this, I make reply, to wit:

The Governor of Pennsylvania has increased the salaries of the employees of the State $4,500,000 in two years. This does not include the salaries of the officers and employees of the several State institutions under the control of the Department of Welfare.

The Governor also claims there are no deficiencies. He now calls the "unappropriated balances" and "reimbursements". The books of the State Treasury show deficiencies in the several hospitals, penitentiaries, and homes amounting to over $1,000,000 and that up to December 1, 1924, sixty-semi-State Hospitals had exhausted their appropriations. Four State Hospitals were without any funds, and all the institutions of the State were suffering for want of proper appointments and repairs. It is estimated that to bring State institutions of all kinds to pre-Pinchot conditions will require at least $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

It is also suggested that the humanity of this Administration is noteworthy. Permit me to draw your attention to the fact that women are put to work with pick and shovel at homes and institutions, and women are compelled to work for $40 to $60 per month in some of the departments. Discharges of modest men and women because their friends have been termed "politicians" are frequent. The sanitary arrangements in some of the buildings would not be permitted by the State itself in a private institution; and the cold indifference and the patronizing of and supervision over men and women cannot be equalled anywhere in any factory, plant or shop in the Commonwealth.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

It is strongly recommended that the Legislature immediately inquire into the financial statement of the fiscal officers. This may be done within the next two weeks, and the statement either confirmed or rejected. It may be important to state that in the last two years, the Auditor General, the Governor and the State Treasurer have each had a corps of expert accountants, costing in total amount the combined salaries of these three State officers. Therefore, this question should be settled now, and in the right way, by this General Assembly.

The Legislature should also consider the repeated instances of the Governor's manner of administration, with particular attention to pages 1, 2, 3 and 4 of his address to the General Assembly, because of the extraneous matter therein contained, and the stigmatic presentments reflecting upon the memory, reputation and character of United States Senators, Governors, Justice of Courts, Members of the General Assembly, the Church and its worshippers, of the Military, its officers and soldiers, the universities, colleges and schools, and the many hundreds of officials and clerks of the Government of Pennsylvania who have been reproached and opprobriously accused through

"A lust no power can tame,
For loudly publishing our neighbor's shame."

The usurpation of privileges and arrogance of Executive power emphasizes the attitude of the Governor and magnifies his cast of mind and self-adulation. His practice of accusing the entire bodypolitic, and abasing to dusty levels all civic ideals prior to his advent, and how now a quickened public conscience has caused him to lead it to a perfect State; his theatrical attendance at State institutions, and the heraled revelations how his presence soothed and quieted resentment and hate, and brought peace; his apersions upon the three constitutional officers of the Commonwealth and his attempted assumption of their functions; and his artful propoganda concerning their duty and service have created a mistrust and a suspicion against our Government that works the undoing of a people. His proclamation of leagues and treaties with other Commonwealths, his proposed control and survey of great water and other natural resources, and the establishment of giant power stations and the inauguration of great public utilities, in language royal and imperialistic; his grasp for fame by linking Roosevelt's name with his numerous official acts, consummates an exaggerated egoism which may be best expressed in the language of a historical autocrat who said:

"L'etat, c'est moi"——I am the State!

Because this address has been officially emphasized by the proposed publication of twelve thousand copies throughout the Commonwealth and Nation, and of ten thousand copies of "The Budget", an irretrievable obloquy has been thrown upon the State of Pennsylvania, its record, its whole people. This unseemly official censure and arraignment of the State, and the arrogance exhibited on pages 1, 2, 3 and 4 of his address, stress the invasion of official prerogative and abuse of a privilege which may be cured only by expunging from the record of legislative procedure so scandalous an indictment against our Commonwealth.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

In the House of Representatives, February 9, 1925.

Resolved, That when the House of Representatives adjourns this evening, it do so in respect to the memory of the late Hon. J. Denny O'Neil of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, former Insurance Commissioner and former State Highway Commissioner of the Commonwealth.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, February 9, 1925.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ladies and Gentlemen: If it meets with the approval of the General Assembly I should like to address the members in joint session on Tuesday, February tenth, nineteen hundred and twenty-five, at twelve o'clock noon.

If for any reason this cannot be conveniently arranged, I would be glad to address you at some other time.

GIFFORD PINCHOT.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I move the request of the Governor be granted, and that a committee of two be appointed to wait upon the Senate and inform them of this request, and in conjunction with the Senate committee, notify the Governor.

Mr. STERLING. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee on behalf of the House the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Harer, and the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Burd P. Evans.

ADDRESS OF THE STATE TREASURER.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the address of the State Treasurer, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Treasury Department,
Harrisburg, February 9, 1925.

Hon. Thomas Bluett, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Sir: I herewith transmit my Address to the General Assembly of Pennsylvania concerning the State's finances, etc., and which is respectfully submitted for the Assembly's consideration.

CHAS. A. SNYDER,
State Treasurer.

To the Members of the General Assembly:

Whether or not, due to changes of law, a communication is still required from the State Treasurer to the General Assembly, estimating the expenses and income of the Commonwealth; need not be discussed; the State Treasurer, however, is moved to communicate his views formed from contact with the fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth, and to submit the following, to wit:

After reviewing the estimates made by the Auditor General of the Commonwealth relating to the probable revenues of the government for the next biennium, I am of the opinion that the report should be adopted.

The State Treasurer will here try to follow the sequence of the Governor's address.

PAYING OFF THE DEBT.

After reading the address of Governor Pinchot to the General Assembly at its joint session, January 6, 1925, and his statement on pages 8, 9 and 10—concerning a deficit or appropriation liability of $29,000,000. found upon his induction into office—which has heretofore been repeated in substance in many addresses and other official communications of the Governor, I now again, in the most emphatic manner; deny that such defict ever existed, and challenge a confirmation of the same from the books of the fiscal officers.

On the other hand, examinations show that Governor Sproul's administration, during his last two years, 1921-1922, expended $141,000,000., not including the Bond Road Fund of $43,000,000. Governor Pinchot's administration, in his first two years, 1923-1924, expended $200,000,000., not including the $9,500,000. of Bond Road funds, or a difference of $60,000,000.

If the Governor saved $29,000,000., what has become of it? To whom, for what purpose, when, and how was it paid? If the Governor saved $29,000,000. and applied it to alleged debts, he still expended $21,000,000. more than Governor Sproul, or $33,000. a day in excess.

COAL STRIKE.

The Governor settled the coal strike and, like all other acts committed by His Excellency, it has been an added expense to the Commonwealth, so publicly announced at the time when the price of coal advanced from sixty cents to one dollar per ton, and made a charge against the tax-payers.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE AND FINANCE.

The activities of the Department of State and Finance reviewed on pages 11, 12 and 13 of the Governor's address need comment.

My experience has been that the call of the Governor for $333,840., including the publication of the Constitutional Amendments, is a serious matter for consideration, and no appropriation committee should grant excessive amounts for the operation of this or any other department, unless it wishes to see the functions of constitutional fiscal officers duplicated, and their rights of a half-century invaded.

BOARD OF PARDONS

Never in the history of the Commonwealth has a Board of Pardons acted with the freedom it does now. And never have as many prisoners been released with reflections upon the Court that imposed the sentences, nor has the same kind of influence been exerted for the relief of certain kind of prisoners, as during the past two years.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

Under the Department of Public Instruction, it is pertinent to say that the Library, which contains historic records of this Commonwealth as a colony and State, has been permitted under the present Governor to degenerate into a town library, and the fourteen thousand volumes of history and genealogy of the founders, pioneers and builders of this Commonwealth are in the hands of indifferent custodians, who have no care for, nor pride in them; nor do they glory in the priceless pages containing the record of achievements of our ancestors. The Library has become neutralized, is no longer a channel for investigation and research, and is now but a reserve for further information when required by high schools throughout the Commonwealth. It may be interesting to note that for two years no pamphlet, no reports or journals, legal or otherwise, have been bound, but remain secured with red tape in the files.

The cutting of the appropriation to the Universities of Pennsylvania and of Pittsburgh and to State College has worked so great a deterrent to these institutions that a decade of intensive endeavor will not efface the injury committed against them.

BANKING DEPARTMENT

Reference is made to the Banking Department, of which the fees under Governor Sprouls' last two years were $382,000., while under the first twenty-three months of Governor Pinchot's administration, they increased to $519,532; and since these fees have been collected from the several State banks examined, and as all expenses of the Banking Department are paid out of the same, it can well be seen how the Governor has increased the number of examiners from thirty-nine to seventy-five without any expense to the State Treasury.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

In 1921, Governor Sproul appropriated to the Department of Agriculture out of the General Fund the sum of $1,576,000. In 1923, Governor Pinchot appropriated $710,000. out of the General Fund, but expended the difference equal to Governor Sproul's administration out of the Dog Fund, which the farmers of the State believed was coming to them to pay the cattle indemnity claims. To justify this action, the Agriculture Department is now seeking legislation to use the entire Dog fund, which grew $1,588,100. under Pinchot over that of Sproul, and this great fund, derived from fees, is to run the entire Department.

DEPARTMENT OF FORESTS AND WATERS

Neither under the present administration, nor, in fact, under the supervision of the former Commissioner of Forestry, has an acre of land been added to the Forestry Reserve of the Commonwealth. Outside of the added cost of printing, it is impossible to find what addition for the benefit of forestry and waters has accrued to the Commonwealth. To the lay mind, for money expended, it is impossible to learn or to state to the Legislature any inherent improvement to this Department to date. While the planting of young trees is emphasized, together with the fact that the State highways are being complimented by the planting of roadside trees, observation has shown and reports have proven that wherever the Department of Highways builds a road, saving trees is not an added task; and when constructed through mountain pass or woodland, the cutting of the growing timber is one of the wastes inexplicable. Concerning pollution of waters and efforts to prevent same, these are found to be a duplication and continuance of the work and policy instituted under former Commissioners of Health.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR AND INDUSTRY

This Department is reviewed at some length by His Excellency; and as it receives but few fees, must exist and operate from general appropriations. The effect of the Governor's veto power is best exposed here and is expressed in the fact, reported by the former Secretary of Labor and Industry who resigned October 1, 1924, that the inspectors have been decreased in number by two-fifths. Inspection of plants and factories has fallen to one-half. And what ever supervision there is, is without that vigor necessary to conduce safety, protection and care to the health and life of the worker.

This Department exhibits the peculiar attitude of the Governor and some of the members of his Cabinet with regard to economic and industrial activities. There is that parlor socialism which badges itself in the cap-and-blouse of subordinates employed, with the mannerisms of Soviet innovation, and total disregard for a morale and discipline obedient to the call of intelligent control.

WORKMEN'S INSURANCE FUND.

The Workmen's Insurance Fund, perhaps the most unique and most beneficent part of the State Government, and in strongest competition with private enterprise, has been reduced in its numercial force, which may account for a large part of that disapprobation and discouragement in favor of State insurance.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES.

Another Department paid out of the General Fund, and therefore not a subject for congratulation for services rendered to the people by the Governor, is the Department of Mines. He mentions the fact that due to the cuts of appropriations in the Department, mine inspectors work without pay. Officers of the Commonwealth, whose business is to protect the lives of miners and workers and supervise conditions in the mines and collieries, must suffer because the Governor knew about this, as about most things————? Therefore, until deficits can be provided and "other adjustments could be made"—whatever that is—this most dangerous of all occupations is in part protected by volunteer aid.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH.

In the Department of Heatlh, the cutting of the appropriation for the cure of tuberculosis and for better Housing brought about closed doors at Mount Alto, and interferred largely with the sound policy for the establishment of good health of the people in the Commonwealth. An outraged people virtually forced the Department to reopen Mont Alto, and only recently was the Housing activity of the Department again instituted; and thus is emphasized the Governor's policy of indifference to those Departments where the General Fund appropriations must show his expenditures.

DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS.

To the Highway Department, for the last two years of Governor Sproul's administration, there was appropriated out of the General Fund $6,750,000. for State and State-aid highways, and $3,330,000. for expenses, salaries and maintenance of the Department; in all, $10,080,000. Governor Pinchot, on the other hand, cut the appropriation out of the General Fund altogether; and all expenses of the State Highway Department, save alone the salary of the Commissioner of Highways, have been paid and are being paid from the Motor Registration and License Fees Fund, Federal Aid, Title and Gasoline fees amounting to over $60,000,000. for the biennium. This represents half of the income of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, derived for General Fund purposes. It must be noted upon examination of the budget of Governor Pinchot that two-fifths of the Motor Fees of the Highway Department were spent for salaries and expenses of the Department, while under Governor Sproul, all salaries and expenses were paid out of the General Fund. In this way, Governor Pinchot takes credit for the saving of $10,000,000. in this Department over Governor Sproul.

It is also worth while to say that, of over $7,000,000. collected in Motor Fees of 1925 prior to January 1, 1925, $6,000,000. were expended by Governor Pinchot in 1924; and approximately $13,000,000. was expended out of Motor License Fees for 1924-1925 for the construction of State and State-aid highways, which should be charged to the State Bond Road Fund. The latter Fund is exhausted, and the Governor has borrowed against the time when Bond Road money might be available.

This practice leads to serious controversy because to date no one, not even the Commisisoner of Highways, knows how much of the $13,000,000. borrowed and expended may be charged to the primary, or State-aid, road. The Governor also arbitrarily increased the salary-roll of the State Highway Department at least $35,000. per annum, and just as arbitrarily paid other expenses. This should be corrected. In the amounts asked for the next biennium, the Legislature should not permit the Governor to borrow the entire $50,000,000. of the proposed Road Bond issue; and he should be confined by distinct allocation how he and the Department may properly expend the portion of the Road Bond moneys and the $60,000,000. in fees.

Attention is called to the condition of the Commonwealth two years ago, when His Excellency insisted that he had to cut all appropriations to the bone, and to that of today, when he asks the stupendous sum of $238,000,000. or $97,000,000. more than Governor Sproul's last two years' expenditures, which totalled $141,000,000. This is a total of $157,000,000. over Governor Sproul's entire four years.

DIVISION OF PUBLICATIONS.

The publication of documents is a serious business of the State, and as the law now stands, the Governor can and does suppress reports he does not care to have made public. To suit his ends, he can defer the printing of any report of any Department so long that the purpose of publishing the report is absolutely useless. The Governor has arbitrarily refused to print parts of a report of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, an elective officer, because of alleged inaccuracy. He has, in that most adroit and maladroit publication called "The Budget", exercised his arbitrary power to print portions, parts, to change consequential sequences of a report, and so executed the manner of a report, that the Department which furnished the report may be exposed to criticism, misapprehension, and condemnation.

The extraordinary example of the Governor's discretion as to printing the budget stands alone. Ten thousand copies have been ordered by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the cost of which in preparation, mailing and printing, will be to the State no less than $15,000. The Governor's address, printed in a quantity of twelve thousand copies at his own expense, furnishes an example of the sort of privilege of which he avails himself. This privilege, abused and made the channel for the exploitations of the Governor's promises, performances, and the notification of the same to the whole country, should be checked and checked hard by the General Assembly.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE POLICE.

The Pennsylvania State Police, a Department not long since a pass-word for security, order and law, now degenerated into a dual body of police, one under Major Adams, an officer and soldier of high order, the other a unit of secret police under a nondescript, a stranger called Major Wright, calls for the serious attention of the General Assembly. The latter unit, paid in part out of the public funds part out of private contributions to the Governor, creates a personal exercise of government, which means a subversion of established and lawful authority; and this, together with the pledge of the Governor to pardon any agent or police who violates the law to enforce the enforcement laws, is a subject for diligent investigation by the General Assembly. And in such investigation might well be included an inquiry how, to whom and in what sums contributions have been received for the prosecution of persons violating the Enforcement Act, and how to restrain these insidious agencies for executive aggrandizement.

DEPARTMENT OF FISH AND GAME.

The two Departments of Fish and Game for the past two years, under the administration of Governor Pinchot, have received in fees $474,000. for fish and $1,192,369. for game. Under the last two years of the Sproul administration, these Departments received in fees $207,421. for fish and $1,083,060. for game, or an increase for the Pinchot administration of $266,579. for fish and $109,309. for game. The Legislature will readily see how improvements can be made out of these fees, and as they are entirely under the jurisdiction of the Governor and no expense to the General Fund, the Governor may claim to you that it means no expense to the Treasury, but it does to the people; therefore, his one hundred per cent. credit means naught.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

The powers of the Public Service Commission were trespassed upon by the Governor,—a virtual command was made to rescind a unanimous order of the Commission upon a matter heard before it. This was met by the refusal of the Commission. A super-investigation, by a non-elector, was then ordered by the Governor, in order to bring about a conclusion different from that found by the Commission. A resignation followed, with a protest that the Governor had usurped a judicial power. The General Assembly should attend to a non-recurrence of this interference.

DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE

For the Department of Welfare the Governor claims many things, forgetting to state that under it, during the past two years, murders, arson, felonious escapes have occurred from the several penitentiaries; mutiny against authority, rebellion against overseers, protest against discipline, have had daily press headlines for many weeks. I submit that these have been caused in part by the propaganda issued by the Governor's publicity bureau, that conditions in State institutions were insufferable and that his new laws were the panacea. The penitentiaries have been made open doors from which prisoners march into interior counties, and march back again. Public note through facile publicity has been made of the strong effort under this administration to cure prison evils, but nothing said that every such effort has been attended with an increased expense to the several counties of $3 per week per prisoner.

Of course, it must be admitted that the Governor hastily visited some institutions, and behold! the convict insurrections ceased, and quiet and peace have been restored. Although insane asylums have been overcrowded, exchanges of patients have been resorted to, crimes committed against children, food riots by imbeciles have occurred, and changes of superintendents have taken place, yet we are told that the Governor's look has changed all this, and we are assured that all is well in the dominion. However, reports have reached the fiscal officers of the State complaining of food shortage, clothing shortage, and of denial of the most primitive conveniences; hospitals and homes have been subjected to the adoption of book-keeping systems, expensive and necessarily in charge of additional clerks. In institutions where females are inmates, young girls have given birth to children, and a general demoralization has affected the Welfare Department's underbody, so that the demand for one lump sum for the various institutions, to be placed at the disposal of the head of the Welfare Department——which means the Governor——should be neither tolerated nor conceded. The General Assembly should indicate how much money each and every hospital and institution should receive, and in what manner and for what purpose each and every dollar should be expended.

EXECUTIVE BOARD.

The Executive Board is the one activity of the Administration which harks back to feudal days and monarchical times. This body creates offices and classifies them, fixes salaries, policies, establishes systems, and in fact moulds the whole administration of the state Government, according to the mind of His Excellency, the Governor. His all power has been partially confirmed by the Supreme Court with regard to counsel for the elective offices. The Governor has brought hundreds of employes, non electors, non-residents, and some not even citizens of the United States, into the Commonwealth's employ. He has assigned them to high places, with altisonant titles, with comprehensive power, with superoaths of loyalty to the person and policies of the Governor. Because of their relations with none but his Excellency, a natural aloofness from the people and their interests is evident, and the impossibility of securing proper information from any of the offices, institutions or activities over which these new employees prevail is apparent. This immigration by Executive solicitation, and the import of the same, should not be overlooked by the General Assembly.

"THE OPEN DOOR."

The "open door" is marked for attention by the Legislature. Observation and observation again by the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth has proven that all that exists about "the open door" is that it is still open.

SALARIES AND DEFICIENCIES.

Notice should also be taken that on page 12 of the Governor's message, he claims a reduction of salaries by $1,372,000. per annum. To this, I make reply, to wit:

The Governor of Pennsylvania has increased the salaries of the employees of the State $4,500,000. in two years. This does not include the salaries of the officers and employees of the several State institutions under the control of the Department of Welfare.

The Governor also claims there are no deficiencies. He now calls them "unappropriated balances" and "reimbursements". The books of the State Treasury show deficiencies in the several hospitals, penitentiaries, and homes amounting to over $1,000,000., and that up to December 1, 1924, sixty-semi-State Hospitals had exhausted their appropriations. Four State Hospitals were without any funds, and all the institutions of the State were suffering for want of proper appointments and repairs. It is estimated that to bring State institutions of all kinds to pre-Pinchot conditions will require at least $15,000,000, to $20,000,000.

It is also suggested that the humanity of this Administration is noteworthy. Permit me to draw your attention to the fact that women are put to work with pick and shovel at homes and institutions, and women are compelled to work for $40. to $60. per month in some of the departments. Discharges of modest men and women because their friends have been termed "politicians" are frequent. The sanitary arrangements in some of the buildings would not be permitted by the State itself in a private institution; and the cold indiffereuce and the patronizing of and supervision over men and women cannot be equalled anywhere in any factory, plant or shop in the Commonwealth.

RECOMMENDATIONS

It is strongly recommended that the Legislature immediately inquire into the financial statement of the fiscal officers. This may be done within the next two weeks, and the statement either confirmed or rejected. It may be important to state that in the last two years, the Auditor General, the Governor and the State Treasurer have each had a corps of expert accountants, costing in total amount the combined salaries of these three State officers. Therefore, this question should be settled now, and in the right way, by this General Assembly.

The Legislature should also consider the repeated instances of the Governor's manner of administration, with particular attention to pages 1, 2, 3 and 4 of his address to the General Assemly, because of the extraneous matter therein contained, and the stigmatic presentments reflecting upon the memory, reputation and character of United States Senators, Governors, Justice of Courts, Members of the General Assembly, the Church and its worshippers, of the Military, its officers and soldiers, the universities, colleges and schools, and the many hundreds of officials and clerks of the Government of Pennsylvania who have been reproached and opprobriously accused through

"A lust no power can tame,
For loudly publishing our neighbor's shame."

The usurpation of privileges and arrogance of Executive power emphasizes the attitude of the Governor and magnifies his cast of mind and self-adulation. His practice of accusing the entire body-politic, and abasing to dusty levels all civic ideals prior to his advent, and how now a quickened public conscience has caused him to lead it to a perfect State; his theatrical attendance at State institutions, and the heralded revelations how his presence soothed and quieted resentment and hate, and brought peace; his aspersions upon the three constitutional officers of the Commonwealth and his attempted assumption of their functions; and his artful propaganda concerning their duty and service have created a mistrust and a suspicion against our Government that works the undoing of a people. His proclamation of leagues and parties with other Commonwealths; his proposed control and survey of great water and other natural resources, and the estab lishment of giant power stations and the inauguration of great public utilities, in language royal and imperialistic; his grasp for fame by linking Roosevelt's name with his numerous official acts, consummates an exaggerated egoism which may be best expressed in the language of a historical autocrat who said:

"L'etat, c'est moi"——I am the State!

Because this address has been officially emphasized by the proposed publication of twelve thousand copies throughout the Commonwealth and Nation, and of ten thousand copies of "The Budget", an irretrievable obloquy has been thrown upon the State of Pennsylvania, its record, its whole people. This unseemly official censure and arraignment of the State, and the arrogance exhibited on pages ,1, 2, 3 and 4 of his address, stress the invasion of official prerogative and abuse of a privilege which may be cured only by expunging from the record of elgislative procedure so scandalous an indictment against our Commonwealth.

NAYS—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 51, as follows:

An Act to amend section ten of an act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and three) entitled "An act creating the office of county controller in counties of this Commonwealth containing one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and over prescribing his duties and abolishing the office of county auditor in said counties" by changing the amount at which contracts must be advertised in counties of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth classes

act creating the office of county controller in counties of this Commonwealth containing one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and over prescribing his duties and abolishing the office of county auditor in said counties" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 10 That from and after the passage of this act all contracts made by the commissioners in counties of the first, second, third, fourth and fifth classes involving an expenditure exceeding one hundred dollars shall be in writing and shall immediately after their execution be filed with the controller but no contract shall be made nor the payment thereof certified by the controller for over five hundred dollars unless when made with the lowest and best bidder after due notice to be published by the controller when directed by the commisioners if he approve the purpose of the proposals invited all bids to be received by the controller under seal and to be in his presence opened by the commissioners and the contracts awarded of which awards the controller shall keep a record and he shall certify no warrants for contracts not made agreeably thereto

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. HOLTZMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 45, entitled:

An Act to amend section fifty-seven of the act approved the twenty-third day of May, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, (P. L. 230), entitled "An act dividing the cities of this state into three classes; regulating the passage of ordinances; providing for contracts for supplies and work for said cities; authorizing the increase of indebtedness, and the creation of a sinking fund to redeem the same; defining and punishing certain offences in all of said cities, and providing for the incorporation and government of cities of the third class," providing for the acceptance of said act by certain cities of the third class; providing for the election of certain city officers, and members of city council in such cities; and fixing the time when the terms of members of councils and certain city officers then in office shall cease and be terminated.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

The SPEAKER. Will the House given unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second readnig and consideration of House Bill No. 193, entitled:

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That where heretofor any act has been done or transfer or conveyance of any property been made to or by any corporation created or intended to be created by virtue of the provisions of the act of Assembly approved April twenty-ninth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four or its supplements in good faith after the issuing of letters patent and before the actual record of the certificate such acts transfers and conveyances shall after said certificate has been duly recorded as provided in the said act be deemed and taken to be valid and effectual for all purposes Provided This act shall not effect any proceeding now pending

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, Page 1, line 10 by striking out the word "record" and inserting in lieu thereof "recording".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to as follows:

An Act to validate acts done by corporations before the recording of their charters

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 194, entitled.

An Act to further amend section three of an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws sixty-five) entitled "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" as amended by providing that the vote shall be counted by the Court of Quarter Sessions

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section three of an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws sixty-five) entitled "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" which was amended by section one of an act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws one thousand forty-two) entitled "An act to further amend section three of an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws sixty-five) entitled 'An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof' by designating the place for the holding of elections for the purpose of increasing indebtedness of independent school districts" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 3 The indebtedness of any county city borough township school district or other municipality or incorporated district in this Commonwealth may be authorized to be increased to an amount exceeding two per centum and not exceeding seven per centum upon the last preceding assessed valuation of the taxable property therein with the assent of the electors thereof duly obtained at a public election to be held in the said district or municipality Whenever the corporate authorities of any county city borough township school or other municipality or incorporated district by their ordinance or vote shall have signified a desire to make such increase of indebtedness they shall give notice during at least thirty days by weekly advertisements in the newspapers not exceeding three in said district and if no newspapers be published therein by at least twenty printed handbills posted in the most public parts thereof of an election to be held at the place or places of holding the municipal elections in said district or municipality on a day to be by them fixed for the purpose of obtaining the assent of the electors thereof to such increase of indebtedness

RESOLUTION GRANTING LEAVE OF ABSENCE TO MR. JOHN H. FERTIG.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, February 9, 1925.

Whereas, By reason of his conscientious labor in assisting in the work of the General Assembly, John H. Fertig, the Asistant Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, has suffered a breakdown in health and is now in a much weakened physical condition, but persists in giving his time and strength to the discharge of his duties at the risk of permanently impairing his health; therefore be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That a leave of absence of two weeks, to commence immediately upon the adoption of this resolution, be granted by the General Assembly to John H. Fertig, Esq., Assistant Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, in order to give him an opportunity to regain his health.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, in accordance with the resolution previously adopted this evening, I move that the House do now adjourn, out of respect to the memory of Hon. J. Denny O'Neil, until tomorrow at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 10:50 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned until Tuesday, February 10, 1925, at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1925. No. 10.

SENATE

TUESDAY, February 10th, 1925.

The Senate met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God: Our Lord Jesus Christ taught his disciples to pray, "Give us this day our daily bread", and by this He showed them that they were to live a day at a time. Thus would we live. We cannot see into the future; a curtain hangs athwart our pathway. We do not know what an hour may bring forth; but Thou knowest, for Thou art the Lord of all time, past, present and future; and we are in Thy divine care and keeping. Thou hast watched over us in the days that are gone; Thou art providing for this day, and so we will trust Thee for tomorrow. May this blessed confidence cheer us all along life's pathway, and may we ever strive to serve and to glorify Thee. For Jesus' sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. LESLIE, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate resumed consideration of Senate Bill No. 202, as follows:

An Act in relation to the procedure in certain classes of cases in which there is raised a question as to the jurisdiction of a court of first instance over the defendant or the cause of action for which suit is brought and authorizing appeals from the preliminary decision of such questions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That wherever in any proceeding at law or in equity the question of jurisdiction over the defendant or of the cause of action for which suit is brought is raised in the court of first instance it shall be preliminarily determined by the court upon the pleadings or with depositions as the case may require and the decision may be appealed to the Supreme Court or the Superior Court as in cases of final judgments

Section 2 All such preliminary questions shall be raised by petition setting forth the facts relied upon whereupon a rule to show cause shall be granted and such preliminary question disposed of by the court Such procedure shall be deemed de bene esse only and shall not operate as a general appearance

Section 3 The appeal here provided for must be taken and perfected within fifteen days from the date when the decision is rendered shall be made returnable on the third Monday after it is taken and shall be placed by the appellate court at the head of its argument list for civil cases to be heard at the earliest date consistent with its rules governing the presentation of appeals Provided that as to decision made prior to the approval of this act the fifteen days limitation shall not begin to run until after the date of its approval A failure to appeal within the time specified will be deemed a waiver of all objections to jurisdiction over the defendant personally

Section 4 The right of appeal here conferred is not intended to cover questions of jurisdiction which go to the form of the action alone as between law and equity such as provided for in the Act of June seven one thousand nine hundred and seven Pamphlet Laws four hundred and forty

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President and fellow Senators, before you vote upon the bill now under consideration, No. 202, I feel that possibly an explanation should be made as to its purpose. It is to cure what seems to be a defect in the practice before the courts of law on the equity side. This is a little technical, but I think that the reason for the presentation of this bill should be spread upon the minutes of this body; and I have a brief memorandum which I should like to read to you. It is as follows:

Before the passage of the Practice Act of 1915 the question of jurisdiction over a defendant or cause of action was raised in the following manner:

(a) If the record of the case showed that the court had not acquired jurisdiction a rule to set aside the service was in order

(b) If no defects appeared of record to support such a motion and there were extraneous facts upon which the defendant was entitled to question the jurisdiction, a plea in abatement was the proper procedure.

The Practice Act abolished pleas in abatement and provided that defenses theretofore raised therein should be made in the affidavit of defense. It therefore became necessary to raise questions of the jurisdiction of the court based upon facts not of record in the affidavit of defense. But it is a fundamental principle of practice that the filing of an affidavit of defense amounts to a general appearance. It is axiomatic that a general appearance is a submission to the jurisdiction of the court and a waiver of a right to raise this preliminary question.

The same confusion exists in equity practice. It is uncertain how facts which do not appear of record but which go directly to the jurisdiction of the court may be raised. The right to raise preliminary jurisdictional questions by petition, and to support the same with depositions when necessary will be met with the general if not universal approval of bench and bar, and will remove the existing confusion.

The Act also provides for an immediate appeal from the decision by the lower court of law or equity upon the question of jurisdiction.

Under the present status of the law such an order refusing to set aside a service is interlocutory and an appeal will not lie until a final disposition of the case upon its merits. Taking any subsequent step without an express reservation of the jurisdictional question is a waiver thereof. If properly reserved, the question of jurisdiction is presented to the Supreme Court with any questions which may have arisen at the subsequent proceedings. If the Supreme Court decides that the initial objection to the continuance of the suit was well founded, a long, troublesome, expensive proceeding has been declared abortive.

The Act remedies this situation by providing for a final determination of the question of the jurisdiction of the court prior to instead of after the trial on the merits. As under the provisions of the Act such appeals will be placed at the head of the argument list by the Appellate Court, no substantial delay impeding the progress of justice, will result.

This Act is in accord with the recommendation of the Supreme Court in American Trust Company v. Kaufman, 279 Pa. 230 (1924), that the Legislature extend the privilege of immediate appeal to other classes of litigation than those now specifically designated.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 230, as follows:

An Act to ratify and adopt a compact negotiated by Commissioners designated by the Governor under a law of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with Commissioners duly authorized thereto by the States of New York and New Jersey for the regularization of the flow of the Delaware River the conservation of the water resources of the Delaware Basin the apportionment thereof among the said States for domestic and municipal supply and the utilization thereof for power and other beneficial uses

Whereas Commissioners duly designated on the part of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and Commissioners duly appointed on the part of the State of New Jersey and Commissioners duly appointed on the part of the State of New York to negotiate a compact for the regularization of the flow of the Delaware River the conservation of the water resources of the Delaware Basin the apportionment thereof among the said States for domestic and municipal supply and the utilization thereof for power and other beneficial uses have executed in triplicate a compact for the purposes aforesaid one for each State which agreement is contained in the following words

COMPACT

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by Legislative Act approved the twenty-fourth of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred forty-eight) and the State of New Jersey by Chapter ninety-four of the Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and the State of New York by Chapter fifty-six of the Laws of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three having authorized their respective Governors to appoint Commissioners for the purpose of negotiating a form of compact or treaty between the said three states and the said states through their Governors having appointed as their Commissioners

For the State of New Jersey William A Starrett Frederick C Schneider

ARTICLE I

This compact between the sovereign states of Pennsylvania New York and New Jersey is entered into for the purpose of conserving by storage and otherwise for all uses the water resources of the said states in the Delaware river its tributaries and drainage area and as a means to that end for making allotments from the said water resources to the said states respectively and determining and adjusting their respective rights therein

ARTICLE II

Where used in this compact singular words shall be construed as including the plural masculine words shall be construed as including the feminine and neuter and the following terms and expressions shall have the meanings as respectively designated for each

The term "waters of the Delaware river" means all of the surface waters which following their natural courses flow into the channel of the Delaware river above that point in the said channel which marks the boundary between the states of Delaware Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The term "channel of the Delaware river" means the lands and bed of the river on and over which the waters of the Delaware river flow beginning at the point near "Monument Island" which is the northeastern corner of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and extending thence continuously as the said channel winds and turns to the point which is the common boundary between the states of Pennsylvania New Jersey and Delaware

The term "drainage area of the Delaware river" means the entire area of both land and water from which the surface waters naturally flow into the channel of the Delaware river

The term "tributary" or "tributary of the Delaware river" means any watercourse the waters of which naturally reach the channel of said river

The term "domestic and municipal" as applied to the use of water means the use of water by or for waterworks serving the public

The term "sanitation" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for the conveyance of sewage and industrial wastes

The term "sewage" means any substance or liquid containing any of the waste products or excrementitious or other discharges from the bodies of human beings or animals

The term "industrial waste" means any liquid or solid substance not sewage resulting from any process employed in manufacturing or industry

The term "water returned" or its equivalent means the return into a tributary or into the channel of the Delaware river of water after the same has been used for any purpose and in this sense the terms "sewage" and "industrial waste" shall be construed as being "water returned"

The term "industry" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for manufacturing and industrial purposes in all cases in which the water used is not taken from a public water supply system

The term "power" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for the development of energy whether that use be direct or indirect

The term "navigation" as applied to the use of water means the use of water for transportation and for the operation of water craft for all purposes

The term "develop" or "development" when referring to the use of water from the channel of the Delaware river or a tributary shall include any means for making the water available for use by the construction of any intake dam or other works

The term "point of development" means the point nearest the mouth of a tributary at which any dam or intake is built in connection with any development of the waters of such tributary

The term "divert" or "diversion" when referring to water in the channel of the Delaware river means the taking or removal of water from the said channel when the water taken or removed is not returned into the said channel within a distance of twelve miles below the point of diversion measured along the center line of the said channel

The term "divert" or "diversion" when referring to the water of a tributary of the Delaware river means the taking or removal of water from that tributary or from any portion thereof when the water taken or removed is not returned into the channel of the Delaware river either above the point at which the tributary enters the said channel or within a distance of twelve miles below that point measured along the center line of the said channel

The term "point of diversion" means the point or place at which water is taken or removed from a tributary or from the channel of the Delaware river

The term "developed for diversion" means conservation of water by storage or otherwise on or from any one or more tributaries for the purpose of diversion at any point on the tributary or tributaries or at some lower point in the channel of the Delaware river after the water shall have reached said lower point as water in transit

The term "ordinary flow" means a flow of forty-five hundredths (0.45) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point at which the "ordinary flow" is to be determined

The term "ordinary low flow" means a flow of fifteen hundredths (0.15) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point at which the "ordinary low flow" is to be determined

The term "allotment" means the share of any signatory state in the water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river which is in excess of all water in transit

The term "New York-New Jersey state line means the boundary line between the states of New York and New Jersey which line for the purpose of this compact shall be considered as crossing the channel of the Delaware river due east to the so-called "Tri-State Rock" and continuing thence in a south-easterly direction across the Neversink river to a rock on the west shore of the Hudson river near the village of Nyack

The term "water in transit" means water which has been developed by storage or otherwise and which is flowing in the channel of the Delaware river under the provisions of Article VII

The term "point of storage" means the point or place in the channel of the Delaware river at which a dam is maintained

ARTICLE III

In the development use or diversion of the waters of the Delaware river and in all considerations of quantity and preservation of quality the order of importance and public value shall be as follows (A) domestic and municipal (B) sanitation (C) industry and power and (D) navigation

ARTICLE IV

Any administrative department political subdivision corporation partnership association or person authorized in that behalf by or under the laws of any signatory state may exercise the rights and privileges herein conferred on such state subject to the duties and obligations herein conferred on such state subject to the duties and obligations herein imposed on such state

ARTICLE V

Any tributary or any part of any tributary of the Delaware river may be developed for any purpose by or under the authority of the signatory state in which it is located and water so developed may be diverted for use at any point either within or without the drainage area of the Delaware river in case water so developed is diverted then the following restrictions and limitations shall apply

(1) Every such development shall be carried out in compliance with the legislative provisions governing such matters in the state in which it is located

(2) Every such development shall be so planned and the works shall be so constucted as to bring about the greatest practicable conservation and use of the waters of the tributary on which it is located

(3) In the case of every such development located above the New York-New Jersey state line there shall be maintained below the point of development during the months of July August September and October a reserve flow equal to the ordinary flow at that point and also if at any other time during the year the flow in the tributary at the point of development is less than the ordinary flow at that point then a reserve flow equal to the ordinary flow shall be maintained below the point of development In the case of every such development located below the New York-New Jersey state line there shall at all times be maintained below the point development a reserve flow equal to the ordinary low flow at that point

(4) The total drainage area in any state which may be developed for diversion under the provisions of this article shall not exceed three-fifths of the drainage area of the Delaware river which lies within that state

ARTICLE VI

All water which at any time is flowing in the channel of the Delaware river above the New York-New Jersey state line and which is in excess of all water in transit in said channel is allotted to the states of New Jersey New York and Pennsylvania and with the approval of the Commission as provided in Article VIII hereof each of these states may divert from the said channel at any point above the said state line that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of fifteen hundredths (.15) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the point of diversion and at any point below the New York-New Jersey state line each of the said states may divert that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of twelve hundredths (0.12) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line The allotments of the respective states shall be computed from time to time as follows

In case no tributary within the drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion then the allotment of each state at any point in the channel of the Delaware river above the said state line hereinafter called the normal allotment shall be one-third of the total water which may at any time be flowing in said channel at that point In case one or more tributaries within said drainage area shall have been developed for diversion by only one of the signatory states then the respective allotments of the signatory states shall be determined by the following rule The allotment of said diverting state shall be determined by subtracting from its normal allotment an amount to be computed by multiplying said normal allotment by a fraction the numerator of which shall be the total drainage area developed for diversion on said tributaries within that state above the New York-New Jersey state line and the denominator of said fraction shall be the total drainage area above the said state line and the allotment of each one of the other two states shall be determined by adding to its normal allotment one-half of the amount subtracted from the allotment of the diverting state In case tributaries within the drainage area above the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion by two or more states the rule herein above stated shall be applied separately and in turn as to each diverting state and the substractions from and additions to the normal allotments of the states thus determined shall fix the allotments of the states as of that time

All water which originates within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line and enters the channel of the Delaware river below that line and which is in excess of all water in transit in said channel is hereby allotted to the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania and with the approval of the Commission as provided in Article VIII hereof each of said states may divert from said channel at any point below the said state line that portion of its allotment which is in excess of a reserve flow of eighteen hundredths (0.18) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of drainage area lying above the point of diversion and below the New York-New Jersey state line The allotments of the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania in the waters which originate within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall be computed from time to time as follows

In case no tributary within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion then the allotment of the states of New Jersey and Pennsylvania at any point in the channel of the Delaware river below said line hereinafter called the normal allotment shall be one-half of the water which has originated within the said drainage area and which at any time is flowing in the said channel at such point below said state line in case New Jersey or Pennsylvania shall have developed for diversion one or more tributaries within said drainage area then the allotment of the diverting state shall be determined by subtracting from its normal allotment an amount to be computed by multiplying said normal allotment by a fraction the numerator of which shall be the total drainage area developed for diversion on said tributaries within that state below the New York-New Jersey state line and the denominator shall be the total drainage area below said state line and the allotment of the other state shall be increased by the amount by which the allotment of the diverting state has been reduced In case tributaries within the drainage area below the New York-New Jersey state line shall have been developed for diversion by both New Jersey and Pennsylvania the rule herein above stated shall be applied separately and in turn as to each of them and the subtractions from and additions to the normal allotments of the states thus determined shall fix the allotment of the states as of that time

Dams may be constructed across the channel of the Delaware river by or under the authority of any one of the signatory states for the purpose of storing water developed for diversion water in transit belonging to said state or any part or all of the water allotted to it under the provisions of this article All water so stored may be diverted or released from such reservoir or reservoirs by or under the authority of such state but the flow in the said channel below the point of storage must not be reduced below the ordinary flow whenever the flow above the point of storage is greater than the said ordinary flow When and if the flow in the said channel above the point of storage is less than the ordinary flow then and in every such case a flow equal to that above the point of storage shall be maintained in the said channel below the point of storage At all times however neither the water in transit nor the allotment or allotments of the other signatory state or states shall be interferred with but must at all times be permitted to pass such dam or dams

It is the intention of this article that no water shall be diverted from the channel of the Delaware river above the New York-New Jersey State line whenever the flow in the said channel is less than forty-five hundreths (0.45) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of the total drainage area lying above the point of diversion and it is further intended that no water shall be diverted from the channel of the Delaware river below the New York-New Jersey state line whenever the flow in the said channel is less than thirty-six hundredths (0.36) of a cubic foot per second for each square mile of the total drainage area lying above the point of diversion but nothing contained in this article shall be construed to limit or prevent the diversion of water in transit of water diverted under any vested right or of water stored for diversion as herein provided

The channel of the Delaware river is hereby constituted a carrier for conducting water designated as "water in transit" which has been developed or stored in accordance with the terms of Article five or Article six Such water may be removed or diverted at any time or place from the channel of the Delaware river by or under authority of the state under whose auspices the development was made irrespective of the quantity of water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river and the reserve flow provisions of Article six The rate at which such water is released or delivered shall be regulated so far as may be consistent with its economic utilization in such manner as not to unduly interfere with private rights or public interests along the said channel The daily rate at which such water may be removed or diverted from the channel of the Delaware river shall not exceed the daily rate at which it is released or delivered and no greater quantity may be diverted from the said channel than shall have been released or delivered from the developments made under the provisions of Articles V and VI less the reserve flows provided for in the said Articles V and VI except that allotted water may be diverted as provided in Article VI No development or construction in the channel of the Delaware river shall be permitted to interfere with the regularity of the flow of any water which has been released or delivered for carriage

ARTICLE VIII

In order to render possible the utilization or diversion of water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river each signatory state shall have the right to build dams entirely or partly across said channel and to construct wing dams headworks intakes or other necessary facilities at any point or points in or along said channel subject to the following limitations and stipulations

(a) All such works shall be built in compliance with the legislative provisions governing such matters in the state or states in which they are located

(b) Works for the development of water power may not be built except with the approval of the Commission in accordance with the provisions of Article ten hereof

(c) Approval of the Commission shall be secured for every project which involves the removal or diversion of more than two million gallons of water per day from the channel of the Delaware river such approval however need not at any time be obtained by any administrative department of a signatory state or any political subdivision within a signatory state or by any corporation partnership association or person in the case of any intake which is in existence at any point in said channel on the date when this compact becomes effective

In the exercise of this authority said Commission shall be governed and its power and authority shall extend to and be limited by the following principles restrictions and reservations to wit

(1) In the case of any project which in the judgment of the Commission will not interfer or conflict with any other use of the water flowing in the channel of the Delaware river the Commission shall approve said project without imposing any restrictions or conditions except such as may be necessary to insure compliance with the provisions of this compact

(2) As between any one or more proposed or possible conflicting uses the action of the Commission shall be based upon the relative importance of the uses to which the water may be put as fixed in Article III of this compact and to the extent that conflict is irreconcilable that possible and practical project which will effect the use of water standing highest in the order of importance shall be approved without restrictions or conditions except such as the Commission may deem necessary to insure compliance with the provisions of this compact To the extent that conflict is avoidable by a reasonable modification of any or all of the projects which may be involved the Commission shall fix the terms of such modification but such terms shall not require as against the higher use pumping in place of gravity delivery of water nor impose on the higher use the cost of any impounding works or any unreasonable enlargement of pipe lines conduits or tunnels or impose on the higher use any undue burden in either expense or convenience of operation In the case of conflict in uses of the same relative order of importance preference shall be given to an established use over a proposed one and the Commission shall have authority to determine the manner in which such conflicting uses may be harmonized without imposing unreasonable expense or undue burden upon either or any of them

No water from the drainage area of the Delaware river shall be diverted to any point outside of the boundaries of the states signatory to this compact No one of the signatory states may give grant or dispose of to another signatory state or to any holder of an authorization therefrom any water developed by or allotted to it under the provisions of this compact except by legislative act when necessary and then only with the approval of the Commission but nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent or prohibit the joint exercise by or under the authority of any two or more of the signatory states of the rights conferred by this compact and such joint exercise of rights is hereby authorized

ARTICLE X

With the approval of the Commission any signatory state may construct or authorize the construction of a dam wing dam headworks power house or other structure in or across the channel of the Delaware river for the main purpose of the development of water power Provided that every such authorization shall be limited to such period not exceeding fifty years as the said state shall determine and set forth in its authorization Provided further that the holder of such authorization shall be entitled to extension and renewal thereof upon the same terms until such holder shall have received through recapture or purchase by the authorizing state or by a duly authorized subsequent holder of like authority from said state repayment of the capital prudently invested in the power project upon the faith of the authorization plus such reasonable damages if any to property of such holder which is valuable serviceable and dependent for its usefulness upon the continuance of such authorization but not recaptured or purchased as may be caused by the severance therefrom of property taken Provided further that the authorizing state may in the discretion of its appropriate agency officer or employee empowered in that behalf embody in its authorization such terms conditions and stipulations as such agency officer or employee shall deem necessary to protect the present and future interests of each of the three signatory states and their people in the construction maintenance and operation of the project and in the water and power resources to be utilized thereby and suitable to secure to the holder of such authorization a reasonable opportunity for a fair return on the capital prudently invested in the project And provided further that every such authorization shall be on the following conditions which shall be expressed in such authorization namely (a) That the authorization shall become null and void unless within the time specified therein the holder of such authorization shall secure from the United States such license permit or authority as may be lawfully required and (b) that if and to the extent that any of the rights or powers set forth or reserved as rights or powers of the United States in or pursuant to the provisions of such license permit or authority shall be waived by the United States or be unenforceable by the United States then and to that extent such rights and powers (including if so waived or unenforceable any rights of recapture extension or renewal so set forth or reserved) subject to such alterations in plans specifications or structures and such extensions of time for commencing or completing structures as may have been made or granted by the United States may be exercised and enforced by the signatory states which originally authorized the construction No project authorized and constructed under the provisions of this article shall at any time be operated so as to injuriously affect any project for municipal and domestic water supply which has been or may be established under the provisions of this compact Subject to such conditions as the Commission may embody in its approval water for the development of power may be moved from the channel of the Delaware river and carried in a canal or in a pipe to any point below a dam constructed under the provisions of this article but said water shall be returned to the said channel within a distance of twelve miles below the point of removal measured along the center line of said channel and there shall always be maintained in the said channel immediately below the dam such regular and uniform flow of water as the Commission may determine to be reasonable and proper

In connection with each and every development made under any provision of this compact there shall be installed and maintained all equipment and apparatus for measuring quantities and rates of water flow the determination of which may be necessary for the purpose of showing that the development or construction is being operated in compliance with the provisions of this compact

ARTICLE XII

In order to put and maintain the waters in the channel of the Delaware river in a condition sanita- and suitable for the uses and purposes set forth by this compact no sewage or industrial waste shall be discharged or permitted to flow into or be placed in or permitted to fall or move into the channel of the Delaware river or into any of its tributaries otherwise than under the following conditions and restrictions

(1) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the channel of the Delaware river above the confluence with the Lehigh river shall within a time reasonable for the construction of the necessary works have been so treated as to remove settleable solids to render the effluent non-putrescible and to effect a reasonable reduction of B Coli Communis

(2) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the channel of the Delaware river below the confluence with the Lehigh river shall within a time reasonable for the construction of the necessary works have been so treated as to at least remove settleable solids and shall be discharged through submerged outlets into said channel provided that such submerged outlets shall be located and constructed as may be required by the Commission and provided further that in order to protect the public health in specific instances such higher degree of treatment shall be used as may be determined to be necessary by the Commission after due notice and hearing

(3) All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into any tributary of the Delaware river except the Lehigh river shall be treated to that extent if any which may be necessary to maintain the water of such tributary immediaely above its confluence with the Delaware river in a sanitary condition at any time at least equal to the sanitary condition at such time of the water of the Delaware river immediately above such confluence

All sewage discharged or permitted to flow into the Lehigh river shall be treated to that extent if any which may be necessary to maintain the water of the Lehigh river immediately above its confluence with the Delaware river in that sanitary condition which the Commission after due notice and hearing shall have determined to be necessary because of the nature and extent of the use of the water of the Delaware river below such conflunce provided however that the Commission may not require the sanitary condition of the Lehigh river immediately above its confluence with the Delaware river to exceed that of the sanitary condition of the Delaware river immediately above such confluence

(4) All industrial wastes discharged or permitted to flow into or be placed in or permitted to fall or move into the channel of the Delaware river or any tributary thereof shall first have been treated to such extent if any as may be necessary to maintain in the channel of the Delaware river sanitary conditions equivalent to those which would be attained by the treatment of sewage above required in this article provided nevertheless that industrial wastes containing substances likely in the judgment of the Commission to produce offensive tastes and odors in any public water supply from the channel of the Delaware river shall either be wholly prevented from being discharged or from flowing into from being placed in or permitted to fall or move into said channel or any tributary of the Delaware river or shall first have been treated to such an extent as to wholly eliminate such taste and odor producing constituents

This article shall become effective when any one of the signatory states or any holder of an authorization therefrom shall have begun the work of construction on any project under the provisions of this compact

Nothing in this article shall be construed to repeal or prevent the enactment of any legislation or the enforcement of any requirement by any signatory state imposing any additional conditions and restrictions to lessen or prevent the pollution of streams within their several jurisdictions

In order to maintain the water of any tributary immediately above its confluence with the channel of the Delaware river in a sanitary condition which will meet the requirements set forth in paragraphs (3) and (4) of this article the administrative determination and enforcement of the degree of treatment if any necessary to fulfill such requirements shall be made and undertaken by the proper officer or agent of the state wherein such tributary lies provided however that any other signatory state or any municipality citizen or resident thereof or property owner therein or any holder of any authorization therefrom under this compact shall nevertheless have full right either jointly or severally to sue for the enforcement of any and all of the provisions of this article and for the redress of any injuries which may have resulted by reason of a violation thereof

ARTICLE XIII

The beneficial effects of forest covered areas on the regularization of stream flow with attend greater potential use of streams for domestic industrial and navigation purposes and the greater stability of public ownership in management for the protection of forested drainage areas is clearly recognized and agreed to by the states party to this compact Each signatory state hereby adopts and will adhere to a policy covering the establishment and maintenance of an adequate forest cover on public and privately owned land in the drainage area of the Delaware river and in the maintenance of the highest practicable standards of protection from fire on these lands

ARTICLE XIV

All lands water-rights or easements necessary for the construction and maintenance of any dam in or across the channel of the Delaware river may with the approval of the Commission be appropriated and condemned by any signatory state or by the holder of authorization therefrom All damage resulting from the exercise of the right and power of condemnation conferred by this article shall be ascertained recovered and paid as provided by Article XV hereof

ARTICLE XV

All damage to persons or property resulting from the exercise of any rights under this compact shall be determined under the rule of damages in accordance with the procedure and in such manner as is provided by the

An Act authorizing the Secretary of Highways to take over as State highways certain roads leading from State institutions to State highways or railroad stations

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Secretary of Highways is directed to take over for maintenance and improvement as a State highway any public road not exceeding four miles in length and leading from a state institution to an existing State highway or to a railroad station or any public road not exceeding five (5) miles in length that passes through property owned by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and leading from one existing State Highway to another existing State Highway

Section 2 All Acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 139, the bill just read, be recommitted to the Committee on Public Roads and Highways.

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE PROCEEDS TO HOUSE TO LISTEN TO READING OF MESSAGE BY THE GOVERNOR.

The hour of 12:00 o'clock noon having arrived, Messrs. Harer and Evans, a Committee from the House of Representatives, being introduced, informed the Senate that the House of Representatives was ready for the reception of the President and Members of the Senate for the purpose of listening to the reading by His Excellency, the Governor, of his message on Law Enforcement.

Whereupon,

The President and members of the Senate proceeded to the hall of the House of Representatives.

SENATE RETURNS FROM HOUSE.

After some time, the President and Senators returned to the Senate Chamber.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to read a bill in place at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. SNYDER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 300, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-seventh day of March one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws thirty-four) entitled "An Act concerning alcoholic liquors; prohibiting the manufacture, advertising, furnishing, traffic in and possession of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, and articles and substances designed or intended for use in the manufacture thereof; defining intoxicating liquor; providing for penalties, forfeitures, and the abatement of nuisances; and repealing existing alcoholic liquor laws and alcoholic liquor license laws," regulating under permit through an Alcohol Permit Board created in the Department of Agriculture, the manufacture, development, use in manufacture, sale at wholesale, storage by bailees for hire and transportation for hire of any alcohol, or any alcoholic liquid by certain persons; providing for fees and the disposition thereof; authorizing the inspection of the records of permittees and purchasers of said liquids; declaring certain places nuisances and providing for their abatement; and providing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Law and Order.

HOUSE MESSAGE.

HOUSE BILLS FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented for concurrence bills of the House of Representatives as follows:

House Bill No. 187, (Senate Bill No. 304), entitled:

An Act to amend section eleven of an act approved the eleventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, (P. L. 522), entitled, "An Act relating to dogs, and the protection of livestock and poultry from damage by dogs; providing for the licensing of dogs by the Secretary of Agriculture; providing for the enumeration of dogs by assessors; regulating the keeping of dogs, and authorizing their destruction in certain cases; providing for the protection of licensed dogs, and for dogs temporarily imported for trial, show and breeding purposes; prescribing certain privileges for hunting dogs, and dogs owned or issued by the Board of Game Commissioners; providing for the assessment of damages done to live stock and poultry by dogs, and for the illegal killing of licensed dogs, and the payment of such damages by the Commonwealth; imposing powers and duties on certain State, county, city, borough, town, and township officers and employes; directing the payment of all moneys collected into the State Treasury; and making an appropriation thereof; and providing penalties;" fixing the fee of the county treasurer for issuing kennel licenses.

Which was committed to the Committee on New Counties and County Seats.

House Bill No. 220 (Senate Bill No. 305), entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, (P. L. 297), entitled, "An Act authorizing the establishment of contagious disease hospitals in the several counties of the Commonwealth, to be constructed and maintained out of county funds;" providing for the establishment and maintenance of contagious disease hospitals by two or more counties jointly.

Which was committed to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

House Bill No. 304 (Senate Bill No. 306), entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article nine of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by adding thereto section seventeen.

Which was committed to the Committee on Military Affairs.

MOTION TO INVITE THE AUDITOR GENERAL TO ATTEND MEETING OF COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, in view of the fact that the announcement has been made by the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations that there is only one question at issue that is to be heard, and in view of the fact that the Auditor General has been heard previously by the Committee on Appropriations of the House, or the Chairmen of the Committee on Ways and Means and the Committee on Finance of the Senate, it seems to me that the Senate is entitled to hear both sides of this question. It has never appealed to me that there is very much mystery in making up a budget, particularly if I had the data from which to draw my conclusions. That follows in business whether it is big or little, and I would earnestly urge, through a motion, and I sincerely trust that the Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations, in whom I have the utmost confidence both as to his ability to handle the situation, if any untoward circumstances arise between the people who will be there, and further than that his ability to handle this committee to the satisfaction and credit of the Senate, and I would respectfully move you, that the Auditor General be invited to attend this meeting and both the Auditor General and the Budget Officer of the Administration be heard at one and the same time, so that the Senators will get both sides of this question. They can then determine for themselves the truth or falsity of either statement. I have positive knowledge that there are Senators here, big business men, who perhaps have had more business experience than either the Auditor General or the Budget Officer of the Commonwealth and for themselves are able to determine, just as well as they are, what the income of the State is and what the State of Pennsylvania has to expend.

Mr. President, I therefore would ask the Chair to put the motion that I have made, after it is properly seconded.

Mr. BAUMER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, if the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, half means what he says about me, I hope he will withdraw this motion, because, in the first place, the Auditor General already has been invited and will be present. Whether or not he will have anything to say at this time depends upon the exigencies of the case. If it is desired to hear him later full opportunity will be given.

This Committee which is hearing Dr. King, has already heard the Auditor General. He will be present this afternoon, that is already arranged for, and whether or not he will have anything to say this afternoon will depend upon what transpires, it will depend upon the time of day, and numerous other things and if it is desired to have him heard publicly in the future a full opportunity will be granted.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, under the circumstances I would request then that my motion be not put.

The PRESIDENT. If there is no objection the motion may be withdrawn. The Chair hears none, and the motion made by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, is withdrawn.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move that all bills reported from committees at today's session be read the first time.

Mrs. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

TUESDAY, February 10, 1925.

The House met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Thomas Bluett) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. George P. Donehoo, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, Thou who art unchanging in Thy being, Thou who laidest the foundation of this universe, we beseech Thee to give unto us at this time a realization that we cannot forsake the foundations which Thou hast laid, and that it is never safe for us, either in religion or in affairs of state, to forsake the foundations which have been so solidly laid. Grant, therefore, to give unto all of us the desire to perpetuate the institutions and laws of this great Nation and of this State. Abide with us personally this morning, blessing us in all of our joys and in all of our sorrows and giving unto us of Thy peace, and keep us in perfect peace with the forgiveness of our sins, for Christ's sake. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The SPEAKER. The bill is now re-referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR.

Mr. HARER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1925.

Whereas, His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth has, by message of February ninth, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five advised the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly, of his desire to address the members thereof in joint session on Tuesday, February tenth, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five at twelve o'clock noon, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Senators and Members of the House of Representatives are pleased to comply with the request of His Excellency, and will meet in joint session for that purpose at the time requested in said message, and be it further

Resolved, That a committee of two Senators to be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate and two Members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall wait upon the Governor and advise him of the passage of this resolution and of their readiness to hear any message he may desire to deliver.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints on this committee the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Harer, and the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Burd P. Evans.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to announce that he is very much pleased at the progress the committees are making in reporting bills to the House. He also wants to state at this time, that as far as possible, for the purpose of facilitating reports from the committees at the proper time, when it is due to report, he will first take up reports from this section on the right-hand side of the House and when all the reports are received from that section, he will go to the other sections across the House in order, so that you will not have to stand on your feet from the time reports of committees are asked for until your report has been finally given.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Mr. LUCAS asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Royle, on account of illness in the family.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. EARLEY. Mr. Speaker, I move you that House Bill No. 144, bills on second reading, on page 5 of today's calendar, file folio 585, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of the act approved the twenty-fourth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, (P. L. 297), entitled "An act authorizing the establishment of contagious disease hospitals in the several counties of the Commonwealth, to be constructed and maintained out of county funds," by removing the restrictions as to location.

be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. We will take up the Third Reading Calendar at this time. The members will notice that some of the bills are not now on the files. That is due to a delay of the printer, I am told. But those bills that are on the file, and concerning which there has been no amendment, we will take up for third reading at this time.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeaby to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 187, entitled:

An Act to amend section eleven of an act approved the eleventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and twenty-two) entitled "An act relating to dogs and the protection of live stock and poultry from damage by dogs providing for the licensing of dogs by the Secretary of Agriculture providing for the enumeration of dogs by asesssors regulating the keeping of dogs and authorizing their destruction in certain cases providing for the protection of licensed dogs and for dogs temporarily imported for trial show and breeding purposes prescribing certain privileges for hunting dogs and dogs owned or used by the Board of Game Commissioners providing for the assessment of damages done to live stock and poultry by dogs and for the illegal killing of licensed dogs and the payment of such damages by the Commonwealth imposing powers and duties on certain State county city borough town and township officers and employes directing the payment of all moneys collected into the State Treasury and making an appropriation thereof and providing penalties" fixing the fee of the county treasurer for issuing kennel licenses

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, February 10, 1925.

Whereas, His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth has, by message of February ninth, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five advised the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly, of his desire to address the members thereof in joint session on Tuesday, February tenth, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five at twelve o'clock noon, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Senators and Members of the House of Representatives are pleased to comply with the requst of His Excellency, and will meet in joint session for that purpose at the time requested in said message, and be it further

Resolved, That a committee of two Senators to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and two Members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall wait upon the Governor and advise him of the passage of this resolution and of their readiness to hear any message he may desire to deliver.

and has appointed on such committee the Senator from Potter, Mr. Baldwin, and the Senator from Blair, Mr. Snyder.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER.

The SPEAKER. Will the committee appointed yesterday to act with the committee of the Senate to invite the Governor to address us in Joint Assembly proceed to its duty at this time.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, by reference to page 134 of the Legislative Journal, it appears that on January 27th this house concurred in the Joint Resolution of the Senate for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the system of printing and filing bills and other printed matter. That resolution provides further that the committee shall make its report on or before March 10th. For my own part, and from my own experience, and I think it is the experience of every member of this house, the date of that resolution should have been much earlier than March 10th. It seems to me that the progress of the business of this house is being constantly retarded through the delay in the printing of matter that should be in the files of the members at the time when the hour fixed for the beginning of business here arrives. In order to adjust that situation and in order further that the business of the House may go on without that hold back, and I move that the Speaker appoint three members of the House to ascertain the cause for delay in printing and filing of House calendars and bills, to confer with the Printer and persons engaged in this work, and to report their findings with recommendations to this House not later than February 17, 1925.

Mr. MILLAR. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE DELAYS IN PRINTING.

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints on that committee the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Millar, and the gentleman from Deleware, Mr. Alexander.

COMMITTEE DISCHARGED.

Mr. BURD P. EVANS. Mr. Speaker, your committee appointed to conduct the Senate to the Hall of the House of Representatives beg leave to inform you that they have attended to that duty and that the Senate is here present.

The SPEAKER. The Commitee is discharged with the thanks of the House. The President of the Senate will proceed to the Speaker's desk and the President pro tem to the platform, and the members of the Senate will be seated.

JOINT SESSION.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVID J. DAVIS presiding.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVIS. The Assembly will be in order.

The SERGEANT-AT-ARMS OF THE SENATE. Mr. President, I have the honor to present to you His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, the Hon. Gifford Pinchot.

LIEUTENANT- GOVERNOR DAVIS. The General Assembly has met in joint session for the purpose of listening to a message from His Excellency, the Governor. I take pleasuree in introducing to you Hon. Gifford Pinchot, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

GOVERNOR GIFFORD PINCHOT:

Ladies and Gentlemen: The Legislature of 1923 had before it three enforcement bills, one for enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment with regard to alcoholic beverages, and two to prevent production of illegal drink by breweries and alcohol distilleries. The first, the Armstrong-Snyder Bill, was enacted into law. As a result great progress has been made in the elimination of illicit saloons and in limiting the illegal sale of liquor to the operations of the bootlegger.

Throughout Pennsylvania the sentiment in favor of law enforcement is notably stronger than it was two years ago. Courts and juries, with certain notable exceptions, now punish offenses against the liquor laws more vigorously than they did, and the whole situation, so far as it is affected by the Armstrong-Snyder Bill, shows marked improvement.

The two bills intended to stop the flood of illegal drink from breweries and alcohol distilleries failed to pass. Consequently it has not been possible to attack the trouble at its source. The results I desire to lay before you.

Philadelphia is a principal center in the United States for the manufacture of illegal drink from denatured alcohol. This statement not only is corroborated by the testimony of official investigators, but the facts which I am about to quote leave little doubt of it. These facts were collected by special investigators, assisted by State Policemen, working under the direction of the Department of Justice and paid for out of funds raised by the Women's Christian Temperance Union for law enforcement.

It is well known that poison bootleg liquor is made out of denatured alcohol, and that denatured alcohol is of two kinds—completely denatured and specially denatured. It is specially easy to remove the denaturing ingredients from most of the latter, which supplies by far the larger part of all the bootleg liquor.

In the two years ending June 30, 1923, the amount of speially denatured alcohol removed and disposed of in the Philadelphia district increased from less than 800,000 to more than 5,000,000 gallons. In the succeeding year there was a slight decrease in production, but it was more than made up by importation. This enormous production and distribution of specially denatured alcohol is at the present time checked by no records which are effective to prevent its passage in huge quantities into the bootleg trade.

This is how the graft is worked.

In the first Pennsylvania District there are 18 distillers, denaturers, and bonded dealers authorized under Federal permit to sell denatured alcohol. They can sell specially denatured alcohol only to manufacturers holding Federal permits. Such manufacturers authorized to make toilet waters, hair tonics, and tobacco sprays by the use of specially denatured alcohol numbered 151 in Philadelphia on November 30, 1924.

The method of operation of a crooked manufacturer in this line is generally as follows: Having withdrawn a consignment of specially denatured alcohol, and having ostensibly but not in fact manufactured it into toilet waters, hair tonics, or tobacco sprays, he proceeds to resell it to a so-called cover house, of which there are 74 known to have been used by Philadelphia manufacturers. The cover houses never receive the toilet water, hair tonic, or tobacco spray supposed to be delivered to them. In some cases they may receive the denatured alcohol, in others not. In either case the cover house is paid a commission for the use of its name in concealing the delivery of the unmanufactured alcohol from the supposed manufacturer to the redistiller and the bootlegger. This commission is usually five percent.

Of the 151 manufacturers of toilet waters, hair tonics and tobacco sprays nearly every one does his supposed manufacturing in a single small room or small building, utterly inadequate in size and equipment for the business alleged to be conducted in it. The premises of the cover houses are similarly inadequate for the business they are alleged to do. In one case a supposed manufacturer, when his permit was temporarily revoked, had his total equipment sold at constable's sale to pay the rent due one small room.

The quantities of specially denatured alcohol withdrawn by these fraudulent manufacturers are almost beyond belief. Five permittees are authorized to withdraw over 655,000 gallons in a single year for toilet waters, hair tonics, and tobacco sprays. This is more than three times the total consumption of all the manufacturers of paints, cements, and varnishes in Philadelphia.

These 151 toilet water, hair tonic, and tobacco spray makers withdrew, in the first ten months of 1924, more than 1,100,000 gallons of specially denatured alcohol, which is probably alcohol enough to make toilet water, hair tonic, and tobacco sprays for the people of the whole world.

Nine permittees claim to have used and sold more than 185,000 gallons of denatured alcohol in tobacco sprays during the first ten months of 1924. I am informed that according to the formula used by the largest manufacturers of tobacco in this country, this was tobacco spray enough to have treated twice over the whole tobacco production of the United States in 1924, and half the production of the entire world.

Of these 151 manufacturers, 128 were found by State officials to be engaged in violations of law or in crooked practices to cover such violations. Their offenses were not only against the Eighteenth Amendment, but of the 128 only 21 had filed incorporation papers in this State, and 57 were doing business in contravention of the law which requires the true owners of a concern to register their names in Harrisburg. None of these concerns keep regular books, and most keep practically none at all. Probably 90 percent of them could gather up their entire manufacturing and office equipment in a small delivery wagon and leave for parts unknown, as did one of the nine largest cover houses when State officers made an appointment late in the afternoon to see the proprietor next morning.

Most of these concerns are without published rating with leading mercantile agencies. Of five permittees (whose permits were revoked for a longer or shorter period in 1924 but reinstated before December 1, 1924) authorized to withdraw specially denatured alcohol for toilet waters, hair tonics or tobacco sprays to the amount of nearly 590,000 gallons in a single year, four were without published commercial rating and one was rated at from $500 to $1,000 with limited credit at that. Every sale made my one of the other four since the restoration of its permit was found by State officers to be ficticious.

To seven of these cover houses, all without published commercial rating, permittee manufacturers claim to have sold more than $400,000 worth of toilet waters and hair tonics during ten months of 1924. One of the cover houses, whose alleged purchases amounted to nearly $100,000, does business in New York City in a single room which it shares with three other persons.

Of the 77 permittee manufacturers in Philadelphia which withdrew over 1,000,000 gallons of specially denatured alcohol during the first ten months of 1924 and made alleged sales to the 74 cover houses already mentioned, 53 were cited during the year just past for violations of law, 34 were doing business under assumed names without registering their true owners, and 54 had no rating in the latest book of a leading commercial agency.

Out of 130 manufacturers in the Philadelphia district cited before the Federal Prohibition authorities since January 1st, 1924, for violations of law, and to show cause why their permits should not be revoked. 122 held permits to make toilet waters and hair tonics. So far as records available to me in Philadelphia disclose up to last Saturday (excluding 14 appeals now pending in Washington and 3 revocations in December) only 19 permits had been permanently revoked, of which 17 made no defense, two agreed to surrender their permits, and all were minor offenders. Without exception the big violators whose permits were revoked have had them restored.

Completely denatured alcohol also is an important source of bootleg liquor. The producers of it are required to keep only records of sales, and its purchasers no records at all. They are subject to no inspection of any sort. Therefore the diversion of alcohol either after or before denaturing is by no means difficult. That explains at least in part why the production of completely denatured alcohol has more than doubled in two years, and why it increased in 1924 by nearly 7,500,000 gallons.

Two denaturers in Philadelphia during ten months of 1924 sold over 971,000 gallons of completely denatured alcohol to four concerns only one of which had even a commercial rating in the latest agency book, and two of which had neither filed incorporation papers under State law nor had registered the true names of their owners.

Distillers, denaturers, and bonded dealers sell to permittee manufacturers known to be violating the law. They refused to State officials access to their books and plants with two exceptions, in one of which the books had not been added up for nearly a year.

This business from end to end has the unmistakable marks of fraud and crime. The absurdly large amounts of alcohol withdrawn for purposes for which they could not possibly be used, the almost complete absence of manufacturing facilities where manufacture is supposed to go on, the elaborate system of cover houses, and the almost total lack of commercial respectability among the persons engaged in the business—all these combine to show beyond question both the existence of widespread conspiracies to violate the law and its actual violation on a huge scale.

No such flood of strong drink as this has been poured out upon the people of Pennsylvania and the adjoining States since the Eighteenth Amendment was passed. Its existence is a disgrace, but the way to cure it is clear. If these fraudulent manufacturers and cover houses were required to demonstrate the legitimacy of their business before securing a permit from State authorities, if adequate records were required, and if the records and manufacturing plants were freely open to State inspection, this abominable traffic in Pennsylvania would promptly cease. This is the purpose of the united enforcement bill.

As Philadelphia is a center for bootleg alcohol, so Pittsburgh is a center for illegal beer. Law violations by brewers, however, are not concentrated in Pittsburgh as law violations through denatured alcohol are in Philadelphia. Breweries are scattered widely over the State.

The difficulty of securing legal evidence of law violations by breweries known to be producing strong beer are exceedingly great. Not only are officers of the law without authority to inspect breweries during two-thirds of each twenty-four hours, but the brewers have developed systems of spies, watchers, pilot cars, forerunners, and even stockades, which multiply the task of apprehending them. Nevertheless, of about 100 breweries operating in the State, 62 were caught in violations of the law during 1924. Of the 32 which were apprehended by the State Police, only six were padlocked or permanently enjoined from doing business by the United States Courts.

Thirty-two breweries have been caught in one violation; ten have been caught in two; seven in three; four in four; one in six and one in seven violations. More than half of all violations take place during the hours when inspection is denied.

It is obviously ridiculous to contend that 100 breweries are necessary to keep the people of Pennsylvania and the adjoining States supplied with near-beer. The mere fact that 100 are in operation furnishes complete assurance that a large number of them are violating the law. As a matter of fact the State Police have direct reason to believe that more than half of the 100 are actual violators at this time, and because of the obstacles which the brewers put in the way of getting information, the actual percentage is certainly much larger. Without doubt as many as were actually caught in violations during the past year are still actively breaking the law.

One of the most powerful helps for breweries caught in violation is the law's delay. The Ashland Brewery, for example, was first caught violating the law by the State Police on March 15, 1923 and has been caught three times since. Proceedings to close it are still pending. The Eagle Brewery was caught first on July 3, 1923, and has been caught five times since. Proceedings to close it are still pending. The Fountain Springs Brewery was first caught by the State Police February 15, 1923, and has been caught three times since. Proceedings to close it are still pending. The Jenner Brewing Co. was first caught March 23, 1923, and six times after that, before the order padlocking it for one year was granted.

Of the breweries caught by the State Police in 1924, 12 were operating under Federal permit. One was caught producing strong beer after it had been sized and was actually in the custody of the United States Marshal.

This open, continuous, and notorious defiance of the law is an outrage upon the dignity of this Commonwealth. It is well known, and the way to stop it is equally well known. I venture to predict that the passage of the united enforcement bill will reverse this situation before this Administration goes out of office.

The united enforcement bill is a bill to check the flood of illegal drink at its source. This bill is the joint product of organizations representing the majority sentiment for law enforcement in Pennsylvania, and was approved at a meeting at which were present representatives of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the Anti-Saloon League, the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the State Federation of Adult Bible Classes, the State Grange, the State Council of Republican Women, and the State Administration.

Very briefly the bill provides for the creation of a Permit Board in the Department of Agriculture consisting of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Health, and the Attorney General. This Board is authorized to issue permits for the manufacture and use of alcohol and alcoholic liquids not for beverage purposes; to satisfy itself before issuing a permit that business under it will be honostly conducted; and to revoke the permit if it is not. The Board is given the right of inspection, and penalties are provided for violations.

The bill safeguards the right to make cider and other harmless fruit juices, and protects from interference the business of duly licensed druggists.

It was drawn in the light of two years' practical experience in enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment, and contains no provisions except those shown by that experience to be absolutely necessary. It will do the work it is intended to accomplish, and do it with the least possible machinery and without interfering with any person except the lawbreaker.

This administartion is in consant receipt of appeals from communities which are practically helpless in the grip of liquor law violators. The united enforcement bill provides a remedy by checking the flow of illegal drink at the source.

You will observe that the provisions of this bill have been reduced to the very minimum that will produce the results it seeks. Its enemies will doubtless charge that they are drastic. The charge is ridiculous. If you will compare the statutory restrictions placed on the manufacture of whiskey by the Federal Government nearly sixty years ago you will find that this bill, if it errs at all, errs on the side of leniency. These statutory restrictions require, among other things, the submission of a complete plan of every distillery, including all fixed pipes, and "every branch and every cock or joint thereof and every valve therein," the keeping of a daily record of the name, residence, and duties of every person employed, the restriction of distilling and shipping to certain fixed times, and they allowed an inspecting officer who might be refused admittance to break in by force. This is how the United States handled whiskey. Our bill does none of these things, and nothing that is in their class.

I cannot understand the attitude of any citizen, or any legislator, who refuses to support legislation needed in good faith to sustain the Constitution of the United States. I can understand the attitude of the man who disbelieves in the Eighteenth Amendment and by constitutional methods seeks its repeal. But the man who refuses to permit the fundamental law of his country to be enforced incurs a grave responsibility.

The dominant party in the United States is the Republican Party, and the Republican Party is thoroughly dry. The much heralded effort to secure the passage of a wet plank at Cleveland, which failed so ignominously that the plank was never even presented, is proof enough of that.

Pennsylvania is the leading Republican State. If Pennsylvania is to be loyal to the principles of the National Republican Party it must support the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, to which the Party is openly and irrevocally committed.

In the recent election, which swept the Republican Party back into power with the greatest majority ever given, the foremost issue was loyalty to the Constitution of the United States. I appeal to that loyalty now. No man can be disloyal to a part of the Constitution without being disloyal to the Constitution as a whole. Any attempt to continue or promote the breaking of the Eighteenth Amendment is disloyalty to the Constitution itself.

In the united enforcement bill the issue is drawn with absolute clearness. There is not a line in it but is fairly and reasonably necessary in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to enforce the Constitution of the United States.

I call your attention to the unquestionable fact that the passage or defeat of this legislation involves an issue vastly greater than the mere belief or disbelief in prohibition. The facts I have laid before you prove beyond the possibility of question that the law is being broken in this State on a gigantic scale, in the most open, dangerous, and flagrant manner, and yet in ways which, with proper legislative support, can be stopped.

If this bill is passed the sources of illegal drink in Pennsylvania can be and will be dried up. If this bill is beaten not only will these flagrant violations of the law continue, but the law breakers will by its defeat be encouraged to still greater lawelssness. I have respect enough for the traditions of this great Commonwealth, in which the Constitution was born, to revolt to the bottom of my soul against the efforts of sons of Pennsylvania to support and encourage the flouting of that Constitution in the birthplace of liberty itself.

The enemies of law enforcement will try to make it appear that to defeat this bill will bring nearer the day of light wine and beer. Even if such a day could ever come, it would do nothing of the sort. If modification of the Volstead Act is ever to be possible, this much is clear. It can never even be considered until the law is fully enforced.

This is not a question of light wine and beer. It is not a question of unadulterated liquor of any sort. It is a question of stopping the flood of poison drink poured out over this State—a flood of crime, misfortune, diesase, and death which ruins and kills our own people by the thousand, and flows in an evil stream from Pennsylvania into other States as well.

Respect for law lies at the heart of all good citizenship, of civilization, of safety for persons, and safety for property. The Constitution is openly defied in Pennsylvania. It must be vindicated. That is the issue before us.

That issue is the greatest moral issue which now confronts the people of Pennsylvania and of the United States. On the one side is gathered every evil force within this Commonweatlh. On the other are all the churches, all the organizations of women, all the defenders of law and order—in a word, every force of every kind that stands for righteousness in Pennsylvania is behind this bill, and behind them all the Constitution of the United States. With which side will you stand?

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR DAVIS. The business for which the General Assembly met in joint session having been transacted, the joint session is adjourned. The Senators will retire to the Senate Chamber.

SPEAKER BLUETT IN THE CHAIR.

An Act to validate certain municipal assessments municipal claims and municipal liens in the several boroughs of the Commonwealth providing for the filing of claims therefor and the proceedings for the collection of such assessments and claims

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That whenever heretofore the council of any incorporated borough of this Commonwealth has required by ordinance or by amendment to any such ordinance and caused to be graded paved curbed or macadamized with brick stone or other suitable material or otherwise improved any public street or thoroughfare or part thereof either cartway or footwalk pursuant to such ordinance or amendment or has caused ornamental lights to be erected pursuant to such ordinance or amendment or has by ordinance or amendment thereto provided for the assessment against property owners of certain water or lighting rates or both but owing to some defect in the petition action of council notice of publication or other proceeding necessary under existing laws and ordinances to give jurisdiction to such council or because of noncompliance with existing laws as to publication and advertisement of copies of the ordinance or the amendment and posting of handbills prior to the final passage of such ordinance or the amendment or because the ordinance itself or the amendment thereto or the official record book containing the same has been lost mislaid or destroyed or has not been transcribed in the official record book or the time for filing said lien or making said claim has expired or claim has not been filed after notice to do so for any other reason the cost of such improvement or a portion thereof cannot be legally assessed upon the property bounding or abutting upon the street or part thereof improved or owing to some defect in the statement of claim filed to secure the lien or the failure of the borough solicitor to file the lien in the court of common pleas or to sign the same for the cost of such improvement payment thereof cannot be enforced as was contemplated by the act or acts of the General Assembly under which the improvement was attempted to be made and statement of claims filed now by this act such improvements are made valid and binding and the council of such incorporated borough may cause the property bounding or abutting upon the street or part thereof upon which the improvement has been made or is now being made to be assessed in the manner now provided by law with such a portion of the cost of such improvement as is contemplated by the law under which the improvement was made or attempted to be made or is now being made Such assessment or other assessment heretofore regularly made shall be a lien upon the property assessed The lien shall date from the completion of the improvement for which the assessment is made and shall remain a lieu until fully paid and satisfied Provided That a writ of scire facias is issued to revive the same during every period of five years after the lien is filed as hereinafter provided

Section 2 The council of any incorporated borough of this Commonwealth entitled to a lien under this act shall file a lien therefor in the office of the prothonotary of the county within which the property lies within six months after the completion of the work where the improvement is now in progress or within six months after the approval of this act where the improvement is now completed and the same shall be entered upon record as other municipal claims Such liens shall state the name of the party claimant which shall be the corporate name of the borough making the improvement name of the owner or reputed owner of the property assessed a reasonable description of the property assessed the amount or sum claimed to be due which shall include interest on the assessment from the completion of the improvement for which improvement the claim is made the date of its completion the date of the assessment for which the lien is filed Such lien when so filed shall be prima facia evidence of all matters therein set forth and of the right of the borough to recover the amount therein claimed to be due together with interest from the date of the lien or completion of the improvement costs and an attorney's commission of five per centum for collection

Section 3 The claim when so filed shall be proceeded upon for collection by writ of scire facias Provided That this act shall not apply to any proceeding suit or lien wherein a final order or judgment of any court of record has already been made or entered

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Memolo, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MEMOLO. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I notice on page 2 a statement in this bill which reads as follows— as I understand the bill, it is an enabling act and it provides that borough council for certain reasons shall have the right to file liens which otherwise would not be tolerated because of certain distinctions in the law, or for certain reasons they have failed to comply with the law. One of the reasons that they can file is as follows: In a case "where the time for filing said lien or making said claim has expired." As I understand the provisions of this section it would enable borough council and give the borough authority to go back any number of years and file a lien that may be had expired for many years or any other period. If that is the intention or meaning of this act I think it is wrong.

Mr. MEMOLO. It is the same bill that was in here last session, Mr. Marshall.

Mr. MARSHALL. I don't recall the act of last session, but if this bill will enable borough council to file liens that have been dead for an indefinite number of years, it ought not be enacted, because it would create liens on property that have expired.

Mr. MEMOLO. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 27, file folio 683, be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 334, as follows:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 490, as follows:

An Act to validate acts done and contracts conveyances transfers and mortgages of property made to or by any corporation of the first class created or intended to be created by decree of the Courts of Common Pleas granting a charter where the applicants for incorporation had failed to register its proposed name as required by law and to validate charters of corporations of the first class granted since the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three where there was a failure to register the name or titel of the proposed corporation at the time of filing its application for a charter as required by law providing for the subsequent filing of such registration and providing for the amendment of names or titles of such corporations in certain cases

Whereas the Courts of Common Pleas of this Commonwealth have granted charters incorporating corporations of the first class where the proposed corporation had failed to register with the Secretary of the Commonwealth its proposed name and address at the time of filing its application for a charter as required by the Act of May 16 1923 Pamphlet Laws two hundred and forty-six and

Whereas some of the organizations so incorporated relying upon the validity of the charter so granted have taken title to and cenveyed real estate taken and created mortgages entered into contracts and perform other acts and business in pursuance and by virtue of such charters and

Whereas doubt exists concerning the validity of the acts done transfers conveyances and mortgages of property made to and by such corporations and the validity of charters so granted now therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That where heretofore any act has been done or contract transfer conveyance or mortgage of any property been made to or by any corporation of the first class after the granting of a charter by decree of any Court of Common Pleas of this Commonwealth where the applicants for incorporation had failed to register with the Secretary of the Commonwealth its proposed name and address prior to the granting of such charter as required by the provisions of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred forty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the registration and protection of names titles or designations of associations societies orders foundations federations organizations and corporations of the first class" all such acts contracts transfers conveyances and mortgages shall be deemed and taken to be valid and effectual for all purposes as if the name of the corporation had been registered as required by law Provided this act shall not apply to cases now in litigation

Section 2 That all charters of incorporation or supplements and amendments thereto heretofore granted by any of the Courts of Common Pleas of this Commonwealth to applicants for incorporation who failed to register with the Secretary of the Commonwealth the name and address of the proposed corporation at the time of filing their applications for a charter as required by the provisions of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws two hundred forty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the registration and protection of names titles or designations of associations societies orders foundations federations organizations and corporations of the first class" shall be and hereby are validated and confirmed so that said charters shall have the same force and legal effect as if the applicants for incorporation had complied with all the requirements of law relative to the registration of their proposed names and addresses Provided however that any corporation before deriving the benefits of this section shall file in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth within one year after the approval of this act an application for registration of the name and address of such corporation setting forth the date of its incorporation and if the name of such corporation does not conflict with any other name title or designation duly registered according to law it shall be registered and a certificate of such registration shall be filed with the records of the Court which granted the charter and such registration shall have the same force and effect as though made at the time or times required by law Provided also that in the event the name of such corporation is similar to or so nearly resembling the name title or designation of any association society order foundation federation organization or corporation duly registered according to law that it cannot be properly registered or used by the corporation and such prior registration is not withdrawn by such other association society order foundation federation organization or corporation such corporation shall be entitled to have its name or title amended by application to the Court of Common Pleas which granted the charter in the manner now provided by law for the amendment of a charter and a decree granting a change of name of such corporation where the new name or title has been duly registered as required by law shall have the effect to validate confirm and create such association as a corporation in deed and in law with full force and effect as if said association had originally complied with all the requirements of law as to registration of its proposed name and title

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Session 1925 — 126th of the General Assembly

Vol. 8. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1925. No. 11.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, February 11th, 1925.

The Senate met at 10.30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT Pro Tempore, (Mr. John G. Homsher), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer.

Our Heavenly Father: We thank Thee for another day of life, and we commit the day and we commend ourselves to Thy Divine keeping. May Thy blessing rest upon our Legislature, both the Senate and the Assembly. The moral and physical welfare of millions of men, women, and children, in considerable measure depends upon these legislators. A very high and sacred responsibility devolves upon them. Grant them wisdom and strength from above, that whether in Committee discussion or in public debate they may be guided by a Divine Power, and may every vote that shall be taken reflect the Divine Will.

Bless Pennsylvania; bless America; bless the whole World.

We ask it in the name of Jesus Christ.

Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. BALDWIN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 190, as follows:

An Act regulating the selection drawing summoning and serving of all jurors in the several courts in counties of the third class abolishing the office of jury commissioner abrogating the duties of sheriff in connection with jurors vesting in the judges of the common pleas the exclusive function of selection drawing and regulating with power to provide at the cost of the county the necesary clerical assistance and materials and equipment

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six the office of jury commissioner in counties of the third class is abolished and all duties of the sheriff therein in respect to jurors are entirely abrogated and all duties both of the jury commissioners and sheriff be performed by the judge or judges of the common pleas in the manner provided by this act

Section 2 At least forty days before the first day of January in each year the judge of each county or if more than one a majority of them shall meet and select such number as they may then designate of such persons electors of the county as they may deem properly qualified to serve as jurors for the ensuing year

After selection the names of the persons shall be written upon an alphabetical list adding abode and occupation in duplicate one copy to be filed with the prothonotary and the other retained by the judges and shall also be written upon separate slips of paper to be placed by the judges in a proper jury wheel which shall then be locked and sealed and left with the key in their custody

Section 3 At least thirty days before each term of court the judges of their own motion without a venire shall draw from the wheel as many name-slips as they deem proper of persons to be summoned for each week of said term and before each session of grand jury twenty-four name-slips for such grand jury and the names with the abode and occupation shall be written upon a list to be conspicuously posted in the office of the prothonotary and clerk of the courts at least twenty days beforehand and the said persons at least ten days beforehand shall be notified to appear for service at the proper time by writing duly mailed to the proper address in the name of the judges or personally notified as the latter may direct

The due mailing of such notice shall be deemed prima facie proof of its reception and failure to comply therewith shall be deemed prima facie proof of contempt subject to penalty

Discretionary power to excuse from jury service shall be vested in the judges as heretofore

Practicing physicians and attorneys-at-law shall be exempt from service and their names shall not be placed in the wheel

In any year any person who has served as a juror for a week in the preceding year may be excused upon his own request

When talesmen are required their names shall be drawn from the wheel in the same manner as the original names for the term were drawn they shall be notified in the manner aforesaid to appear forthwith and for failure to do so may be adjudged in contempt

All slips drawn from the wheel shall be destroyed at the end of the week for which they were drawn

Section 4 When from any cause at any time from quashing the array or otherwise the judges believe that additional persons should be selected for the current year or that the wheel should be emptied and an entire new selection made they may proceed to make the selection and follow the other steps as hereinbefore provided

Section 5 In order that the judges may properly perform their duties aforesaid they are empowered to employ such clerical assistance and to procure such material and equipment at the cost of the county as may be deemed necessary and so to regulate their procedure in every respect not inconsistent herewith as may in their judgment best accomplish the purpose of this act

Section 6 All acts and parts of acts local and general inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 207, as follows:
